Simon Not Against Oil Price Rollback

Congressional Demand For Controls Growing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal energy administrator William E. Simon said today he does not oppose rolling back the price of oil so long as it does not hurt the petroleum industry.

Simon's remarks before the Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., came amid a growing congressional demand that something be done to stop the rising gasoline prices.

Jackson has suggested prices be rolled back and controlled so that increases be limited only to those justified by rising costs. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., said today he would introduce legislation to roll them back to Dec. 1 levels.

"We have no problem in setting back the price so that it would be a reasonable level," Simon said. But he added that it could not be a level that would be uneconomic for the oil industry.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said the price of propane, used for drying crops and heating rural and mobile homes, had risen by up to 300 per cent.

Simon said he was considering new policy regulations to rollback the propane prices.

Simon also told the committee that his office had received statistics indicating there had been "some saving" of energy as the result of putting the country on year-round daylight saving time.

Jackson asked if the price of crude oil could be rolled back to $7 per barrel. Simon said "that can be accomplished," but warned that Jackson's proposed legislation could hurt the nation's smaller oil companies.

Simon said he continued to be encouraged by conservation measures, but conceded under Jackson's questioning that "in the near term it's (gasoline

Seadrift Access Is Asked

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Public access around the entire Seadrift subdivision at Stinson Beach should be guaranteed before it is allowed any more building permits, the North Central Coast Regional Commission was told last night. (Other commission stories, page 13.)

The appeal for perpetual public access was urged by Peter Warshall of Bolinas Future Studies, and backed by the Sierra Club and Californians Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands.

Warshall conceded his proposal was "kind of heavy-handed," but noted that past efforts by the commission to improve public access have made little difference.

The commission postponed action on the issue, but heard a counter appeal from an attorney for the subdivision not "to make a war when there is no need for war." Clark Maser, attorney for Seadrfit Property Owners Association and a homeowner in the exclusive subdivision, argued its residents "want people to enjoy this beach."

He acknowledged that individual property owners have the legal power to bar the public from most of the beach, but said it was "a mythical problem" since the public will not be barred.

Bolinas attorney Paul D. Kayfetz, also speaking for Bolinas Future Studies, objected that the property owners association was offering only "a very limited sufferance." He

Nude Sunbathers Win Court Case

Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court yesterday acquitted the three of violating the county's antinudity law. They were arrested on Little Beach, a small strip of sand west of Muir Beach State Park.

The ordinance applies only to public land, and Baty held that Walter Voight, 33, of Strawberry, and Stephen Francis White, 23, and his wife Susan M., 24, of Oakland, were on private property when arrested on a hot July day last year.

The acquittal means that all nude sunbathers arrested here last year have been freed without penalty. Baty last month acquitted four Bolinas residents and a Colorado man of nude bathing at Bolinas because they, too, were on private property.

It was in 1971 that Emig, angered over a rash of nude sunbathing on his private beach, approached George L. Silvestri Jr. of the Marin County Counsel's office.

He suggested giving up part of his property rights to gain policing of the beach, a proposal that turned out to be impractical.

But eventually Emig's idea evolved into a scheme by which the beach was leased to the Muir Beach Community Services District to make the nudity law apply there.

But Emig never signed the lease, although three other Little Beach property owners did.

After announcing his decision yesterday in the non-jury trial, Baty suggested nude bathers might be arrested for disturbing the peace instead.

"Or if they're playing Frisbee, maybe they're breaking the lewd and lascivious conduct

Exemptions For Projects Sought

I-J Special Report

MOUNTAIN VIEW — Developers who have started planning their projects should be exempt from an air pollution permit system when it starts, Bay Area smog officials said yesterday. (Another pollution control story, page 10.)

Even projects without approvals by local government should not have to obtain permits, they said. All that would be needed to escape the requirement for a district permit would be for the developer to have filed "substantially all of the necessary plans and documents upon which such approval is subsequently based."

The language was drafted by the staff of the Air Pollution Control District. The same staff, predicting a rush of large developments before the district's permit system starts, only last month called for tightening rules to prevent builders from escaping the pending controls. The staff did not explain its turnabout, and the directors did not comment on it.

The staff, arguing more time was needed to study the permit system, yesterday also convinced district directors to postpone indefinitely a Feb. 6 hearing on the system. Instead, directors will discuss it on Feb. 20 at 9 a.m. in Sausalito City Hall.

The new controls are expected to be required by summer under regulations to be issued later this month by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

The controls will require a construction permit from the EPA or a designated local air pollution control district. They will apply to any "indirect source" of pollution which increases use of automobiles, including highways and roads, parking lots and garages, shopping centers, recreation centers and amusement parks, sports stadiums, commercial airports and all large commercial or industrial developments.

Director Stephen Fraser, a Sausalito councilman, urged that only projects already approved by local government should be exempt from the permit regulation. Director Robert B. St. Clair, a San Mateo County supervisor, countered that "we might run into quite a bit of a problem" if the district interfered with developers who already had "spent a great deal of money," even if they had no local permission yet to build.

The issue was left unresolved to the Feb. 20 meeting.

Several directors suggested waiting until the EPA issues guidelines before deciding where to draw the line between pending projects that will or will not need permits. The district's counsel, David Self, said the law allows the district to draw the line itself.

Olema Told To Boil Water

Laboratory tests of the Olema water system indicate its water supply is contaminated and unsafe for human consumption, Marin County health officials reported yesterday.

They warned Olema area residents to boil the water at least five minutes before using it for drinking or brushing teeth.

Health officials said they will notify residents when tests show the water supply is safe.

William L. Desmond, director of environmental health, said the high contamination count probably resulted from heavy rain runoff into the water system and recent removal of its chlorination equipment.

COURT DATE IS IGNORED BY HUGHES

Hughes, 68, was not in U.S. District Court at the scheduled hour of 9:30 a.m., and one of his attorneys, Samuel Lionel, said he would not appear.

Court officials said yesterday that if Hughes failed to appear, Thompson might issue a bench warrant for his arrest. Hughes is living in the Bahamas, which is unlikely to extradite him.

San Rafael Sets Birthday Parade

A two-hour parade, the first in San Rafael in many years, is scheduled for May 26 as part of the city's 10-day centennial celebration.

"Music, color and historical pageantry are our goals," according to Nick Dollwet, parade chairman. "We are inviting marching bands, drum and bugle corps, bagpipers, drill teams, comedy entries and floats — entries that will make this one of the most colorful and beautiful parades ever staged in Northern California."

Dollwet this week sent letters to 400 civic and military organizations, inviting their participation in the parade and describing cash prizes and trophies in many categories and a sweepstakes award to the entrant best depicting the centennial theme, San Rafael's 100 years as a city.

Dollwet said local organizations especially are being encouraged to create centennial floats, to enter buckboards, surreys, antique bicycles and vintage cars.

Deadline for entries at the centennial office, San Rafael City Hall, is April 10. Entry blanks may be obtained there between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on weekdays.

San Rafael attorney Raymond H. Shone, past state president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, will announced the entries as they pass a reviewing stand which will be set up on the old Courthouse Square.

A panel of judges from the Pacific Coast Judges Association will award the prizes. A parade grand marshal and honorary grand marshal will be named by the 20-member volunteer parade committee.

Tower Plans To Stay In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., Wednesday said he was flattered by requests that he run for governor, but he plans to remain in Washington.

He added that he thought the Texas governorship could be won by the Republicans.

Pair Indicted In Cala Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A couple has been indicted on murder charges in the Jan. 2 slaying of supermarket executive Anthony Cala during a robbery.

The suspects, Van Wesley Purcell, 29, and his girlfriend, Cheryl L. Southall, 19, were arrested Jan. 5 in Placerville.

23 Speeders Stopped As Crackdown Starts

In the first day of a crackdown on drivers breaking the state's new 55 m.p.h. speed limit, California Highway Patroleum in Marin issued almost twice as many speeding tickets as usual.

A highway patrol spokesman said 23 speeding tickets were given out compared to about 12 for a normal day.

He said that even violators going 56, 57 or 58 miles per hour are being stopped, although they may not necessarily be cited.

However, he noted that since word of the toughened enforcement program has gone out, the majority of drivers have slowed down.

State CHP Commissioner Walter Pudinski announced the start of the ticketing program Wednesday because he said drivers were starting to lose their enthusiasm for the 55 m.p.h. limit. The speed limit went into effect Jan. 1 and is designed to help reduce gas consumption.

CHP Will Keep Eye On Trucks

California Highway Patrolmen in Marin are going to get tough on truck drivers who let passengers ride in their cargo areas, Capt. William S. Bloomer, commander for the Golden Gate area said today.

Bloomer said state patrol headquarters has asked his office to watch for such violators because state accident statistics show that riding in the backs of trucks.

During a recent two-year period in California, 607 youngsters riding in uncovered truck beds, were either killed or injured in 268 accidents.

Nearly two-thirds of the victims were thrown out of the trucks, and almost 60 per cent of the accidents involved only one vehicle which went out of control, he said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Getty To Testify On Kidnap

ROME (UPI) — J. Paul Getty III, grandson of the American oil billionaire, defied underworld threats today and returned to Italy to testify about his five-month kidnapping.

Getty

"Yes, that's right," said Ernesto Bandini, deputy chief of the Rome crime squad, when asked if the 17-year-old youth was returning from a recuperation trip to Austria.

He said young Getty had already arrived in Rome and was being questioned by investigating magistrates at an undisclosed location.

Getty was released by kidnapers after his family paid a $2.9 million ransom. Four suspects were later arrested on charges of kidnapping and police seized banknotes that turned out to be part of the ransom money.

Three-Day Week

LONDON (UPI) — The government told Britons today they must continue on a crippling three-day work week because of the threat of a national coal mines shutdown.

But it said businesses and factories can work their weekly three days between Mondays and Fridays without the need for Saturday working.

Leaders of Britain's 269,000 coal miners Thursday called for a national mines shutdown to bring to a head a pay conflict with the government that has dragged on since November.

Government officials said before the miners decision the cabinet had planned to announce an end of the three-day week it imposed Dec. 31 to save dwindling fuel stockpiles and to put industry back on a four-day or even a limited five-day week.

Space Record

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue conducted a pair of photographic sweeps of the Earth, took a couple of last peeks at Comet Kohoutek, and spent some time sun watching.

The first all-rookie space crew since Gemini 8 in 1966, the fliers surpassed the total time in space record of Skylab and Apollo 12 veteran Alan L. Bean, at 53 seconds past 1:46 a.m. EDT.

Bean's record, set while he was commander of the Skylab 2 flight, was 69 days, 15 hours, 45 minutes and 29 seconds. The third crew already had surpassed the 59-day record for a single flight set by the Skylab 2 astronauts.

Flight director Neil Hutchinson said Skylab's ailing controlling gyroscope that is used to keep the ship on a steady keel had not gotten significantly worse. Optimism about it lasting until the end of the mission Feb. 8 was running high, he said.

News Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will hold his first news conference of the year some time shortly after his State of the Union speech to Congress, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said yesterday.

Nixon will address Congress and the nation at 9 p.m. EDT Jan. 30. Ziegler said a news conference is likely "a short time afterward."

Nixon has not held a news conference since Nov. 17 when he was questioned by editors in Orlando, Fla.

Rebel Barrage

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian authorities said today rebels using captured American-made artillery killed at least 60 persons and wounded 75 others in twin attacks on Phnom Penh and two suburban villages.

Three rebel shells slammed into a residential area of Phnom Penh today only a short distance from President Lon Nol's palace. There were no injuries reported in the shelling.

Last night, the rebels fired a 20-round barrage of 105mm howitzer fire into Phnom Penh and the villages of Tuol Toupong and Stung Mean Chey on the city's southwestern fringe.

Authorities said the rebel shells came from American-made 105 mm howitzer artillery pieces captured from Cambodian government forces.

Job Losses Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of recipients and applicants for unemployment compensation who claimed they lost their jobs because of the energy crisis more than doubled early in January, increasing by 128,500 to a total of 200,000, the government said yesterday.

The Labor Department's Manpower Administration said the steep increase chiefly reflected an improved reporting system in Michigan, where more than half the claims occurred.

Most of the 103,000 Michigan claims were concentrated in the automotive centers of Detroit, Lansing and Flint, where widespread job layoffs have been attributed to a declining demand for larger model new cars because of gasoline shortages.

Author Attacked

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet writer gave a love it or leave it warning to dissident author Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn.

Writing in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, author Rasul Gamsatov said, "If Solzhenitsyn does not like our order, our life and our country, we cannot help him. Let him go."

The letter was one of three published by Pravda, in the continuing official campaign against the Nobel laureate.

Adding to the barrage of attacks was a six-foot-high poster on central Gorky Street, a Moscow shopping district.

The poster shows a book with Solzenitsyn's name on the spine and a skull and crossbones on the cover. It depicted a group of musicians labeled "the anti-Soviet orchestra," and called Solzhenitsyn a traitor.

Another letter in Pravda, signed by a student at a Minsk teachers institute, said Solzhenitsyn has "stepped beyond the point at which he has the right to call himself a Soviet citizen."

Peronist Split

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The Argentine Chamber of Deputies passed controversial reforms of the penal code early today, giving President Juan D. Peron the means he demanded to crack down on guerrillas but badly splitting the Peronist movement in the process.

The antiguerrilla project, which caused the first open split in the Peronist block since Peron's return from exile last year, was passed by a vote of 128 to 62. The Peronist block normally counts on 143 votes, indicating a number of Peronist legislators defected.

Eight Peronist deputies had already resigned because they said the new law could be used to stifle any legitimate political opposition or labor activism.

The bill, already passed by the senate, would specifically outlaw any political association not authorized by the government and set stiff penalties for "incitement to violence."

Hughes Sought To Buy President

$1 Million Payoff Plan Bared By Former Aide

By CLAY F. RICHARDS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Howard Hughes wanted to make a "million dollar payoff to a president of the United States," according to sworn testimony from former top Hughes aide Robert A. Maheu.

Maheu said he refused to carry out the orders because he was worried about Hughes' desire to "own...politicians at all levels."

Maheu, a former FBI man Hughes fired in 1970, said in a 1,505-page deposition that Hughes instructed him at least three times to make a payment of $1 million to two presidents. He said the first request came in 1967 while Lyndon B. Johnson was in office, the second in 1970 during Richard Nixon's administration.

The suggested $1 million "payoff" to Nixon apparently was unrelated to the $100,000 contribution from Hughes to Nixon's close friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo in 1969 and 1970. That contribution is being investigated by the Senate Watergate Committee and Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

In an interview with UPI in the office of his Las Vegas attorney, Maheu refused to elaborate on his deposition. He said he feared pretrial publicity on a number of legal matters.

Maheu and Hughes, along with several others, are under indictment for stock manipulation in connection with the sale of Air West Airlines to Hughes for a reported $90 million. Additionally, Hughes and Maheu are locked in multimillion dollar suits stemming from Hughes' firing of Maheu.

"The only comment I can make is to repeat what is recorded in the deposition, which is a public court record," Maheu said. "I religiously guarded my former employer, Mr. Hughes, as far as political contributions were concerned until general counsel of the (Hughes-owned) Summa Corp. compelled me under process of law to divulge what I believed to be confidential information."

In his deposition, Maheu said: "In 1967 I received a handwritten memo from Mr. Hughes wherein Mr. Hughes was asking me to make a million dollar payoff to a President of the United States (Johnson)."

Sources said Hughes wanted to make the payment as part of his effort to get the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) to halt nuclear testing in Nevada. Hughes opposed the testing for environmental reasons and because he feared the explosions physically would damage his $400 million gambling and hotel empire in Nevada.

"Again in 1970, I talked with Hughes relative to a matter that Mr. Hughes wanted me to handle forthwith and fly to Key Biscayne, Fla.," Maheu said. "I went to Key Biscayne, met with Rebozo, and I categorically refused to carry on the instructions of Howard Hughes."

The court record is not clear about the purpose of the Florida visit, but a source currently close to the Hughes organization told UPI Maheu was sent by Hughes to offer Rebozo $1 million in exchange for a promise to call off the nuclear testing.

Maheu said he discussed Hughes' desire to pay $1 million to Nixon with another top aide to the recluse billionaire, Frank Gay.

"I told Mr. Gay that I was very much concerned about the attempts that Howard Hughes made in asking me to make big payoffs to presidents of the United States, which I categorically refused to do," Maheu said. "I felt that certain political contributions which were recommended by him (Hughes) were far in excess of what they ought to be."

ROBERT A. MAHEAU
Opposed Hughes' plan

"I told him I was concerned about the desire of Mr. Hughes to want to own the presidents of the United States, choose his successors, or members of the Supreme Court, governors, senators, congressmen and politicians at all levels," Maheu said.

"Mr. Gay also was very much concerned about the desire of Mr. Hughes to exercise or attempt to exercise that much power, particularly since he was involved in so much national defense work."

Hughes Aircraft is a major defense contractor.

While there was no apparent attempt to make payments in relation to the AEC testing, Hughes' public lobbying for a halt to the testing did cause considerable concern in the Nixon administration, according to Maheu.

"President Nixon had offered to either see or converse on the telephone with Mr. Hughes in order to explain the posture of the United States government vis-a-vis the atomic energy testing," Maheu said. "Mr. Nixon offered to send Mr. (Henry) Kissinger to Las Vegas to discuss the matter with Mr. Hughes either in person or on the telephone."

There is no indication in the court documents that such a meeting ever took place.

Maheu said that when he was fired by Hughes, the memo from Hughes suggesting the $1 million payment to Nixon was left in his files. Maheu has filed in court a number of other memos, each handwritten on legal size yellow pads, purporting to be from Hughes. Hughes' lawyers have not denied the memos are from Hughes.

None of the memos are dated, but they apparently begin in 1967 or 1968 and continue through 1970.

"There is one man who can accomplish our objective through Johnson, and that man is H.H.H.," the first memo about the $1 million payment said, apparently referring to then-Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

"Why don't we get word to him on a basis of secrecy that we will give him immediately full, unlimited support for his campaign to enter the White House if he will just take this one on for us. Let me know."

The memo is addressed to "Bob," apparently Maheu, and signed "H." The word "unlimited" is underlined.

Another memo addressed to "Bob" reads in part: "I want you to go to see Nixon as my special confidential emissary. I feel there is a really valid possibility of a Republican victory this year. If it could be under our sponsorship and supervision every inch of the way, then we would be ready to follow with Laxalt as our next candidate."

A memo apparently written in 1970 states:

"Someone should start negotiating with the AEC just like buying a hotel. I want somebody to wheel and deal with the AEC and offer them a deal whereby they can continue to enjoy the pleasure of living in Las Vegas. I am ready to dedicate the rest of my life and every cent I possess in a complete fight to outlaw all nuclear testing of every kind and everywhere."

Lugosi's Widow Emerges Winner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Universal Studios was ordered by a judge yesterday to pay $53,000 to Hope Lugosi, widow of Bela Lugosi, and the late actor's son, Bela George Lugosi, for using a copy of Lugosi's face to make vampire masks, toys and a Dracula doll.

Superior Court Judge Bernard S. Jefferson ordered the payment as royalties due the Lugosi estate, holder of rights to the actor's vampire characterization of Count Dracula.

The widow and son said in their suit against the studio that it used Lugosi's face without their permission in licensing manufacture of the toys.

Cancer Research Lacks Manpower

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Manpower shortages at the National Cancer Institute are hampering efforts to implement the national plan for an accelerated attack on cancer, according to NCI director Dr. Frank J. Rauscher Jr.

"The most important deterrent to getting on with this plan and program is the fact that we simply don't have enough people of the kind of quality that we need," Rauscher told some 100 scientists drafting a revision of the ambitious plan required by the National Cancer Act of 1971.

The plan released publicly last August by President Nixon provides guidelines for harnessing scientific and economic resources to mount an expanded attack on the nation's second leading killer. Its scientific recommendations cover research, prevention, detection, treatment, control and rehabilitation.

NCI has a major role in implementing the plan. But Rauscher said yesterday the institute manpower needs have not kept pace with the 180 per cent increase in federal cancer funds since 1969.

"The thing ... is that with increasing funds and no new positions, our people responsible for management and contracting will do the job, no question about that. But it's a matter of them redoubling again. The danger there is that you tend to stretch things out, you tend to get sloppy by virtue of the workload."

He later told newsmen that while NCI funds have increased by $300 million since 1969, to a current operating level of $590 million, NCI office space on the suburban campus of the National Institutes of Health has grown only 9 per cent and the NCI staff by only 14 per cent.

One of the eight working groups of scientists who met for four days near here to update the plan suggested that Nixon and Congress be told of the manpower concerns, said Dr. James F. Holland of the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York.

"Professional manpower requirements for optimal use of the plan are not met by current staffing patterns within the NCI," he said in a "potential letter" read to the scientists.

"We urge an expansion of the scientific personnel commitment to manage the plant, to preclude the plan's becoming undermanaged or ineffectively managed. This could only delay the eventual attainment of success."

Prisoner Of Syria Holds No Grudge

NEW YORK (UPI) — An American student released this week after spending two years in a Syrian jail arrived home last night and said, "Although I was treated brutally, mercilessly and cruelly, I hold no grudge against the Syrians or the Arabs."

Jonathan Bates, 32, a graduate student in sociology at the New School for Social Research in New York, came in on a flight from London and slipped out a back door at the customs area in Kennedy airport.

He said at a news conference in London earlier that he was arrested in Damascus and never told why he was being kept in solitary confinement, never given a trial and continually tortured before he signed a false confession.

"The past two years have been hell," he said. "It has been a boring and empty period in my life and I am extremely grateful that it is now all over and I am going back home.

"I spent the entire time sharing a cell in crowded conditions with 35 other prisoners, apart from a seven-month period when I was in solitary confinement. Letters and visitors were only allowed after I had signed a false confession."

Bates would not say how he was tortured. "Let's say I was treated brutally, mercilessly and cruelly. On the whole I was treated well in prison and we were given good food. It was a military prison and we ate the same meals as the soldiers."

The No-Growth Concept Hit By Economist

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An economist says it is "time to bury no growth as impractical, impossible, expensive and unnecessary."

Michael Peevey, former AFCIO economist now executive director of the California Council for Environmental and Economic Balance, appeared Thursday at a hearing of the California Commission for Economic Development.

Peevey said the no-growth concept of limiting the number of houses per year in a community means "a major increase in the number of unemployed construction and manufacturing workers."

He said it also will lead to "unemployment for many of the same middle-class suburbanites who are now voting for no-growth in their own communities."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Getty To Testify On Kidnap

ROME (UPI) — J. Paul Getty III, grandson of the American oil billionaire, defied underworld threats today and returned to Italy to testify about his five-month kidnapping.

Getty

"Yes, that's right," said Ernesto Bandini, deputy chief of the Rome crime squad, when asked if the 17-year-old youth was returning from a recuperation trip to Austria.

He said young Getty had already arrived in Rome and was being questioned by investigating magistrates at an undisclosed location.

Getty was released by kidnapers after his family paid a $2.9 million ransom. Four suspects were later arrested on charges of kidnapping and police seized banknotes that turned out to be part of the ransom money.

Three-Day Week

LONDON (UPI) — The government told Britons today they must continue on a crippling three-day work week because of the threat of a national coal mines shutdown.

But it said businesses and factories can work their weekly three days between Mondays and Fridays without the need for Saturday working.

Leaders of Britain's 269,000 coal miners Thursday called for a national mines shutdown to bring to a head a pay conflict with the government that has dragged on since November.

Government officials said before the miners decision the cabinet had planned to announce an end of the three-day week it imposed Dec. 31 to save dwindling fuel stockpiles and to put industry back on a four-day or even a limited five-day week.

Space Record

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue conducted a pair of photographic sweeps of the Earth, took a couple of last peeks at Comet Kohoutek, and spent some time sun watching.

The first all-rookie space crew since Gemini 8 in 1966, the fliers surpassed the total time in space record of Skylab and Apollo 12 veteran Alan L. Bean, at 53 seconds past 1:46 a.m. EDT.

Bean's record, set while he was commander of the Skylab 2 flight, was 69 days, 15 hours, 45 minutes and 29 seconds. The third crew already had surpassed the 59-day record for a single flight set by the Skylab 2 astronauts.

Flight director Neil Hutchinson said Skylab's ailing controlling gyroscope that is used to keep the ship on a steady keel had not gotten significantly worse. Optimism about it lasting until the end of the mission Feb. 8 was running high, he said.

News Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will hold his first news conference of the year some time shortly after his State of the Union speech to Congress, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said yesterday.

Nixon will address Congress and the nation at 9 p.m. EDT Jan. 30. Ziegler said a news conference is likely "a short time afterward."

Nixon has not held a news conference since Nov. 17 when he was questioned by editors in Orlando, Fla.

Rebel Barrage

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian authorities said today rebels using captured American-made artillery killed at least 60 persons and wounded 75 others in twin attacks on Phnom Penh and two suburban villages.

Three rebel shells slammed into a residential area of Phnom Penh today only a short distance from President Lon Nol's palace. There were no injuries reported in the shelling.

Last night, the rebels fired a 20-round barrage of 105mm howitzer fire into Phnom Penh and the villages of Tuol Toupong and Stung Mean Chey on the city's southwestern fringe.

Authorities said the rebel shells came from American-made 105 mm howitzer artillery pieces captured from Cambodian government forces.

Job Losses Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of recipients and applicants for unemployment compensation who claimed they lost their jobs because of the energy crisis more than doubled early in January, increasing by 128,500 to a total of 200,000, the government said yesterday.

The Labor Department's Manpower Administration said the steep increase chiefly reflected an improved reporting system in Michigan, where more than half the claims occurred.

Most of the 103,000 Michigan claims were concentrated in the automotive centers of Detroit, Lansing and Flint, where widespread job layoffs have been attributed to a declining demand for larger model new cars because of gasoline shortages.

Author Attacked

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet writer gave a love it or leave it warning to dissident author Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn.

Writing in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, author Rasul Gamsatov said, "If Solzhenitsyn does not like our order, our life and our country, we cannot help him. Let him go."

The letter was one of three published by Pravda, in the continuing official campaign against the Nobel laureate.

Adding to the barrage of attacks was a six-foot-high poster on central Gorky Street, a Moscow shopping district.

The poster shows a book with Solzenitsyn's name on the spine and a skull and crossbones on the cover. It depicted a group of musicians labeled "the anti-Soviet orchestra," and called Solzhenitsyn a traitor.

Another letter in Pravda, signed by a student at a Minsk teachers institute, said Solzhenitsyn has "stepped beyond the point at which he has the right to call himself a Soviet citizen."

Peronist Split

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The Argentine Chamber of Deputies passed controversial reforms of the penal code early today, giving President Juan D. Peron the means he demanded to crack down on guerrillas but badly splitting the Peronist movement in the process.

The antiguerrilla project, which caused the first open split in the Peronist block since Peron's return from exile last year, was passed by a vote of 128 to 62. The Peronist block normally counts on 143 votes, indicating a number of Peronist legislators defected.

Eight Peronist deputies had already resigned because they said the new law could be used to stifle any legitimate political opposition or labor activism.

The bill, already passed by the senate, would specifically outlaw any political association not authorized by the government and set stiff penalties for "incitement to violence."

Hughes Sought To Buy President

By CLAY F. RICHARDS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Howard Hughes wanted to make a "million dollar payoff to a president of the United States," according to sworn testimony from former top Hughes aide Robert A. Maheu.

Maheu said he refused to carry out the orders because he was worried about Hughes' desire to "own...politicians at all levels."

Maheu, a former FBI man Hughes fired in 1970, said in a 1,505-page deposition that Hughes instructed him at least three times to make a payment of $1 million to two presidents. He said the first request came in 1967 while Lyndon B. Johnson was in office, the second in 1970 during Richard Nixon's administration.

The suggested $1 million "payoff" to Nixon apparently was unrelated to the $100,000 contribution from Hughes to Nixon's close friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo in 1969 and 1970. That contribution is being investigated by the Senate Watergate Committee and Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

In an interview with UPI in the office of his Las Vegas attorney, Maheu refused to elaborate on his deposition. He said he feared pretrial publicity on a number of legal matters.

Maheu and Hughes, along with several others, are under indictment for stock manipulation in connection with the sale of Air West Airlines to Hughes for a reported $90 million. Additionally, Hughes and Maheu are locked in multimillion dollar suits stemming from Hughes' firing of Maheu.

"The only comment I can make is to repeat what is recorded in the deposition, which is a public court record," Maheu said. "I religiously guarded my former employer, Mr. Hughes, as far as political contributions were concerned until general counsel of the (Hughes-owned) Summa Corp. compelled me under process of law to divulge what I believed to be confidential information."

In his deposition, Maheu said: "In 1967 I received a handwritten memo from Mr. Hughes wherein Mr. Hughes was asking me to make a million dollar payoff to a President of the United States (Johnson)."

Sources said Hughes wanted to make the payment as part of his effort to get the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) to halt nuclear testing in Nevada. Hughes opposed the testing for environmental reasons and because he feared the explosions physically would damage his $400 million gambling and hotel empire in Nevada.

"Again in 1970, I talked with Hughes relative to a matter that Mr. Hughes wanted me to handle forthwith and fly to Key Biscayne, Fla.," Maheu said. "I went to Key Biscayne, met with Rebozo, and I categorically refused to carry on the instructions of Howard Hughes."

The court record is not clear about the purpose of the Florida visit, but a source currently close to the Hughes organization told UPI Maheu was sent by Hughes to offer Rebozo $1 million in exchange for a promise to call off the nuclear testing.

Maheu said he discussed Hughes' desire to pay $1 million to Nixon with another top aide to the recluse billionaire, Frank Gay.

"I told Mr. Gay that I was very much concerned about the attempts that Howard Hughes made in asking me to make big payoffs to presidents of the United States, which I categorically refused to do," Maheu said. "I felt that certain political contributions which were recommended by him (Hughes) were far in excess of what they ought to be."

ROBERT A. MAHEAU
Opposed Hughes' plan

"I told him I was concerned about the desire of Mr. Hughes to want to own the presidents of the United States, choose his successors, or members of the Supreme Court, governors, senators, congressmen and politicians at all levels," Maheu said.

"Mr. Gay also was very much concerned about the desire of Mr. Hughes to exercise or attempt to exercise that much power, particularly since he was involved in so much national defense work."

Hughes Aircraft is a major defense contractor.

While there was no apparent attempt to make payments in relation to the AEC testing, Hughes' public lobbying for a halt to the testing did cause considerable concern in the Nixon administration, according to Maheu.

"President Nixon had offered to either see or converse on the telephone with Mr. Hughes in order to explain the posture of the United States government vis-a-vis the atomic energy testing," Maheu said. "Mr. Nixon offered to send Mr. (Henry) Kissinger to Las Vegas to discuss the matter with Mr. Hughes either in person or on the telephone."

There is no indication in the court documents that such a meeting ever took place.

Maheu said that when he was fired by Hughes, the memo from Hughes suggesting the $1 million payment to Nixon was left in his files. Maheu has filed in court a number of other memos, each handwritten on legal size yellow pads, purporting to be from Hughes. Hughes' lawyers have not denied the memos are from Hughes.

None of the memos are dated, but they apparently begin in 1967 or 1968 and continue through 1970.

"There is one man who can accomplish our objective through Johnson, and that man is H.H.H.," the first memo about the $1 million payment said, apparently referring to then-Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

"Why don't we get word to him on a basis of secrecy that we will give him immediately full, unlimited support for his campaign to enter the White House if he will just take this one on for us. Let me know."

Another memo addressed to "Bob" reads in part: "I want you to go to see Nixon as my special confidential emissary. I feel there is a really valid possibility of a Republican victory this year. If it could be under our sponsorship and supervision every inch of the way, then we would be ready to follow with Laxalt as our next candidate."

A memo apparently written in 1970 states:

"Someone should start negotiating with the AEC just like buying a hotel. I want somebody to wheel and deal with the AEC and offer them a deal whereby they can continue to enjoy the pleasure of living in Las Vegas. I am ready to dedicate the rest of my life and every cent I possess in a complete fight to outlaw all nuclear testing of every kind and everywhere."

Lugosi's Widow Emerges Winner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Universal Studios was ordered by a judge yesterday to pay $53,000 to Hope Lugosi, widow of Bela Lugosi, and the late actor's son, Bela George Lugosi, for using a copy of Lugosi's face to make vampire masks, toys and a Dracula doll.

Superior Court Judge Bernard S. Jefferson ordered the payment as royalties due the Lugosi estate, holder of rights to the actor's vampire characterization of Count Dracula.

The widow and son said in their suit against the studio that it used Lugosi's face without their permission in licensing manufacture of the toys.

Cancer Research Lacks Manpower

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Manpower shortages at the National Cancer Institute are hampering efforts to implement the national plan for an accelerated attack on cancer, according to NCI director Dr. Frank J. Rauscher Jr.

"The most important deterrent to getting on with this plan and program is the fact that we simply don't have enough people of the kind of quality that we need," Rauscher told some 100 scientists drafting a revision of the ambitious plan required by the National Cancer Act of 1971.

The plan released publicly last August by President Nixon provides guidelines for harnessing scientific and economic resources to mount an expanded attack on the nation's second leading killer. Its scientific recommendations cover research, prevention, detection, treatment, control and rehabilitation.

NCI has a major role in implementing the plan. But Rauscher said yesterday the institute manpower needs have not kept pace with the 180 per cent increase in federal cancer funds since 1969.

"The thing ... is that with increasing funds and no new positions, our people responsible for management and contracting will do the job, no question about that. But it's a matter of them redoubling again. The danger there is that you tend to stretch things out, you tend to get sloppy by virtue of the workload."

He later told newsmen that while NCI funds have increased by $300 million since 1969, to a current operating level of $590 million, NCI office space on the suburban campus of the National Institutes of Health has grown only 9 per cent and the NCI staff by only 14 per cent.

One of the eight working groups of scientists who met for four days near here to update the plan suggested that Nixon and Congress be told of the manpower concerns, said Dr. James F. Holland of the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York.

"Professional manpower requirements for optimal use of the plan are not met by current staffing patterns within the NCI," he said in a "potential letter" read to the scientists.

"We urge an expansion of the scientific personnel commitment to manage the plant, to preclude the plan's becoming undermanaged or ineffectively managed. This could only delay the eventual attainment of success."

WHO WANTS ME?

Elane McHugh, receptionist at the Marin County Humane Society, holds up Poker, a 4-year-old chihuahua, who needs a home. Poker, a tan female who is housebroken and good with children, has been placed up for adoption by the owner because of "too many animals" at her house. Unless someone adopts Poker, she will be one of thousands of unwanted pets the society must put to death each year.

Deadlines Set For New Phone Book Listings

Deadlines for adding listings or making changes in the new Novato telephone directory are near, according to Gordon L. Lee, Division manager of Western California Telephone Co.

Customers who wish to add or change listings should notify their customer representative at the company, Lee said. The new directory is scheduled to be published in April.

Bolinger Heads Home Care

Ray K. Bolinger, Marin General Hospital administrator, was elected president of the Marin Home Care Inc. last night.

Other new officers elected are: Marion C. Ibach, first vice president; Richard O. Omeese, second vice president; Lila Cormer, secretary, and Fred F. Enemark, treasurer. Marjorie E. Belknap was appointed medical director.

Marin Home Care sends nurses, psychotherapists and other paramedical volunteers to the homes of bedridden patients. The group made 3,700 visits to Marin homes in 1973, according to coordinator Patricia Ferjancsik.

Carpooling Call From Supervisor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco Supervisor Robert H. Mendelsohn suggested today that Marin County commuters could save more than $78 a year each by carpooling if the Golden Gate Bridge toll were eliminated for carpooling motorists.

Mendelsohn said he would be in favor of increasing the toll 50 per cent, to 75 cents, if cars with three occupants were allowed to cross free.

The supervisor's calculations were based on the assumption that the car poolers would each save $2.50 a day in parking, $1 for gasoline, and maintenance expenses along with the toll savings.

NUDES

law," he said.

Fred A. Hurvich of San Rafael, the American Civil Liberties Union attorney who handled the case, said he doubts that someone lying naked on a beach can be considered to be disturbing the peace.

"I urge the board of supervisors to set aside one beach in Marin as a nude beach," he said. "Then those who want to use it can and those who would be offended can avoid it."

He warned that Baty's decision applies only to Emig's property — the rocky area separating Little Beach from Muir Beach and the adjacent sand in front on the rock wall at the east end of Little Beach.

Any skinnydipper who goes into the water is in state-owned land and subject to arrest, he said.

Petaluma Driver Hurt In Rollover

The California Highway Patrol said the car, driven by Pamela G. White, 25, of 315 Pleasant Street, was northbound on Stony Point Road near Sierra Boulevard south of Cotati when the accident occurred.

The driver was reported in good condition today at Community Hospital in Santa Rosa, where she was treated for a broken ankle.

Higher Alimony For Roosevelt

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Former Congressman James Roosevelt, 68, oldest son of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has agreed to increase his alimony payments to his former wife.

Alimony for Gladys Roosevelt, 57, had been cut in July to $1 a month, down from the $1,750 a month set at their divorce in Switzerland in 1969. Mrs. Roosevelt brought suit in Superior Court saying she and their son, Hall Delano, 14, had suffered a reduction in their standard of living, while Roosevelt's had remained the same. Roosevelt agreed to pay her $800 a month.

At Least Eight Killed In Blaze

LIBERTY, N.Y. (UPI) — Seven children and one adult perished yesterday when they were trapped by a fire in the top-floor apartments of a three-story building that had no fire escapes, officials said.

Two persons, both adults, were still missing in the blaze. Nine other persons were injured.

Pair Held To Answer Charges

Two men have been ordered to appear Feb. 4 in Marin Superior Court to answer felony charges of attempted burglary.

Judge Robert A. Smallman of Municipal Court ruled yesterday there is enough evidence to bring to trial Stuart Moore Gray, 21, of San Francisco, and Jeffrey Joseph Greenbach, 20, of Palo Alto.

Mill Valley police arrested the pair on Summit Avenue Dec. 14. A television set and guitar taken from a nearby home were found in the back of their truck, according to officers.

Directors Declare PG&E Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. directors have declared a 47-cent dividend on shares of common stock for the first quarter of fiscal 1973.

The directors also reported Wednesday earnings available for common stock were $206.92 million in 1973, up from $184.23 million in 1972.

Man Given Six Months For Checks

Joseph Kaufman, 44, tried but never convicted of assuming another man's identification and passing forged checks, was sentenced today to six months in county jail.

Kaufman, whose trial last July ended in a hung jury, pleaded guilty last week to one count of forgery on the eve of a second trial.

He was accused of finding the identification of a Berkeley man in April, 1972, opening an account in his name at a San Rafael bank, then passing $1,603 in worthless checks.

Judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court also placed the Los Angeles man on two year's probation and told him he must repay the victim of his check spree.

Best warned Kaufman: "If you don't stop ripping people off, you're going to (state) prison. That's a promise, not a threat."

Kaufman pleaded guilty to passing one check for $312. Dismissed was a second count of writing $1,291 in worthless checks.

Magee Ejected From Hearing

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Ruchell Magee was led cursing and swearing from a courtroom yesterday when a judge rejected his motion to disqualify himself.

Magee called Santa Clara County Superior Court Judge William Ingram a "racist" after he turned down the motion.

Magee was in court for pretrial proceedings in connection with his forthcoming trial for kidnap and conspiracy. The charges stem from the 1970 shoot-out at the Marin County Hall of Justice in which four persons, including a judge, were killed.

Marin's Share Of Ranch Tax

The state Department of Food and Agriculture has allocated $6,500 to Marin as the county's share of gas taxes paid by local ranchers in their ranching operations.

R. Allan Ballard, Marin County agricultural commissioner, said Marin's share comes from a total statewide allocation of $892,000.

The money was what was left over from $2,392,000 after the department took about $1.5 million for administration and programs.

Arraignment Set In Embezzlement

William Barham, 45, of San Francisco, will appear Monday in Marin Superior Court for arraignment on a charge of embezzling $6,000 from his employer, a Strawberry interior decorator.

Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court bound Barham over Tuesday following a preliminary hearing. Baty ruled there was enough evidence to support the charge.

Barham said he has repaid some $2,500 of the $6,000 taken between last July and September from Patricia L. Jampolsky.

He is charged with accepting money from customers but not passing it on to his employer.

Review Of Safety Code Is Scheduled

A two-man committee was named last night by the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association to review the safety code and policing procedures for watercraft on the lagoon before the completion of a new lock, according to secretary Roseanne Dunn.

Named to the committee were Robert Hamill and Michael Lanzit, she said.

LAGOON

pointed to the association's proposed agreement with the commission to allow the public on the beach only so long as people "conduct themselves in a civil manner on the beach and respect the privacy of homeowners in the dunes area."

Bolinas Future Studies also proposed that all nonsubdivided property in the subdivision be dedicated to the county as open space and that all undeveloped lagoon property already sold include public access along the water. The group also suggested that tennis courts near the channel to Bolinas Lagoon be removed, and that the artificial lagoon in the subdivision be opened to tidal flushing.

In an action related to the artificial lagoon, commissioners narrowly upheld a staff denial of a permit to put a chemical weed killer in the lagoon. The staff said the property owners association had not proved the chemical was safe or that other methods were not available to control the weed. Commissioners voted 9-3 to overrule the staff denial, one short of the margin needed to grant the permit.

Seven In Race For ROTC Title

Seven girls have been nominated for queen of the Novato High School Air Force Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps squadron's military ball at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club.

Candidates for queen are Chris Aguirre, Sherli Cagle, Diane Freeman, Barbara Laborie, Debbie Le Duc, Carol Wiechert and Mary Talbott.

Dancing to the music of the Dick Saltzman combo will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., and the queen's coronation will be at 10:30 p.m.

Recreation Panel Elects Officers

Duane C. Hansen was elected chairman of the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night, succeeding Walter W. Vater.

John A. Trumbull was elected vice chairman.

Parks and Recreation Director Lester S. Russell reported that sample questionnaires have been distributed to residents for a survey on parks uses and needs.

The information gathered from residents is to be used in creating a new master plan for parks.

Term Drawn For Heroin

A livermore man, arrested in November for possessing heroin, pleaded guilty today and was sentenced to four months in jail and placed on a year's probation.

"It behooves you to clean up your act," Judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court told Ronald Lynn Holloway, 29.

California Highway patrolmen arrested Holloway when they stopped his car in Novato for erratic driving and found one-third of a gram of heroin in a suitcase.

Indian Artifact Seller Is Fined

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Antique dealer Lou D. Lovekin was fined $500 and placed on one year's probation Wednesday upon conviction of possessing and selling American Indian artifacts made from eagles' feathers. Agents said he sold them a war bonnet and peyote fan.

Under a 1940 federal law, it is illegal to have anything fashioned from eagle feathers. Agents of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, who seized the artifacts last November, estimated their worth at $25,000. The items will be turned over to the Smithsonian Institution.

A Complaint By Hopeful For Congress

Alan F. Reeves, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, today said he has filed complaints against one of his opponents in the June primary election. The complaints have been turned over to Marin and San Francisco district attorneys, he said.

The San Francisco businessman said in a press statement that Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, is violating the state election code by retaining his position as state party chairman while running for the nomination.

(Burton told the Independent-Journal last week that he will take a leave of absence as party chairman until after the primary. He said he will take the action at the quarterly meeting of the party's executive committee, Feb. 16 and 17 in Los Angeles.)

The code bars party organizations from making endorsements before primary elections, but is silent on the issue raised by Reeves. "Since violation of the code may well be a criminal matter," his statement said, "I have decided to pursue this through the district attorneys." He added he was considering civil litigation and complaining to the secretary of state as well.

Help Asked In Health Planning

Joan Ripple, executive director of the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin County, yesterday issued a call for residents to work with the council.

Miss Ripple outlined the tasks facing the council at a meeting of the Novato Chamber of Commerce and told listeners that "we are an opportunity for you to participate. It takes time just to get existing services coordinated," she said.

The council plans to establish neighborhood task forces in each of the planning areas in Marin, which would be sounding boards for comments about health needs and problems, she said.

Former Leader Has An Attack

ATHENS (UPI) — Former Greek President George Papadopoulos recently suffered an attack of paresis, a partial paralysis that caused a deformation of his face, a government source said Wednesday.

The source said the 55-year-old former colonel who was overthrown by a military coup last November after ruling the country for over six years, was bedridden, but refused to say where.

Friends of the former president said Papadopoulos was living with his second wife, Despina, at a seaside villa 25 miles from the capital on the coastal road to Cape Sounion.

Fire Damages Cafe's Kitchen

A kitchen grease fire that spread into ducts and an exhaust fan on the roof caused about $7,500 damage yesterday to the Berkeley Farms restaurant, 7110 Redwood Highway in Novato.

Fire Chief Jack W. Kidder said the blaze started when grease in the exhaust above a broiler was ignited by a flareup from cooking hamburgers at 1:57 p.m.

Kidder estimated the damage to the building at $7,000 and damage to food and utensils at $500. The building is owned by Sabatt Brothers of Oakland.

ENERGY

Simon said the Federal Energy Office had figures showing a 9.8 per cent saving in gasoline for the past week but that fell short of the hoped for 13 per cent saving.

Stevenson told the Consumer Federation of America that rising energy prices were hitting every stage of the economy. "The American people, to put it bluntly, are being ripped off," he said.

He said his proposal would:

Revise service station franchise systems to protect independent dealers; create a federal corporation to develop oil and gas on public lands; revise the bidding system for oil and shale leases on federal lands; and force complete public disclosure of information regarding petroleum supplies, reserves, exports, imports and taxes.

Speaking to the same consumer federation earlier in the morning, Simon said a check by his office showed statistics given the government by the oil industry appeared reasonably accurate. But he said the administration still was pushing for a mandatory reporting system.

Regarding taxes on oil, Simon told a Senate Finance subcommittee yesterday he preferred President Nixon's proposal of an emergency windfall profits tax coupled with incentives to find and produce more oil. He specifically was critical of a bill proposed by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, that included a profits tax and import duties on oil.

Gravel submitted his bill after a resolution by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., calling for a rollback of oil and gasoline prices to Nov. 1 levels.

"We can pass all the laws we want to rolling prices back," Gravel said. "All we'd do is give the American people no gas to buy. You can't repeal the law of supply and demand."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., also called for a rollback of prices for crude oil and other petroleum products along with controls that would keep prices steady except on the basis of legitimate cost increases.

"If you don't do something about prices, we're going to wreck the American economy," Jackson told reporters. But he set no specific rollback figure as regards price and date.

He turned to the administration for an explanation of why the oil industry was saying a year ago that crude oil prices of $4.35 to $4.55 a barrel would be sufficient to spark development to self-sufficiency and now crude oil from older wells has gone to $5.25 and "new oil" from fresh drilling is at $10.35 a barrel.

"No one in the administration has offered any serious justification for either the jump in old oil prices or for decontrolling new oil," he said.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., also moved into the controversy, introducing a bill to end the oil depletion allowance. This is a deduction from oil companies' gross income of 22 per cent, on the basis that oil is a depletable resource.

Nelson's bill would throw out the allowance for both domestic and foreign oil.

Speaking up for the oil industry, Sen. John Tower, a Republican from the oil-rich state of Texas, said:

"I'm very much afraid that there is a strong temptation to make the oil industry the scapegoat" for the current energy crisis.

He said he was hesitant to cut oil company profits because that might destroy the incentive to develop new energy sources.

In other energy developments:

The American Petroleum Institute said supplies of automobile gasoline and heavy industrial fuel oil are lower than a year ago, but jet fuels and home heating oil supplies are higher.

The Federal Energy Office is drawing up regulations to control propane prices and is considering ordering rollbacks.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said if Nixon's proposal to drop government price controls over natural gas is adopted, gas prices and profits will triple overnight.

OBITUARIES

MARY ROEGIERS

An autopsy is planned.

Mrs. Roegiers was a native of Russia. She was a singer in her youth and once performed before the czar. She was married in Russia to her husband Tony. During the Russian revolution, they fled via Siberia to China and then to Belgium.

She had arrived in Marin County just before Christmas and at the time of her death was with her son at 45 Cloudview Court, Sausalito.

Other survivors include her husband of Mont-Godine; one daughter, Irene Ferrara of Brussels; four other sons, Giovanni Roegiers of Ghent, Belgium, Leon Roegiers of San Francisco, George Roegiers of Larkspur, and Paul Roegiers of Zaire in Africa; two sisters, Angick Skore and Irma Matisov of San Francisco, and 18 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Russell and Gooch funeral home in San Francisco.

MRS. DOHRING

Leona Dohring, a former San Rafael restaurateur, died yesterday in a Menlo Park hospital after a long illness. She was 78.

Mrs. Dohring was a native of Harrisburg, Ore., and moved to San Rafael as a young girl. She was a partner in the Chateau Restaurant in San Rafael during the late 1930s and owned an apartment house facing San Rafael Military Academy during the early 1930s. She and her husband George had spent the last few years in Menlo Park.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Dohring is survived by a daughter, Winifred Benakis of San Jose; a son, Ronald Patteson of Santa Ana, and a brother, E. E. Bucknum of San Rafael.

Funeral will be Monday at the First Christian Church in San Mateo. Funeral donations should be made to the First Christian Church.

CHARLES (BEBE) REBOZO

Rebozo To Be Watergate Witness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles G. (Bebe) Rebozo, President Nixon's close friend, is on the list of witnesses for the Senate Watergate committee's next round of hearings, but Charles W. Colson, Nixon's former special counsel and political aide, is not.

The committee staff was expected to release the list today or Monday at the latest. The hearings resume next Tuesday.

The list will be much shorter than the list presented to the committee by the staff Wednesday in gaining approval for at least two weeks of additional hearings.

Sam Dash, chief counsel, said Rebozo "certainly will be" on the witness list for the first week of hearings on Rebozo's handling of a $100,000 contribution to Nixon's campaign by billionaire Howard Hughes.

Dave Dorsen, the staff member in charge of the controversy surrounding the 1971 milk price-support decision, said Colson, who was the White House liaison to the dairy industry at the time, would not be summoned.

Colson refused to testify before the Watergate committee last September on grounds he was the target of a grand jury investigation, and Dorsen said he would not be called now.

The hearings during the week of Feb. 4, will take up whether the administration's increase in the 1971 support price for raw milk was tied to milk producers' $437,000 in contributions to Nixon's re-election effort.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon would not meet personally with the Watergate committee, as it asked him to do. Nixon has refused such requests in the past and Ziegler said, "our positon has not changed."

Three White House memos filed in connection with consumer advocate Ralph Nader's suit to roll back the 1971 milk support price revealed that the milk producers had promised $90,000 a month but had delivered only $232,500 by six months later. The memos were written to then White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman by his political liaison, Gordon S. Strachan.

Haldeman's own top assistant, Lawrence Higby, now of the Bureau of Management and Budget, testified in a deposition in the Democrats' $6.4 million suit against the Committtee to Re-elect the President that Nixon ordered a file search at the White House last May to see what instructions about Watergate may have been given to the dismissed White House Counsel John W. Dean III.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee met with John M. Doar, its special impeachment counsel, and told reporters later that Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski had assured he would not try to impede the impeachment inquiry.

The population of Venezuela, 10,721,552 according to the 1971 census, increases at the rate of 3.4 per cent annually.

Meeting Of Hughes Aide, Nixon Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles G. (Bebe) Rebozo arranged a meeting last May between his close friend President Nixon and an associate of Howard Hughes who was under investigation for making a $100,000 cash donation to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign, the Washington Post reported today.

The story, based on "accounts of secret testimony" before the Senate Watergate committee, said Richard G. Danner, manager of Hughes' Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, testified he rejected Rebozo's request that he take back the two $50,000 gifts and that Rebozo set up a meeting with Nixon the next day at Camp David.

The meeting took place on or about May 20, 1973, the Post quoted its sources as saying.

But Danner was reported to have denied the three men discussed the money, given to Rebozo in installments in 1969 and 1970.

Senate investigators are trying to learn the purpose of the meeting, the Post said. The president has previously denied any involvement with the donation or its subsequent refund.

Rebozo and Danner have been friends since 1938 when Danner was an FBI agent in Florida, and it was Danner who first introduced Rebozo to Nixon in the early 1950s.

White House and Hughes organization sources said it would be unlikely for Danner and Nixon to talk about politics, although Danner's secret testimony indicated they talked about the West Coast "political mood," according to the Post.

PROFIT REPORTS — Three more oil companies — Mobil, Texaco and Shell — have checked in with reports of outstanding 1973 profits on the heels of a similar disclosure by Exxon. The chart, released yesterday, shows annual per cent increase compared to 1972 earnings. Shell was the only company to report a decrease in its net income for the fourth quarter. (UPI Telephoto)

Texaco, Mobil Credit Fourth Quarter For Boom To Earnings

NEW YORK (UPI) — Texaco Inc. and the Mobil Oil Corp. yesterday reported increases in earnings of up to 70 per cent during the last three months of 1973 that boosted their income to record levels for the year.

The Shell Oil Co. said its "consolidated net income in 1973" was $332.7 million, up 28 per cent from the 1972 figure of $260.5 million. Shell president Harry Bridges added that the 1973 profits were 7 per cent higher than those of 1968.

Both Texaco and Mobil, as did Exxon the day before, said most of their profit growth was from foreign operations rather than from business in the United States.

Texaco, which ranks second behind Exxon in sales, said its consolidated net income for the year was $1.29 billion, or $4.75 per share—45.4 per cent higher than 1972 earnings of $889 million, or $3.27 per share. The news prompted the company to increase its common stock quarterly dividend by 13.6 per cent from 44 to 50 cents per share.

The major jump in Texaco's profits occurred during the final quarter of the year, once the Arab oil boycott had begun. During those three months Texaco's net earnings were $453.5 million, an increase of 70.1 per cent over the $266.6 reported for the corresponding period in 1972.

Mobil's profits during the final quarter totaled $271.6 million for the last three-month period, an increase of 68.2 per cent from the same period in 1972.

For the year, Mobil said its earnings were $842.8 million, or $8.28 per share. The annual income was up 46.8 per cent from the $574.2 million, or $5.65 per share, reported in 1972.

Of the five major oil companies in the United States, only Standard Oil of California and the Gulf Oil Corp. have yet to report their earnings in 1973. Unlike the Texaco and Mobil patterns of higher earnings growth in the fourth quarter, Exxon reported a consistent 59 per cent earnings increase both for the final quarter and the year.

Defense Fund Leader Named

John D. Hoffman of Mill Valley has been named executive director of the Sierra Club Legal Defense Fund.

Founded in 1971, the Legal Defense Fund, litigation branch of the 140,000-member club, it has defended the Clean Air Act of 1970, protected 56 million acres of de facto wilderness and blocked a highway through Alaska's Copper River Valley.

Alaskan Quake

PALMER, Alaska (UPI) — An earthquake centered 80 miles northeast of Anchorage was felt in several areas, but no damage was reported, scientists said yesterday.

Emergency Medical Cures Seen

Emergency medical care in Marin has its problems, but they can be cured according to a panel of the county Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

Some remedies have been proposed by the emergency medical care subcommittee of the planning council. The recommendations will be aired at a public hearing at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the auditorium of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building in San Rafael.

The subcommittee has listened to complaints of slow ambulance response, emergency help having to come from distant locations, lack of communications networks, and lack of standardized rules.

Following the hearing, its suggestions will be presented to authorities who control local emergency services.

Among the recommendations:

Ambulances and fire department first aid crews should ignore city limits; help should come from the closest location regardless of political jurisdiction.

All emergency medical services should be dispatched through the county communications center, rather than by local police and fire stations.

All ambulance crews should be required to take a standardized emergency care course, which should be set up at the College of Marin.

All teachers, physical education instructors and lifeguards should be trained in first aid, and state laws that all firemen and police be trained in first aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation should be enforced.

Lee Strauss, chairman of the health and hospital committee of the Marin County Grand Jury, said yesterday the health planning subcommittee's recommendations are vital, both in terms of day-to-day emergencies, and for dovetailing into the county and city disaster plans.

The committee's 20-point report will be discussed at length at Tuesday's hearing, Mrs. Strauss said.

One technical, but politically controversial idea is to name a single agency to oversee all emergency medical services in Marin, including hospital emergency rooms, ambulance services, communications, first aid and other facets.

Story Claims Hatchet Job Try On Kissinger

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is understood to believe that H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman "were out to get him," and used the secret White House "plumbers" unit against him, the Los Angeles Times said today.

The Times, in a report from Washington, quoted "several persons directly involved" and "sources with intimate knowledge of the situation."

Kissinger believes that the "palace guard" team of Haldeman and Ehrlichman were against him because he had previously worked with former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and because he was "the rocketing star of the administration, getting too much glory at Mr. Nixon's expense," the Times said.

"He was suspected by Ehrlichman and Haldeman of promoting himself when he should have been promoting the President," the Times said. "Whether Mr. Nixon shared this view is not known."

"His independence and frequent contacts with the press also were factors," the newspaper said.

Kissinger believes the fourth plumbers operation was an attempt by Haldeman and Ehrlichman—who both had to resign in the Watergate scandal—to tar his name, the Times said.

HENRY KISSINGER
A 'plumbers' victim?

This operation was an investigation by the plumbers, so called because they were supposed to plug news "leaks," into the disclosure to columnist Jack Anderson of National Security Council discussions during the Indo-Pakistani war. Kissinger headed the National Security Council.

Warning Shots Break Up Melee At Quentin Yard

Five warning shots fired by a guard were required yesterday to break up a fist-swinging melee involving 12 inmates in the exercise yard of San Quentin Prison's adjustment center.

No weapons were used in the 2:20 p.m. brawl. Injuries were limited to bloody noses and minor cuts and bruises, according to William D. Nyberg, information officer.

Cause of the flareup is unknown, but it appeared that white and Mexican-American prisoners were battling blacks, Nyberg said.

The 12 convicts had been in the yard since 12:30 p.m. and were to reenter the adjustment center, housing the prison's most violent inmates, when the fisticuffs erupted.

No criminal charges will be filed against the men involved, Nyberg said.

Makeup Of Collegians Levels Out

The increase in women students represents a change from 1969 when there were 10 per cent more males than females on the Kentfield campus.

"We have many more women returning to college," said Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students who prepared the report. "It's all part of the women's movement."

Diamond's report shows that while only 44 per cent of the college's 5,700 students were women in 1969, their numbers have increased steadily in the last five years.

Additionally, Diamond noted that the number of students over 25 years old is increasing and said more students are in two-year career programs than in the past.

In 1969 only 24 per cent of the student body was over 25; by last fall that number had risen to 34 per cent.

Diamond attributed that shift to an influx of veterans following the Vietnam War, more women returning to college after raising families and programs aimed at special segments of the community such as handicapped persons.

Other figures from 1969 show that 47 per cent of students attending College of Marin were seeking transfer to other colleges and universities.

The number of transfer students has dropped to 24 per cent and students in two-year career programs have increased from 45 to 52 per cent of the college total.

The report also shows that more students attend the college more than four semesters, wait a year or more after high school graduation before enrolling and already hold college degrees.

Pot Smokers Said Subject To Viruses

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of Columbia University researchers today reported marijuana may weaken the body's defenses against disease by inhibiting division of the white blood cells that fight viruses.

The scientists said their findings "represent the first direct evidence of celluar damage from marijuana in man.

"For a long time educators and legislators have wanted hard facts about biological damage from long-term use of this drug. Now we are in a position to start supplying them with such facts," reported Dr. Gabriel Nahas of the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons, who headed the four-member team.

The report recommended against legalizing the sale and use of marijuana.

In a series of tests with two groups of subjects—one which smoked marijuana at least once a week and one which did not smoke it at all—Nahas' team said the cells' ability to divide—to reproduce—was 40 per cent less in regular marijuana smokers than in nonsmokers.

He said the group of potsmokers had half the median age of the group of nonsmokers.

BOMB-TORN TRUCK

Soldiers in Belfast examined a bomb-shattered truck with its cargo of fruit and vegetables strewn about after a suspected Irish Republican Army guerrilla hijacked it yesterday and drove it past British Army checkpoints into downtown Belfast, where he sat coolly in the cab until seconds before the bomb exploded. Meanwhile, a land mine explosion outside of Belfast killed a British soldier and injured others when a patrol vehicle triggered the device planted by IRA guerrillas.

Value Of Carburetor Is Doubted

I-J Special Report

MOUNTAIN VIEW — Bay Area Air Pollution Control District officials yesterday dismissed claims that a new carburetor will meet tough 1975 smog regulations. The device, far less expensive than equipment being readied by the automotive industry, had been touted as a solution to vehicular air pollution. (Another pollution control story, page 1.)

The claims, however, were "not quite true," district directors were told by their deputy air pollution control officer, Milton Feldstein. The device, the Kendig variable venturi carburetor built by Pollution Control Industries Inc. of Torrance, never has been submitted to the state Air Resources Board for approval, Feldstein reported.

Informal tests, in September, however, showed it fell considerably short of next year's standards for hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and oxides of nitrogen, he said.

Feldstein added the company expects to take its latest device to the air resources board next month for formal testing. Refinements of the device, the company told him, should allow it to "easily meet the California standards."

(The carburetor uses an aerodynamically shaped chamber to mix fuel and air, eliminating the need for a choke, accelerator pump, needle valve and jets. Feldstein observed the idea has "has been around for 60 years.")

He concluded there was "no substantive data at this time" to support claims for the carburetor. District directors, who requested his report in the wake of publicity about the device, did not comment.

Israelis Begin Canal Pullback With A Massive House Cleaning

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli troops blew up their own fortifications, packed big artillery pieces and jumped on tanks today as a mass pullback from Egyptian territory seized during the 1973 Middle East War got under way officially.

The first step in the withdrawal is a 72-hour operation to pull troops and armor from Israel's southernmost foothold on the West Bank of the Suez Canal. The operation began on schedule at noon, a military spokesman said.

Finnish Lt. Gen. Ensio Siilasvuo, head of the U.N. peace force in the region, called the separation of forces at the Suez Canal "the initial step toward understanding, reconciliation and peace in the Middle East."

Before the pullout, Israeli forces dismantled one of the three wooden pontoon bridges across the Suez Canal at their bridgehead into Egypt from Sinai. For the moment, they left two other wooden bridges and a two-lane causeway paved with asphalt intact.

The Israelis have until noon Monday to clear the area south of the Cairo-Suez road, which would reestablish communication from the encircled city of Suez with the rest of Egypt.

An Israeli newspaper said today Israel and the Soviet Union may soon renew diplomatic relations but official Soviet sources in Moscow laughed off the report. Relations between the two countries broke off during the 1967 Middle East War.

Reserve Maj. Gen. Ariel Sharon, commander of the Israeli forces that stormed the west bank during the October war, said in newspaper interviews that Israeli Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. David Elazar should be dismissed.

He told the newspapers Ma'ariv and Yedioth Ahronoth that Elazar was responsible for Israel's failures during the war.

"He should resign or be dismissed," said Sharon, an organizer of the opposition Likud bloc and now a member of the Knesset (parliament).

Meg's Husband Gets No Help

DETROIT (UPI) — Anthony Armstrong-Jones, also known as Lord Snowdon, is working on a feature story about the City of Detroit, but he'll have to do it without the expertise of Mayor Coleman Young.

"You're kiddin' me," said William Beckham, Young's chief aide, when he found out that an interview requested by Princess Margaret's husband had been turned down.

Armstrong-Jones, a photographer, and Stephen Aris, a New York writer, are working on the story incognito. The British consulate in Detroit confirmed their presence, but a spokesman said neither "hide nor hair" of them had been seen by officials.

Bandits Attack Apartment Dweller In San Rafael

Three men, armed with knives and a crowbar, assaulted and robbed a San Rafael man in his apartment Tuesday, according to police.

Davis said that he was alone in the apartment which he shares with his employer and son, Howard and Gary Scozzafava, when three men came to the door about 11:20.

Two of the men pulled knives and third took out a small crowbar. Davis told police he fought back, dodging the knives and crowbar.

Police said Davis was overpowered and dragged around the two-story apartment while the three men searched each room, then locked him in a linen closet. He escaped by kicking the door down, then went to a nearby apartment to call police.

One robber was described as about 22 years old, 5 feet, 5 inches tall, 160 pounds, with light brown hair, wearing a service station uniform.

The second was 23 to 24 years old, about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, 160 pounds, with long black hair, according to Davis. The third was 22 to 23 years old, 5 feet, 7 inches tall, about 165 pounds, muscular, with medium-length blond hair.

The robbers took a camera valued at $400, Davis told police.

Burglar Has Good Reason To Run

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The burglar who took the liquor bottle from Jerae Steggal's house will probable be on the run for some time.

County sheriff's deputies said Stegall lost a bottle of liquor to a burglar once before and decided to get revenge.

This time, the burglar's bottle contains a full pint of laxative.

BART Will Refuse New Cars; Too Many Defects

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District has told Rohr Industries, Inc., manufacturers of the system's transit cars, it will not accept any more new trains because too many defects were found in the present ones.

"We just said, 'no more,'" said William Rhine, BART chief electrical engineer.

Rhine said yesterday it has decided to refuse the new cars after it was determined the seats in the last 29 cars did not meet safety requirements.

Rohr has delivered 279 cars, and BART is to get 150 more.

BART officials said that last week 64 trains out of 177 sent into service from the South Hayward yard broke down.

Meanwhile Thursday, BART officials warned the system would go under in about a year unless $13 million in operating subsidies were received.

Movie Producer Libel Charged

DALLAS (UPI) — Policeman Roy Vaughn has filed a $3 million libel suit against producers of the movie "Executive Action."

Vaughn, who was present when Jack Ruby killed Lee Harvey Oswald, said portions of the movie depict him as the officer who allowed Ruby to enter the basement of the Dallas police station Nov. 24, 1963.

The suit was filed Wednesday in U.S. district court.

Talks At Standstill On Cable TV Hikes

A bid by a cable television firm to boost fees in San Rafael faded yesterday as negotiations between the corporation and the city administration reached an impasse.

"The original objections and concerns we had. . have not been met," said City Mgr. William J. Bielser after a two-hour meeting with representatives of Tele-Vue Systems, Inc.

"We've reached an impasse," he said.

The corporation proposes to hike rates for 9,500 municipal subscribers from $5 to $6 monthly for primary cable outlets, from $1-$1.50 monthly for additional outlets, and from $2.50 to $4 monthly for apartment unit connections.

The city administratiaon, claiming Tele-Vue has not substantiated its request with appropriate information, has challenged the validity of the firm's franchise. City officials also have rejected the firm's claim that local subscribers must subsidize $66,000 in New York office costs, and ordered Tele-Vue to revise its practice of billing two months in advance.

Corporate representatives yesterday said that Tele-Vue is operating without profit in San Rafael and claimed that corporate expansion has benefited local subscribers because of the borrowing power and low interest rates available to large companies.

"This is a risk business. You don't have to get TV reception this way. . . if we were making what we believe is an adequate return, we wouldn't be here," said John W. Goddard, Tele-Vue vice president and regional manager.

Goddard also said that revised billing procedures suggested by the city administration were too costly.

Goddard said the firm will consider billing only one month in advance by allowing customers to pay the two-months-in-advance cable bills a month late.

City officials, who leafed through a written reply provided by the firm as an answer to a number of municipal concerns, said the document was inadequate.

"I'm disappointed with the lack of numbers. . this is a restatement of what we already know," said Finance Director John B. Averett of the document.

The San Rafael City Council will consider the Tele-Vue rate hike proposal at 8 p.m. Feb. 4.

Sausalito Picks Deputy Clerk

Janet Tracy has been named deputy city clerk for the city of Sausalito, City Mgr. Thomas P. McKenzie announced yesterday.

Mrs. Tracy, 44, of 30 Girard Avenue, Sausalito, was hired as a part-time secretary last July. In August, she was named secretary to the city manager, a full-time position, and was promoted to deputy city clerk last week.

She holds a bachelor's degree in political science from Stanford University. Mrs. Tracy and her husband have four children.

Charge Of Violating Hiring Plan

A women's organization in the Tamalpais High School District has charged that the district has already violated its new policy requiring recruitment of women and minority group members for available jobs.

Women Task Force, a group of teachers, students and community members, claims the district did not seek out women and minority members to fill four "night school dean" positions.

The district board last month hired four men for the positions after deciding the policy did not apply to the part-time positions.

The deans are paid $10.20 per hour; each works one night a week for two hours at night schools at Sir Francis Drake and Tamalpais high schools.

Edward J. Neumeier, district administrative assistant, said the district's affirmative action committee will review the charge Monday at 3:30 p.m. in the district office.

He said the committee can decide the policy did not apply to the night school deans or find that it did apply and should be used when such jobs are filled in the future.

Neumeier said it is unlikely that the committee would call for the dean's dismissal and new recruiting for the posts.

McIntosh
PREAMP-AMPLIFIER

Why You Should Buy McIntosh

- McIntosh instruments have been designed and manufactured for long life. Long life with low maintenance costs and high quality performance have always been design objectives at McIntosh. Adherence to this policy has produced instruments that have exceptional long life. Most McIntosh instruments, regardless of age, are still in use today! With the introduction of McIntosh instruments, a new level of performance was established for the high quality amplifier industry. Amplifier clinics held all over North America have shown that more than 80% of the McIntosh instruments ever manufactured are still in service today and still meet or exceed the exacting requirements for performance that was required of them when new.
- Used McIntosh instruments enjoy the highest resale value in this field. Retailers report that they constantly have customers searching for used McIntosh instruments. A McIntosh does not remain on the "Used" display long. You'll get more when you trade-in your McIntosh which assures you of maximum return on your investment.
- McIntosh instruments have been and are LABORATORY STANDARD for the world. This reputation was earned with the introduction of the first McIntosh amplifier in 1949. The performance requirements for a McIntosh had been long dreamed of but had never been a commercial reality.
- McIntosh is the only company in this field still under the same ownership and management.
- McIntosh has been and still is dedicated to the best possible values.
- For more than eleven years McIntosh Laboratory has conducted audio clinics in retail locations. Gain - frequency - distortion characteristics are measured on submitted customer equipment. About 15,000 amplifiers and preamplifiers are measured per year. McIntosh has accumulated an extensive appraisal of our own instruments and, of course, of equipment made by others.
- McIntosh dedication to fundamentals and solid improvements has justified many patents on its instruments — not tricks or gadgets.
- McIntosh customers indicate that we should continue this quality theme without compromise, and to continue our concern after the sale is made.

MA 6100

- McIntosh investment in professional testing instruments is staggering. On a percentage basis McIntosh probably invests more of its sales dollars in testing facilities than anyone else in a like business. As new testing instruments are produced that update the McIntosh ability to know, McIntosh invests in them — wave form analyzers - real time analyzers - low distortion signal generators, etc., etc. Only through this impressive investment, through continuous testing and research, through product analysis; and endless measurement can McIntosh promise and deliver to you reliability, long life, performance, highest value, and freedom from service. Walnut case extra.

BIDS GOODBYE — Sandy Schacter of Carmel bends down to kiss her husband, Sheldon, goodbye, as she leaves for work. Their son, Jason, 4, is beside his father who relaxed in a warm waterbed while his wife turns breadwinner. (UPI Telephotos)

TUNED IN — As he vacuums the carpet, Sheldon Schachter dons headphones for a musical accompaniment. He gave up a 40-hour-a-week job as a Monterey County psychiatric social worker to become a househusband. He switched roles six months ago with his wife, figuring there must be more to life than working.

THE CHEF — Sheldon Schachter prepared dinner while his wife works. Believing the 40-hour work week is ridiculous, he reversed roles with his wife — she brings home the bacon and he cooks it. And, too, he is thinking about writing a cookbook for the new breed of househusbands.

A NEW BREED

Househusband Enjoys His Role Of Cooking, Cleaning, Washing

CARMEL (UPI) — When Sheldon Schachter's wife goes to work and his four-year-old, Jason, to nursery school, Schachter climbs back into the family waterbed and turns on a symphony.

To join the growing new breed of the househusband, Schachter, 32, quit a $13,500-a-year job as a psychiatric social worker. The family gets along in its four-bedroom house on the $400 a month brought home by Mrs. Schachter, 30.

Mrs. Schachter says she enjoys a parttime job teaching English to foreigners so much "I wouldn't want to do anything else."

Schachter figures the daily straightening up only takes a half hour, and fullscale cleaning only five hours once every two weeks.

The only creative thing in housework, he says, is cooking, and this he enjoys enough that he is working on a book, "The Househusband's Cookbook," which he hopes will sell well enough to bolster the family income.

In giving up his job, Schachter gave up buying records, steaks and restaurant meals, but he figures he is better off because of all the work he has avoided.

"I don't think anybody should work a 40-hour week," he says. "It's too draining. It's too destructive for the family."

"Most men can't wait to retire, when they can do the things they want. I'm doing what I want now. I'm being me.

Colma Will Turn Back Clock To The Gold Days

COLOMA (UPI) — At 7:30 a.m. Jan. 24, 1848, a scraggly lumber mill operator named James Wilson Marshall picked up some bright yellow objects from the south fork of the American River.

"Boys," said the 38-year-old pioneer, "I believe I have found a gold mine."

In the years that followed more than $1 billion in precious gold nuggets were removed from the Mother Lode around Coloma in Northern California.

Yesterday the 175 residents of Coloma were waiting patiently for their annual bonanza — the influx of tourists. Saturday and Sunday will mark the annual celebration of Gold Discovery Days.

"The response has been tremendous. We have more bands and marching units than ever before," Andy McKeown, parade chairman, said.

Plus the big parade, there will be gold panning demonstrations, a fiddler's contest, a quick-draw match, and possibly some talk about Marshall and how it all started.

Back in 1848, Marshall took his first piece of the sparkling mineral 58 miles to the southeast and Sutter's fort, where he showed it to Capt. John Sutter, a Swiss adventurer.

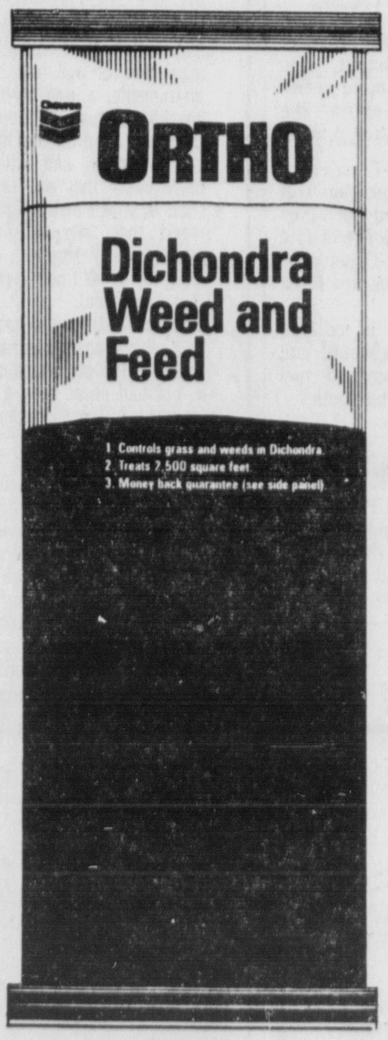

Although the pair decided to keep the discovery secret until the sawmill which made boards for the forest was completed, the excitement of the find was too great for some of the men at the river and the word soon spread.

Within a year 80,000 new citizens invaded California's Mother Lode country.

Coastal Agency Will Prosecute

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The North Central Coast Regional Commission last night ordered its staff to prosecute owners of two West Marin developments for ignoring the requirement for a commission permit to build within 1,000 yards of the coast. (Another commission story, page 1.)

Lawson's Landing at the mouth of Tomales Bay and Paradise Valley commune north of Bolinas were cited in the complaint by the commission. The commune also has run afoul of county ordinances.

The commission's executive director, Michael L. Fischer, reported that a sea wall is being built at Lawson's Landing and that several structures were under way at the agricultural commune. Both have refused to stop work as requested in cease and desist orders issued to them several months ago by the staff.

The commission acted after a 20-minute meeting behind closed doors with its legal staff. The action is designed to let other violators know they will be prosecuted, commissioners said.

Compromise Is Offered By Sea Ranch Attorneys

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Attorneys for the huge Sea Ranch development on the Sonoma coast last night offered to cut 1,300 homes out of the project and to admit about 100 persons a day to public tidelands.

The proposal brought to the North Central Coast Regional Commission, might encourage other developers to offer similar concessions in exchange for commission approval of their subdivisions.

The offer came in a proposed agreement between the commission and Sea Ranch on conditions required to allow continued expansion of the development, which someday is supposed to be the largest coastal community between San Francisco and Eureka.

Commissioners discussed the agreement briefly, then postponed action to their Feb. 7 meeting at 7 p.m. in the Marin Civic Center.

The offer for limited public access was the first crack in the development's iron curtain around its property. The tidelands are public, but land above them private.

The proposed agreement would reduce total project size from 5,200 to 3,900 units of condominium and single-family housing, a cut of 25 per cent. About 325 have been built so far.

(The executive director of the commission, however, said in September that because of inflation the ultimate size of the development probably would be about 4,200 units, 300 above the maximum proposed last night.

The attorneys also offered to trim trees that block views of the ocean from Shoreline Highway, restrict the height and size of structures on lots blocking views, and plant trees to screen buildings.

Coast Unit Criticized On Decision

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The state coastal commission has chastised the North Central Coast Regional Commission for deciding that a Stinson Beach property owner cannot use her land.

The regional commission instead must allow Barbara E. Alban to reapply for permission to build a smaller home than the one rejected last month, the state commission ruled Wednesday. San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn, a member of both commissions, reported the state action at last night's meeting of the regional body.

At issue are Miss Alban's plans to build a home on a beachfront lot at the end of Calle del Embarcadero. The previous structure on the lot burned down about a dozen years ago.

The regional commission voted unanimously Dec. 6 to deny her a permit on the grounds her home "would constitute an irreversible and irretrievable commitment of coastal zone resources."

Mendelsohn said the state commission's action technically sustained the denial of a permit for Miss Alban, but it also ordered "some sort of a compromise." The state commission probably would not uphold the regional agency if it denied a permit for a smaller home, he said.

The supervisor said there was "little likelihood" of public purchase of the parcel on the beach, but neighbors protesting the permit could buy it.

Sentence Upheld In Irving Fraud

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — An appeals court yesterday upheld the two-year prison term given last March to Edith Irving for her part in the Howard Hughes autobiography hoax.

Mrs. Irving, 40, contended at the hearing that it was not her idea but her husband's, author Clifford Irving, to deposit $600,000 paid for the bogus life story of the elusive billionaire in two Zurich banks.

Mendelsohn said the state commission postponed action on a protest of the regional commission's approval of six new houses in the Seadrift subdivision at Stinson Beach. The protest was filed by an attorney for Miss Alban, Paul D. Kayfetz of Bolinas.

Ecumenical Housing Group Picks Slate

Thomas G. Zeller of San Anselmo, representing St. Anselm's Catholic Church, has been elected president of the Ecumenical Housing Association of Marin.

Other new officers are: Shirley Schell of the League of Women Voters, vice president, and Christian Madera of St. Raphael's Church, secretary-treasurer.

Santa Venetia's Fight Not Ended

Santa Venetians may be entitled to believe they have preserved their San Pedro Ridge hillsides from development by (1) voting a $500,000 bond issue by buy the land, (2) winning county planning commission turndowns of plans for hundreds of townhouse residences on the hillsides, and (3) gaining a temporary moratorium on any building on the acreage.

But their fight is not yet over.

THE PROPOSAL for cluster high-rises overlooking North San Pedro Road, twice rejected by the Marin County Planning Commission, is alive in the preliminary San Rafael General Plan.

The "technical appendix" which accompanies the plan report contains this about what consultant Warren W. Jones calls the "Santa Venetia hamlet":

"In order to provide a better socio-economic balance in Santa Venetia, particularly in local schools, while retaining open space, a limited number of densely sited high cost family units should be constructed in hidden valley clusters off San Pedro Road. Substantial dedication of open lands should be required of builders, and new residents of high cost units would be expected to participate in further open space acquisition."

If that sounds familiar, it should — especially to Santa Venetians.

LAST MARCH, developers Jack and Ron Fierman of Philadelphia filed with the county planning department a proposal for the so-called San Pedro Reserve which Planning Director Werner von Gundell called "the most innovative and advanced plan we have seen in Marin so far."

It called for 1,100 townhouse units on the hillsides overlooking North San Pedro Road. They would all be clustered on 15 acres of a 257-acre parcel. The rest would be open space.

They would require "hillevators" to reach the street below. Each 100 units would be grouped around a "village square." In a bid to avoid the cost of street improvements, the developers promised that they would include "moderate-income housing."

It was that plan which stirred residents into forming a special county services area and voting 1,088 to 383 to bond themselves for $500,000 to finance purchase of open space which would include the Fiermans' property.

EVEN AFTER that, the developers tried to win approval of a reduced plan for 456 units, with a guarantee that 190 acres would be kept in open space for 10 years. That failed to win approval only by a tie vote in the county planning commission.

The board of supervisors, on urging of Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, last month slapped a moratorium on any development in the area, to allow time for puchase of the land from the bond issue proceeds.

But as the San Rafael General Plan "technical appendix" shows, that plan —or something similar — is still in the works. And while the Fiermans talked of "moderate cost" housing (although with elevators from street level to the hillside homes), San Rafael's planning consultant proposes that it be high-priced housing. That would, presumably, make feasible locating the clusters in "hidden valleys," which the developers earlier ruled out as not economic.

One wonders: Who represents development interests? Could it sometimes be "socio-economic" planners?

Widespread Dishonesty, Sleazy Ethics Threaten Survival Of Freedom In America

"Help! Stop polishing your armor!"

WASHINGTON — Based on the latest poll of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research, the headline reads: 66% FEEL DISTRUST IN GOVERNMENT.

This is the highest and most perilous level of public distrust in memory. And not just distrust in government but in almost everything — in business and industry, in labor unions, in advertising, in merchandising, in the media, in politics and the whole election process.

IT IS EASY to assume that government and politics have a kind of monopoly on sleazy ethics and dishonesty. But consider signs of the times like these:

A Chicago meatpacker handles $15 million worth of meat a month but can't show a profit because of an employee theft ring.

A New Orleans architect finds that public officials consider a 10 per cent kickback normal — a widespread practice.

A San Diego bank goes bankrupt because its principal stockholders were making dubious loans to themselves.

THIS IS A FAIR sample of the mounting and pervasive dishonesty and decaying ethics cited by a nonprofit and public-spirited organization called American Viewpoint, Inc., located at University Square, Chapel Hill, N.C., which is setting out to do something about it.

It is not too late but it is surely not too soon. American Viewpoint hopes that what it is saying and what it is beginning to do will find a responsive public.

There is no doubt that Watergate in all its related crimes and offenses against decent government has weaked the moral fiber of those who were looking for an excuse for their own misconduct. Watergate has impaired our faith in each other and in all our institutions.

The need is to arrest and reverse the downward trend of ethical standards.

"Maybe it's too late," says Ivan Hill, a former advertising and business executive who is the energizing president of American Viewpoint. "Maybe there are already too many people who simply don't care about having a bundle of freedoms. Maybe faith in one another is a thing of the past. But we don't think so. And we propose to help bring back honesty, ethics and self-respect. Our simple aim is to make honesty a working social principle rather than a moral issue apart from our daily lives."

THE MOST VALUABLE thing which Mr. Hill and American Viewpoint are doing is to relate ethics to the survival of freedom in the United States. They are indispensable to each other.

Honesty and ethics form the cement which holds together our whole free society, and without a recovery of a higher standard of ethics and honesty we will lose both our democracy and our freedom.

Ethics cannot be legislated, and the end result of social decay, which comes from pervasive dishonesty, is enforced discipline, and down the road from there is political dictatorship.

This is why Alan L. Otten warns in an article in the Wall Street Journal that "Americans may be ripe for a man on horseback."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Special Parking Space Promotes Car Pools

I share with many other citizens of Marin a great concern over the current gasoline shortage and energy crisis.

The employees of the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office have responded enthusiastically to an idea which I would like to share with others in our community.

We offered a reserved parking space as an incentive to employees who would like to car pool. The first week there were seven car pools which were formed. This resulted in 11 cars being taken off of the road! Eleven cars not being used for commute purposes are not going to solve the gasoline shortage. Nevertheless, if others in Marin County would follow the lead of the employees of the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office, substantial savings could be affected. We salute the staff.

Burden On Power Firms For Nuclear Installations

Is it the State Coastal Commission or the power companies who are blocking new atomic generators at San Onofre?

The law says that before a permit is granted the power companies must prove that the proposed plants "will not have any substantial adverse environmental or ecological effect." It also says that "all permits shall be subject to reasonable terms and conditions in order to insure: Access to publicly owned or used beaches . . ."

The companies want to destroy more than a half mile of publicly owned beaches and bluffs and to deprive the public of access which it now has.

The commission staff and some of the commission have proposed one, and are in the process of proposing another, compromise which will dramatically reduce the ecological effect of the San Onofre installations and will not deny access.

The companies have said that they accept recommended changes which will protect life in the sea. Let us hope that one state commissioner when he said "the win-all philosophy of the power companies is the best way to legal, political, and economic stagnation," is wrong.

When the people voted for Proposition 20, they voted for energy and the environment, not energy or the environment.

A Way To Conserve: Carry Shopping Bag

This might seem like a petty problem and solution considering all the problems we face as Americans today, but I think the time has come when we shoppers (and I think that's all of us) should go to the stores with either a shopping bag or our used paper bags of which we accumulate too many at times.

It's time we conserve and respect our human resources as well as our natural ones.

We still live in the greatest country in the world in spite of our shortcomings; let's do our best to help her and each other.

Officials Uninterested In Report Of Assault

On Jan. 11 I was assaulted by a neighbor, fracturing my elbow. (X-rays established the fracture.) I reported this to the Novato police that day. The Novato policeman who came to my home took a report and did nothing else.

On Jan. 14 I felt well enough to take the matter to the office of the district attorney. A deputy district attorney could have cared less. He assured me that he could not take this as a case because he could not be "positive" that he could win the case.

In this era when so much money and effort is spent on victimless crime, you can imagine how this victim feels about the protection available to her locally.

Can We Afford Such Expensive 'Tax Relief'?

By RUS WALTON

That wasn't very nice of the legislature — being so cool to Governor Reagan when he brought them his annual "State of the State" message.

Most of those birds complained the speech did not contain much that was new, or startling, or vital.

Maybe the governor knows those birds better than they know themselves. This being an election year, it would have been foolish of him to have asked that flock to do much that was new, or startling, or vital.

I was waiting for the Guv to deliver the master stroke. Now that the twin specters of inflation and recession are forcing most of us to cut back our standard of living, I figured he might suggest state government cut back its standard of spending — something like a 10 per cent reduction. That's a nice round number.

OF COURSE, politicians will tell you that something like 70 per cent of the budget is "uncontrollable" — meaning it is dictated by law and they can't do much about it.

Well, that is 99.4 per cent hogwash.

What the legislature can legislate the legislature can unlegislate. About the only things in Babylon set in hard concrete are the feet of those big spenders.

Governor Reagan told the legislature assembled that "tax relief these past seven years totals more than $4 billion". Nobody applauded. But, you watch; most of those birds will be around the hustings pretty soon parroting that line.

We should be grateful for small favors. Four billion dollars! That has a nice ring to it. But, the bell has a flaw — or two.

BACK IN 1967, when Reagan took office,the state's annual tax take was $3.838 billion; $205 per capita. For 1974-5, Babylon's bagmen will take about $9.33 billion; $444 per capita. State taxes will more than double in those eight years, 1967-75. Up 143 per cent, to be more precise.

Over the past seven years state taxes took $42.5 billion from the people. Add $9.3 billion for 1974-5 and the total tax take for the eight years comes to $51.8 billion.

You can't blame that increase on population growth or inflation, alone. No way.

If the budget had just kept pace with population since 1967, government would cost us $4.3 billion next fiscal year. And, if it had just kept pace with both growth and inflation, next year's budget would be $6.1 billion instead of $9.8 billion.

Over the eight-year period, the "extra" growth in state government — above and beyond increases in population and inflation — has cost us just about an additional $19 billion. Paint that $19 billion red and call most of it the cost of excessive appetite in Babylon. No wonder we the people have the fiscal gout!

I guess we shouldn't look gift horses in the molars and $4 billion in tax relief is better than a kick in the head. But, if sort of takes the zing out of it when you realize that $4 billion is just 21 per cent of those extra 19 billion bucks that went down the state sieve, 1967-75.

If that's an example of tax relief, I'm not sure we can afford it.

Freedom To 'Do Your Thing' Defensible If Kept In Its Place

WASHINGTON — It is easy to function as a great civil libertarian, defender of freedom of expression, when the subject defended keeps its place. Even the Burger court may be having second thoughts about sexy movies, kept indoors and barred to juveniles. That is the same as dirty novels confined to the adult department of the library, and holding anarchist demonstrations in some safe stadium where they don't block traffic or endanger their participants.

It is when they start imposing themselves on the unwilling and otherwise occupied general public that they risk losing the backing of the most dedicated disciples of the First Amendment. A lot of Americans have forgotten what that says:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assembly, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

That covers a lot of territory.

THE KLAN, for example, was within its constitutional rights when it held the first one of its revivals I ever attended, out among the piney woods somewhere between Whiteville and Tubor City, N.C. The high mucketymucks wore satin bed sheets and false noses and glassless spectacles, they reviled the flag and took the Lord's name in vain, told scurrilous lies about Eleanor Roosevelt and all Catholics and Jews, and took membership fees of $10 each from a thousand or more farmers who didn't know where their next pair of overalls was coming from.

Still they were legal, because they did not act on their ignorance, at least not that night, and they stayed within the bounds of that lonely cow pasture. Even Mr. Justice Douglas would not have tried to deny them.

However — and this is the part that causes the strain — this freedom of expression business is very nearly getting out of hand when the expressionists start turning the grounds around the Lincoln and Jefferson memorials into a junkyard.

THAT IS WHAT has been going on all fall and winter, and apparently will continue into spring, during which time the National Park Service has allowed the "sculptures" of a fellow named Robert Morris to clutter up the landscapes of the federal city.

I am frank to confess before somebody calls me on it that I have not sounded the alarm about this pollution earlier, although I had passed by it many times, because I did not recognize it. Not being a professional art critic, I leave the explanation to Henry Mitchell, who writes well about such matters for the local paper:

That is me, the uninitiated. Me and most of the taxpayers, I confidently trust.

"Of his two pieces here," Mitchell continues, "the one near the Lincoln Memorial resembles a set of steel-roof girders, and the one located on Independence Avenue across from the Jefferson Memorial might be taken for a large rectangular trashbin of heavy metal. In fact, it is probably the kinship of Morris' work with building materials that, in such a city of construction, has obscured its identity as art for many."

Right.

Even at that, I would bare my breast to defend his right to weld together any creation he likes, if it is to be displayed in the new and nearly equally offensive Hirschhorn Museum under construction on the mall near the Smithsonian Museum. But out there in view of our genuine monuments, on your and my greensward where we unsophisticates can see and be insulted by it, it emphatically is not keeping its place. And if the Founding Fathers had ever witnessed Robert Morris's work titled "Untitled," they might have phrased that First Amendment more carefully.

BILL FUSSELLMAN

Watch Out For Consolidations To Create More Hierarchy

As my typewriter started talking back to me, I suddenly realized that it was nine years ago this month that I started writing the column. One of these days I may find time to calculate how many words that's been.

Last week I wrote that under the baton of le Baptiste, the board of supervisors had reeled out the rhetoric and referred the real work to the satellites, Barrows and Co. Tuesday the ball was passed back to the board by John B., which uncorked le Baptiste, whose cup of ideas runneth over.

IN THE '20S and '30S the then-supervisor of District 5 wouldn't do much road work (their principal concern those days) until election year. Then boy, oh boy! was he Johnny at the rat hole. Le Baptiste must have heard about it and decided to try it out Tuesday.

"No way" was there any mention of cutting down expenses. He rubbed his hands in glee while he poured out the abundance he expected to sock you with for 1974-75.

One item you had better watch with particular care: managing the county fair grounds and the Veterans Memorial Building by a newly to be appointed department head, who would be over the two present heads.

THERE IS ONE department which is never mentioned except when the returns come in on election night. That, my friends, is the data processing department; probably of all the departments that the supervisors have little knowledge of it is the deepest in the shadows.

It was originally proposed by Leon de Lisle, the auditor-controller for many years before his death. I personally gave him full support in getting the board to establish it. At another time you would be greatly interested in its history. For now, because of space limitation, these figures will be something to ponder over.

When the former administrator induced the board to take it away from Mike Mitchell's auditor-controller department in the '62-63 fiscal year, there were 14 employees. Now there are 37, an increase of 164 per cent. Then under Mitchell the budget was $213,917. Now the budget is $760,359; an increase of 255 per cent. Nuf said, hey?

Belvedere Police Wondering Who Lost His Betting Slips

A Belvedere woman was unloading groceries from her car one day this week when she discovered a mysterious envelope on the floorboard.

An anxious peek inside revealed several crisp bills in small denominations. Knowing the money was not hers, she promptly marched it to the Belvedere Police Station.

She and Police Chief John W. Jaeger found several envelopes inside, each containing a small amount of cash. But out of one slipped several curious pieces of paper with numbers scrawled on them. Could they be chit sheets for a betting pool? The chief wondered.

If anyone out there knows the answer to that question and is missing their numbers and cash, the Belvedere Police Department is waiting to talk to you.

Actually, the department will restore the cash to anyone who can prove it is his — no questions asked.

AS A RESULT of the recent article referring to the Kung Fu television series, I have found myself involved in several debates over the effectiveness of martial arts in disabling a gang of attackers.

Well, I now have testimony that it can be done. Tom Brayne of San Rafael, an expert in tai chi, karate and other forms of Oriental combat, told me that while strolling through a particularly notorious San Francisco neighborhood, he was set upon by a band of 12, count 'em, thugs.

"I couldn't believe it was happening to me," Brayne said. "It really made me mad. Here I had been training for this for several years of my life and these guys had the nerve to try me."

Brayne admits being hit a few times, but the toughs tired of picking hands and feet from their vital areas and lost interest in the whole affair. "They realized it wasn't happening for them," Brayne said.

Port Commission Accepts Ferry Building Pier Bids

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sealed bids were being accepted yesterday from developers interested in construction on the piers flanking the Ferry Building.

The Port Commission voted unanimously Wednesday to adopt a five-month deadline for bids, beginning yesterday, thus reaching a middleground in a conflict between the commission and a committee of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The Waterfront Advisory Committee of the BCDC, which enforces state conservation rules along the bay, had demanded a moratorium on new waterfront projects until it finished a report on guidelines for development along the waterfront. The report is due in April.

Some port commissioners have objected to the delays, and Commissioner Harry Bridges, head of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, charged that some committee members were determined to stop the Port Commission from "running this port and developing it for the people."

The compromise allows the immediate solicitation of bids but requires that a developer not be selected until late June, after the BCDC report is in.

John T. Williams, property manager for the port, said the fact that BCDC has not yet decided whether to allow hotels or amusement parks will confuse developers bidding for the piers.

Support Of Land Study Is Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton was urged yesterday to support a proposal for study of lands managed by the Bureau of Land Management for possible inclusion in the Wilderness System created by Congress in 1964.

The request was made by 15 national environmentalist organizations in a telegram to the secretary.

The 1964 act required study of public lands administered by the Forest Service, National Park Service and the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife - but not lands under the BLM.

The BLM administers about 450 million acres of federal land, most of it in the West and representing more than half of all government-owned land.

The environmentalists asked that Morton urge Congress to include a wilderness review provision in pending legislation calling for sweeping changes in public land laws and reorganization of the BLM.

The 15 organizations expressed concern over the opposition of BLM officials to a proposal to bring the agency under the Wilderness Act.

Some environmentalists have charged that the BLM opposes the wilderness review proposal because of opposition by cattlemen and sheepmen who graze their stock on the public lands.

In releasing their wire to Morton, the environmentalists said lands managed by BLM include "magnificent canyon country, expansive desert and free-flowing rivers."

They said the BLM itself had identified 159 potential wildernesses but was protecting only seven of them by designating them as "primitive areas." They told Morton that even that protection might be eliminated by any "change of leadership" in the BLM.

"The resources of the public domain have been neglected for too long already," they said. "Let us not perpetuate that neglect in the case of the most perishable resource of all."

Organizations joining in the request included the Citizens' Committee on Natural Resources, Friends of the Earth, National Audubon Society, National Wildlife Federation, the Sierra Club and The Wilderness Society.

Others signing the telegram included the Animal Protection Institute, Center for Science in the Public Interest, Defenders of Wildlife, Environmental Action, Environmental Policy Center, Federation of Western Outdoor Clubs, Fund for Animals Izaak Walton League of America and the Wildlife Management Institute.

Seats For Nonsmokers On Airlines Requested

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Four state senators and 10 assemblymen yesterday asked the state Public Utilities Commission to guarantee every non-smoker a seat in the non-smoking area on California airlines.

"The Civil Aeronautics Board has ruled that there should be adequate 'no smoking' areas in all national flights and that the employes on the aircraft are responsible for seeing the 'no smoking' rule enforced," Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton, said in a letter to the PUC.

"In August of 1973 I was informed by the PUC that they were close to adopting the same rules in California that the Civil Aeronautics Board has adopted on the federal level," he added.

"Therefore, many legislators think a reasonable amount of time has passed and now is the time for the PUC to take action," the letter said.

Home Building Drops 19 Pct.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — New home construction dropped 19 per cent in California last year and will decline another 15 per cent this year, the Bank of America reported yesterday.

New housing starts totaled 205,000 last year, the bank said, and new units this year will total about 175,000.

3 more reasons to choose ZENITH color tv

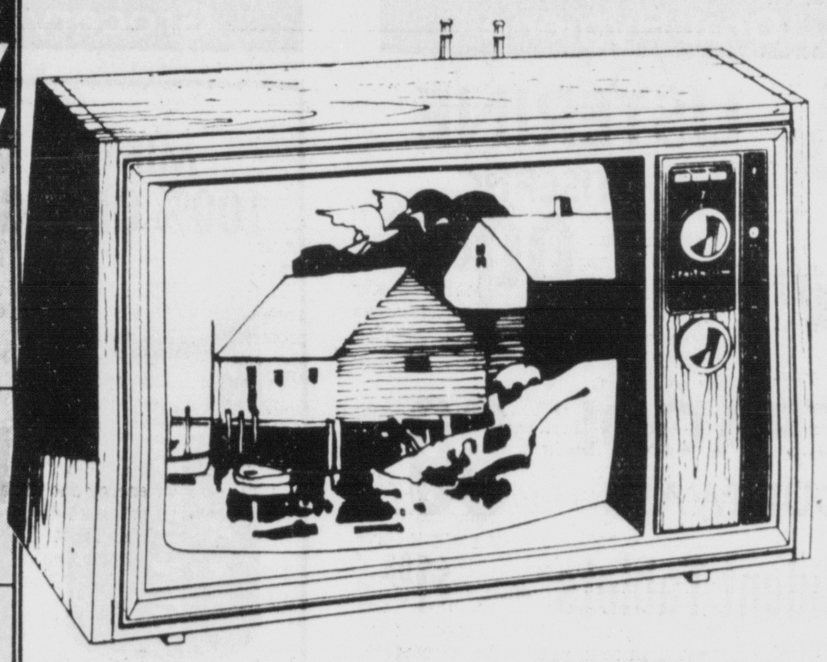

1 needs fewest repairs
In a recent nationwide survey, for the second consecutive year, independent TV service technicians named Zenith color TV by more than 2 to 1 over the next best brand as needing fewest repairs.

2 highest quality
In this survey, independent TV service technicians again named Zenith color TV as having the highest quality among all brands.

3 preferred by more tv service technicians
More independent TV service technicians again this year said they preferred to own Zenith color TV than any other brand.

as reported in nationwide survey, again!
For the second consecutive year, one of the best known research firms in America conducted telephone interviews with independent TV service technicians in more than 170 cities from coast to coast. To eliminate the factor of loyalty to a single brand, the study included only shops which serviced more than one brand of TV.

New Series For Women Launched

By DOROTHY NEWELL

"How to Make Things Happen in Government" was discussed by four members of the Novato community yesterday at the Novato Library in the "New You" series for women.

Arnold Baptiste, Marin County supervisor, discussed the woman's role in government. His wife, Emily, discussed volunteer work.

Gail Wilhelm, chairman of the Novato Planning Commission, discussed ways to get information and serve on commissions and committees. Susan Stompe, past vice president of the Central Marin League of Women Voters and a member of Hamilton Land Use Commission discussed the part the League of Women Voters plays in government.

Baptiste said one must determine the nature of involvement he wants. If the objective is to run for office, it is an admirable role. He also said women should become involved in general areas and special projects and pursue their own interests. Women can work directly or indirectly outside the establishment, and work with activist groups, he stated.

There is no real answer to how to run for office, and "you don't have to have a public image," he said.

HE ADVISED the women to seek appointments to commissions and committees. "As an example," he said, "There are parks and recreation, open space acquisitions, planning, airport commissions, Hamilton land use, Marin County housing, mental health advisory board, juvenile prevention, youth and human rights commissions.

"if you're interested, come forward and turn in your names," he invited.

He listed some non-governmental organizations in which women can be involved: the League of Women Voters, Irate Taxpayers of Marin, Marin Conservation League, the chambers of commerce, Novato homeowners associations, political activist groups, Business and Professional Women's Club, Republican women and the Democratic party.

"Take time to communicate with public officials," he said. "Don't be shy; the public officials are very responsive," he continued. "Don't sit back and wait for the officials to come to you," he added.

MRS. STOMPE said that much can also be learned by going to a council meeting or other commission meeting and listening to find out how members stand by their responses. Mrs. Stompe is also a charter member of the Novato Branch, American Association of University Women, and she worked with the 18 year olds when they became new voters.

"Women have an obligation to learn about the candidates," Mrs. Stompe said.

Mrs. Wilhelm said the League of Women Voters, because it is nonpartisan, is a good training ground. She also said women should be informed and, as an example, said one "should know who to call in case of a clogged drain."

Mrs. Wilhelm also said there are two major resources which are not being used — students and women.

"It takes two hours to clean the house and then she has four hours to participate in community activities before the kids come home," she said of housewives. She also advised, "go to the elected official, not to the commissioners, if you have a complaint or an idea."

MRS. BAPTISTE listed her volunteer activities, which included the Parent-Teacher Association, Marin Civic Foundation, Mental Health Association, Save the Seashore and Save the Bay.

"Use your time wisely," she said. "Women have the most prime time. Officials are available during school hours."

Mrs. Baptiste said she wanted only one word on her epitaph: "Volunteer."

Also discussed by the panel with the audience were recreational needs for the youth of the community, including a skating rink or a bowling alley, and use of schools at night.

Panhellenic Association Elects New Officers

Purpose of a panhellenic association is to inform college bound women how a sorority affiliation can contribute to a more meaningful college experience, according to Mrs. Celia. A sorority offers not only living accommodations and lifelong friendships, but also scholastic encouragement, leadership opportunities and community service involvement, she said. Women planning to attend college in the fall may register with Mrs. Celia so recommendations can be sent to sororities on their campus.

Last year the association awarded three $100 awards of merit to high school seniors going to a four-year college or university where sororities are represented. Their aim this year is to increase the number of scholarships. To raise these funds cooking lessons are being given in March at Charles et Maurice Bistro in San Rafael.

The new president is the wife of Alexander P. Celia, vice president and manager of Executive Care Leasing in San Francisco. She is also a member of the Marinwood Guild of Sunny Hills, and her hobbies are gardening and stitchery.

MRS. ALEXANDER P. CELIA
New president

Other new Panhellenic officers are Mmes. S. G. Sall, vice president; Joseph C. Barton, recording secretary; Theodore A. Martin, treasurer, and Jerome Aparton, corresponding secretary.

Committee chairmen are Mmes. J. Howard Adams, master file; Robert Gloger, fund raising; Allan Hoover Jr., publicity; Charles Read Best, waitresses and models, and William W. Di Grazia, scholarships.

Author Will Be Talk Show Guest

British author Paul deFeu will be interviewed Tuesday through Friday on "Jorie Talks" at 9:30 a.m. on KTIM.

A construction worker and nude centerfold model, deFeu is the former husband of feminist Germaine Greer. His present wife, Maya Angelou, with whom he lives in Berkeley, is also a feminist. He and the show's host Jorie Parr will discuss why deFeu, whose mother was active in the English women's rights movement in 1912, is not a male chauvinist.

DeFeu's book is "Let's Hear It for the Long Legged Women."

On Monday's program Mrs. Parr will discuss the play, "The Trial of James McNeil Whistler," directed by Dan Caldwell of San Anselmo, and currently at the On Broadway theater in San Francisco.

A Child's Name Could Play Part In Judging Him

Your child's name may affect the way others judge him, according to an article in McCall's February issue. The article quoted a San Diego elementary school study made with 80 teachers who were asked to grade similar quality and subject compositions written by fifth and sixth graders.

Only the names were changed — four unpopular — Elmer, Adelle, Hubert and Bertha — and four popular — Michael Karen, Lisa and David — were chosen.

"Michael" and "David" scored a full letter grade higher than "Elmer" and "Hubert" in the teachers' estimations. "Karen" and "Lisa" beat out "Bertha" by one-and-a-half grades.

Big Sisters Getting Fund Drive Assistance

The Marin Chapter of the Big Sisters is receiving help from the Jaycettes of Marin, who have offered to assist the program with fund-raising functions.

Plans for a proposed spring fashion show to be put on by the Jaycettes with Big and Little Sisters modeling, will be discussed by leaders of both organizations at a meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Colleen Williams in San Anselmo.

The Marin Chapter of the Bay Area Big Sisters was founded a year ago. In Marin the greatest need is to bring help to girls from 6 to 16 years of age who are being reared in single-parent families, according to Mrs. Thomas Terry of San Rafael, founding coordinator. Programs vary according to the needs of Little Sisters and the abilities of Big Sisters, but often include sewing, bike riding, nature hikes, picnics in an ongoing individual relationship, she said. Such group activities as cook-outs are also part of the program.

New Trends For Brightening Walls

Vinyl and tile will have denim coverings to tie in with the recent denim trend.

Wool is making its way into wall coverings, as are Irish linens in natural colors and varying textures, Oriental textures, earthy tones and handcrafted natural cork.

Parents' Gift — A New Playground

A playground built by the parents at a cost of $1,000 has been completed at the Beginning School, adjacent to St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City.

The two part playground was designed by Jay Beckwith and Andy Thurston, playground designers. Thurston, who lives in Mill Valley, worked with the parents overseeing construction and parents participated in the work sessions during two weekends.

One section of the playground features a wooden climbing device and the other large oil drums which had to be painted and rolled into place, making tunnels for the nursery school children.

There are 40 children attending the Beginning School morning session. The facilities are available for a day care center in the afternoon, and are also used for children of the church and the community.

The expenditure for the new playground came from a $5,200 grant allocated to the school by Pacific Change, an organization which obtains funds from private donors for agencies with educational goals.

Mrs. Wyna Brown of Marin City, chairman of the board of directors of the Beginning School, has been holding meetings to assess long-range goals for the school, and to determine the most needed improvements.

ON THE AGENDA

Pathfinders Planning A Party To Celebrate Year Of Tiger

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Strong Christian Feels That Life Was Ruined By Abortion

DEAR HELEN:

I have hurt so long and so much that I must share my story with you.

I am 24, single, and was raised a strong Christian. But I went against my faith, acted out of selfish love, and now have ruined my life.

Although I had spiritual and moral guidance from friends, I chose an abortion rather than put my illegitimate child out for adoption. I selfishly decided to free myself from fear so I pushed my God and my beliefs aside. But I waited over five months.

I rationalized that I would make it half-right by doing it my own way. I received a saline shot and ran away to a motel where I spent two days in painful labor. Then there was a tiny baby girl — dead. The shock of holding your own self-destroyed child is indescribable but, by choice, I wanted the moment alone to say, "I'm sorry." When the time came, how foolish these words sounded.

I baptized her, asked God to take her, and then it hit me. I had killed! I stayed with my baby several tearful days, and then I buried her, alone, at night.

Please let me tell you some of the effects this abortion had on me:

The fear in pregnancy is far outweighed by the misery of living with oneself after the abortion.

The guilt of being pregnant is far outweighed by the every-minute-of-the-day guilt one must carry through life after the abortion.

The insecurity of not knowing what to do is turned into a living Hell after the decision is made.

The peace of mind one is striving for after an abortion will never be achieved again, for a life has been taken.

Some everyday Hell is:

Never hearing a baby cry without crying within yourself. Counting days to see how old your baby would have been. Never watching a sunrise without thinking, "She'll never experience it." Looking at other children and wondering what she would have looked like. Wondering if she suffered pain in serving her death sentence. Wondering if she will ever forgive You — if she hears when you speak to her — still. Wondering if you'll ever have another chance at motherhood, and are you worthy of it? Wondering if you dare ever participate in church again, and if you'll stop feeling self-hate. And will God forgive you and take you back?

For every abortion there are different circumstances, but all are devastating: the memories of the impersonal cattle-like treatment at the clinic; being listed as a statistic; signing the paper that insures death for your child; seeing other tense, frightened women also waiting. . .

Now, finally, I have told the truth. I hope other women contemplating abortion will listen.

— E.N.

DEAR E.:

Each woman facing a decision on abortion must face it in her own way — and many will not experience the traumas you went through.

You have my sympathy, believe me, but — didn't your problems start long before the abortion?

As I see it, you set out to punish yourself for the sin of unwed pregnancy, and you chose a way that would create lifelong problems, even in a person far less guilt-ridden than you are. After all, you weren't a lonely, abandoned child — you had "spiritual and moral guidance from friends." Yet you waited over five months, then aborted alone, in a grisly, painful motel-room ritual which sealed you in self-hate. Why? Truthfully — Why? I think you'll need intensive therapy before you can answer that question.

The Look Of 1930s Returning

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — Paris high fashion for spring promises to melt right into Paris' current 1930s mania.

The French capital is awash with memories of 40 years ago, from the old beauty shop and Coca-Cola signs of the '30's selling at the flea market for $100 to singer Regine's new 1930-style restaurant.

The spring-summer collections opening Monday fit into that mood: soft fabrics including a return to crepe georgette, pleats from neck to hem, longer hemlines for day, loose, belted waistlines, dresses soft and limp, according to salon sources.

"Very long, straight look," an official at the Givenchy salon said. "And we're returning in full force to crepe georgette. Everything will look less structured and soft. A little 1930."

The Christian Dior salon has up its sleeve pale colors for even a softer look — gray, beige, honey. Dior will use knee-covering hems for day, midi for late day, ankle for cocktail, floor length for big evenings, a spokesman said.

The Lanvin salon frankly called its collection "1930 for day and 1920 for evening in the style of Paul Poiret," the early designer whose work is on exhibition in a museum in Paris this month.

DESIGNER PIERRE Balmain said, "I lived in the '30s so I have sympathy for that period. Couture can't be retrospective but for summer I definitely will lengthen skirts using more fluid fabrics. Very '30s in mood."

Designer Angelo Tarlazzi at Jean patou Salon said he was "thinking about the '30s" when he sketched his collection "and perhaps you'll see the influence in the powder colors, the feminity."

Yves Saint Laurent, who started the 1930s trend two years ago in homage to his idol, Chanel, will continue in this "casual mood," salon sources said.

EVEN THE house of Chanel has reverted to making Chanel. After Coco Chanel died in 1971 the salon tried two men designers who tried to use their own ideas.

Now the house "is returning to the Chanel style," a spokesman said. The collection will be made by Madamoiselle's two head tailors, using her own designs on the theory that, like a Rolls-Royce, a Chanel suit is perfect — so why change it?

Lanvin abolished trousers from its show but most of the other houses are showing pants to sighs of relief the world over.

A Dior spokesman announced, "Trousers are part of a woman's wardrobe." Trousers mainly will be wide and supple, turning into downright pajamas for evening, the salon said.

Frank Layton, Nancy Segale Are Engaged

The engagement of Nancy Segale to Frank E. Layton, both of San Rafael, was announced Sunday. The couple have set an Aug. 17 wedding date.

Nancy is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Medlin of Mill Valley and Louis Segale of San Rafael. She is the sister of Louis W. Segale of San Rafael.

A graduate of San Rafael High School, she attended College of Marin, California State University, San Francisco, and Dominican College. Nancy is employed by Livingstons at Northgate Mall.

Frank is the son of Mrs. Thais Beckett of Port Hueneme and Jack Layton of Camarillo. He is the brother of Mrs. Dan Boughman of Oxnard and Jon Layton of Camarillo.

He was graduated from Buena Senior High School in Ventura, Ventura College and he attended the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Anniversary Party Set

Former and current Marine Corps women will celebrate the corps' 31st anniversary with a luncheon Feb. 9 at the Marines Memorial Club in San Francisco, according to Lenore Mathews of San Anselmo, publicity officer for the Greater San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of the Women Marines Association.

A social hour is scheduled at 11:30 a.m., followed by the luncheon.

A Beach Invasion For 'Little Black Dress'

By PEGGY POLK

ROME (UPI) — Milanese designer Mila Schoen has a new idea for the once sacrosanct "little black dress." She's sending it to the beach as a coverup for a bathing suit.

It was the freshest idea in two days of Italian high fashion shows for spring and summer and said a lot about the quandary of the couturiere in 1974.

The reign of the simple black dress that could be made to suit any occasion with just a change of jewelry and accessories lasted for years. It finally died of boredom sometime in the 1950s.

There were black evening dresses, usually of sheer chiffon or clinging silk jersey meant for a femme fatale, in almost every collection this week.

But Mila Schoen patterned her neatly cut silk shantungs after the original whether they were really one-piece dresses or skirt and top or even an updated pants suit.

WORN WITH medium-heeled black sandals and a black net cloche, they looked like a serious revival — until the models started undressing.

Underneath were one-piece bathing suits, the trunks black and the tank or V-neck tops of horizontal bands of vivid purple, gold, blue and white.

It was high fashion's answer to blue jeans.

With jeans as chic today as the most expertly tailored silk or linen trousers, why should a woman — no matter how much money she can afford to spend on clothes — buy anything else to wear over a bathing suit?

MILA SCHOEN, whose clients include the wives of most of Milan's millionaires, was showing them that the couturiere can offer them the option of elegance suited to a yacht club life.

Like the other Italian designers who showed before her, Mila Schoen kept her hemlines just over the knee. But instead of the full, bias-cut skirts that have become the look of the collection, she designed A-line skirts.

Her daytime clothes had the look of safari suits and with them her models usually wore straw hats that fitted like helmets, their narrow brims turned down all around.

With Damp Cloth

Spots on fiber glass draperies can be wiped off with a clean damp cloth. For periodic cleaning, fiber glass should be washed by hand, reports the Soap and Detergent Association. Machine washing may cause abrasion of the fibers. Check the manufacturer's instructions.

Vows Are Exchanged In Reno

Kathleen Theresa Hodge of San Rafael and Ronald James O'Connell, also of San Rafael, were married Jan. 21 in Reno, Nev. The couple will live in Sonoma.

Kathleen is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended the College of Marin. Now employed in San Rafael, she was chosen Miss Marin County in 1968.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Stanbrough Hodge of San Rafael and George Edward Hodge of Marion, Ky., and the sister of Robert Alan Hodge of Torrance and Charles Edward Hodge of San Rafael.

Ronald is the son of Mrs. Elsie O'Connell of San Rafael and the late John Edward O'Connell. Edward O'Connell of San Rafael is his brother.

Ronald was graduated from Marin Catholic High School, attended College of Marin and is employed by Zappatini Iron Works in San Rafael.

Baby Teeth Should Not Be Neglected

Baby teeth are important and should not be lost too early because of neglect, dental researchers warn. Loss may contribute to irregularities in position of permanent teeth later, reports the U.S. Public Health Service.

A well balanced diet helps prevent tooth decay, which can start as soon as a child's baby teeth appear and can increase rapidly. A child should first visit a dentist at age 2½ or 3.

Youngster Helping Bridge The Gap

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

"You read something in a book and it's not right.
Then the next day you start smellin' something funny.
Then the next couple of days you start smellin' pine trees
And you say, "Hummm, that's fresh air."

Young David's reference was made in response to a camping trip he and his three co-authors took with their sixth-grade teacher. His insight into describing his experience of nature can be translated and applied to many aspects of our society.

The classroom is a case in point.

AT A TIME when educators are particularly cognizant of the need to bridge the communications gaps between the races, the generations and the sexes, "Fresh Air Don't Smell Like That" is a very thoughtful statement.

Teacher-student communication, especially in the inner-city schools, has been dismal. Student motivation has been limited or non-existent, and many unnecessary academic failures have matriculated or dropped out of our public schools.

At last, even some of the poorest teachers are realizing that young people (K through college) have minds, perspectives and nervous systems that may well differ from theirs. Teaching methods are being adjusted to meet the needs of the students.

Most teachers agree that motivation is the number one challenge in the classroom. Boyd Malloy, teacher and photographer for the "Fresh Air" book, came up with a motivation winner. Last year, for several weekends, four students were selected at random out of his sixth-grade class at 75th Sreet Elementary School in Los Angeles to go on camping outings.

Boyd took photographs of the activities, and when they returned to school the pictures were displayed in the classroom. The students wrote about their experiences (what was happening in the photographs) and shared them with class members.

FOR THE BOOK project, the class planned the itinerary of the camping trip and selected Michael Burns, David Nooner, Clarence Reed and Edward Smith to author the book.

Youngsters need leeway to grow, but they also need adult participation in their lives. For many, it is difficult to chance rejection and ask for help. Clarence Reed states the situation poignantly in "Fresh Air":

"When I first felt my asthma comin' on
I didn't tell anybody
I just didn't feel like talkin'
I felt worse and worse
Then all of a sudden I thought I was goin' to die
Because there is less oxygen up there
Then I did feel like tellin' somebody"

The struggle to maintain that balance of helping yet not hindering the growth of our youngsters (and each other) is not any easy one.

Last Chance JANUARY CLEARANCE

And we mean it.
It's your last chance to get some exceptional items at Pacific Stereo for some of the lowest prices you've probably ever seen. In fact, some of our prices are so low, they're dangling just above cost. And we've put these low prices on plenty of current equipment, as well as recently-discontinued models, because we're trying to reduce stock before our next inventory.
All our stores are piled high, just waiting for you January Clearance freaks to descend on us. But even so you ought to show up early (like tonight?) because we just can't tell how long supplies will last. All our salespeople are ready and waiting to answer all your questions. So why not pay us a visit? It's really time to discover how good January Clearance sales are, if you haven't already.

A Great-Sounding System from Advent and Sony

Sony's 6036A stereo receiver has 30 watts (RMS) of power from 20 to 20,000 Hz, and the tuner section has good channel separation and contributes no audible noise of its own. All the basic controls are there too, plus a few useful extras such as a separate on/off switch so you can leave the volume set the way you like it. The $229.50 price even includes the walnut case.

The Garrard Model 62 is a fine new automatic record player, and it offers the kind of precision previously available only in much more expensive changers. There's a new low-mass aluminum tonearm, an adjustable anti-skating control, and a damped cueing control too. The $89.95 price includes a base and an Empire 999XE/X elliptical cartridge.

The Smaller Advent Loudspeakers offer high performance for quite a modest sum. Their frequency response curve shows very few peaks and dips that could color your music, but it's the total Advent sound that will impress you most, along with that price of only $149 a pair.

A Good Manual Record Player (and a free $30 Cartridge)

The Pioneer PL-12D is a manual record player with good performance and a very reasonable $99.95 price. The platter is belt-driven to help keep rumble, wow and flutter low, and the tonearm has damped cueing and adjustable anti-skating. The PL-12D comes with a base and dust cover, and we've included a $29.95 Shure M73PE elliptical cartridge at no extra charge.

Our Lowest Price Ever on This Sherwood System

The Sherwood 7050 AM/FM receiver doesn't have too many exotic controls, but it performs so well you probably won't notice the lack of frills. The tuner section is considerably more sophisticated than the $174.95 price would suggest, and the amplifier is rated at 20 watts (RMS), plenty for the efficient Audio Design speakers.

The BSR 260A is a three-speed record player with a cueing control and anti-skating compensation. It's a reliable machine and an excellent choice for a first record player. The $44.45 price includes the base and a Shure M81 cartridge.

The Audio Design 806's are two-way speaker systems with 8-inch bass speakers. They sell for $79.90 a pair, and deliver the kind of clear, natural-sounding bass lines you can't get just by turning up the bass control on your portable.

Save $65 on a Fine Pioneer System

The SX-424 is the most economical way you can get Pioneer performance and reliability. This stereo receiver boasts 24 honest watts (RMS) of power, an AM/FM tuner section that brings in a clear rendition of just about anything on the air, and a loudness contour switch that gives you full rich tone even when you're listening softly. Its regular price of only $199.95 includes the walnut case.

BSR's 310A/E record player is a fine value at just $54.45. A built-in cueing control helps save your records from scratches, and the 310A/E comes complete with a base and a Shure M75ECS elliptical cartridge.

Quadraflex 33's are two-way acoustic suspension systems with eight-inch bass speakers that enable them to reproduce big cabinet bass notes. They'll give you clear, unrestrained sound on all types of music. The 33's go for $109.90 a pair.

Price includes Pacific Stereo's five-year warranty. To purchase these components separately, you would pay $364.30.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Marin Dining And Wining

Mill Valley's El Paseo Offers Excellent Menu With Nice Setting

One Mill Valley restaurant that has enjoyed a successful existence for more than 17 years is that quaint little place between Throckmorton and Sunnyside avenues known as El Paseo.

It takes its name from the old-world brick building that seems to ramble between the two thoroughfares. And as its entrance is just about in the middle it doesn't make much difference on which street you park — although your chances are better on Sunnyside.

Mary Harkins had it for 15 years, building up a reputation for her popovers and fabulous "tamal-pies", the like of which I have never seen elsewhere.

Then about 30 months ago she sold out to two Europeans, Mark Bottmeyer and Gunther Kollner. They had already established their own reputations in San Francisco and when they learned that Mary was bent on going entirely into the baking business, they simply had to have the place — beams, bricks, wine bar and background, just as they were.

And as they were, they still are today — with some changes, of course. First of all Mark and Gunther modernized the kitchen. Then they put a few nice touches of their own to the dining room, notably a lot of wine racks with very intriguing contents — California, French, German, Swiss and Italian.

And they changed and expanded the menu to encompass a wide variety of the European dishes they know so well.

Why is it that these always sound so much more interesting with French names? "Sauteed sole with shrimps and mushrooms" doesn't have near the appeal of "Les filets de sole Bretonne." And "Le carre d'agneau Parisienne" certainly has a psychological advantage over "roast rack of lamb." "Sauteed sweetbreads" takes on much more glamor when billed as "Le riz de veau maison." However, on this one you can take your own choice: "Le demi poulet grand mere" — or — "half a chicken as grandmother used to cook it with bacon, mushrooms and artichokes" (which your own grandmother probably never did unless she was European).

The point is, if you give something a French name, with its blue ribbon connotation, it has to be prepared in a way that will live up to it.

Fortunately it is at El Paseo under chef Gunther Kollner. And in this day and age, prices are remarkably reasonable at $4.75 to $6.75 for complete dinners including soup, salad and coffee. Top items in those brackets are the filets, peppered steak and rack of lamb.

From this you would expect El Paseo to be well patronized, and you would be correct. In fact, if you intend to get there after 7:30 any night of the week, make a reservation. Otherwise you stand to spend an hour or more of your time drinking aperatifs and watching other people enjoying the food that you could be eating with a little forethought.

A FEW CHANGES have been made by David and Gail Woo since they took over Lin Fa Gardens at Northgate last November. For one thing, it's now open seven days a week, instead of closing on Sundays. There's some difference in the menu, too.

Latest development is the booking of a prime and well liked Marin entertainer for the Mai Tai Room five nights a week, starting next Tuesday. He is none other than organist Bob Stewart, who has been building up a strong following for the last nine years or so at Sabella's.

He'll now be at the Lin Fa Baldwin from 5:30 to 10:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Thursdays and from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

ORGANIST JOY WRIGHT, who has spelled Bob at Sabella's lounge, will now cover his spot there. Lou Sabella also promises there will be some "surprises" in the future at that remodeled den of entertainment.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP at Cloud 5 in Novato should take place about Feb. 20.

So says Mike Nielsen, who has bought out Christine Bolton and Archie Sawyer. The name will be changed to Pickering's — which I understand has no other significance than it sounds nice, comes easily to the tongue and should be easily remembered — no reference to anyone in the new operation.

Mike will start out with dinners six nights a week, but quickly go into the lunch bit as well.

LYONS RESTAURANTS, which has places at Northgate and Greenbrae in Marin County, will open another one in March at Santa Rosa.

It will be located at the corner of Steele Lane and County Center Road. Menu will be similar to that of the other two, featuring some $1.35 - $1.65 lunch specials and dinner specials at $2.35 - $2.75. Also, like the one at Greenbrae, it will be open 24 hours a day and have a cocktail lounge and bar. There will be plenty of off street parking.

WITH A FEW DAYS respite from the rain this week, the front exterior repainting (to white) at El Greco on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile was expected to be completed in short order.

This should be a benefit to new visitors to both El Greco and to its next door neighbor London Arms, to the end that they should no longer enter the former in quest of fish and chips or the latter to order something like cordero a la manchega.

At El Greco, by the way, co-owner and chef Jose Pons has just added two more items to the menu — fresh lobster and langostin. The first is $8.50 on the complete dinner; the second is $7.50. He also has a new singer and guitarist for Monday and Tuesday nights known as Memo. He sings in both Spanish and English. (There's entertainment throughout the week).

Jose is now talking about opening for lunches on weekdays before long and for Sunday brunch.

ANY GROUP from 15 to 100 looking for a good place to hold a party or banquet would do well to phone or write Kirby Atterbury at the Caprice in Tiburon. He has just put out a set of lunch and dinner menus for such occasions and you can have one for the asking.

DINING ROOM at El Rebozo in the Fireside Motel, Mill Valley and the Fireside bar are now joined together in one operation. El Rebozo owners

READY FOR SERVICE — A waiter takes an order from two guests at the El Paseo restaurant in Mill Valley. The restaurant has been in business more than 17 years. Currently guiding the operation are Mark Bottmeyer and Gunther Killner, a pair of Europeans who purchased it from Mary Harkins.

DINING

Francisca Unanua and Maria Vasquez are taking over the Fireside's on sale liquor license. Previously the two had a separate wine and beer license.

FRED CHERRY'S WINE DISCOVERY CLUB has set a date for another banquet affair — next Wednesday, Jan. 30, at Le Caveau Restaurant, 732 Broadway, San Francisco. Time: 7:30 p.m. Phone the Fred Cherry Co., 470 Columbus Avenue, San Francisco for information and reservations.

THE LITTLE MEXICAN RESTAURANT called Palenque at 912 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, is no longer quite so little. Mario and Marjorie Lepe have been remodeling and redecorating and have managed to increase the seating capacity to about 60.

I ALWAYS FEEL a little sad when a restaurant doesn't make it at a particular location and has to close. This week there are two to report — The House of Kebab on the highway north of San Rafael and the Fondue Pot in Mill Valley (the latter does not affect either the Fondue Pot in Corte Madera or Fondue Factory in Larkspur, under different ownership).

No doubt their owners will try again elsewhere, as they should. May they be successful the second time around.

A HAPPY ENDING

Father Left Behind In Race With The Stork

BAKERSFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. James Osborn have a new 7-pound, 9-ounce boy but their trip to the hospital was straight from a Marx Brothers script.

It began in the morning darkness yesterday when Linda Osborn, 20, told her husband the baby was on the way.

They headed for Kern General Hospital 15 miles from home but the car broke down on State Route 178.

The frantic Osborn spotted an oil field crew at work a short distance away and a worker offered to drive them to the hospital in his pickup.

They were off and running again—until the pickup ran out of gas.

Osborn and the workman flagged down a motorist, who located two California Highway patrolmen, who rushed the mother-to-be to the hospital where the baby arrived 12 minutes later.

Osborn finally showed up to greet his new son after hitchhiking to the hospital.

Candidate Coffee

A coffee for Armando Flores, candidate for reelection to the Rohnert Park City Council, will be at 8 p.m. Feb. 6 at the Rancho Felix clubhouse, 6607 South Santa Rosa Avenue in Santa Rosa.

A TRANSIT SYSTEM CONTRACT

The Ford Motor Co. has been selected to design and build a computer controlled transit system to connect the business districts of El Paso, Tex., and Juarez, Mexico. The driverless, rubber-tired vehicle — electrically powered and computer controlled — will cruise at 40 miles per hour on the guideway. The transportation system for the two cities is to be operational in mid-1976, it was reported yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

Tax Reform Backers Lose Bids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For a time yesterday, Senate advocates of tax reform and relief were in the saddle— winners on votes to sock the rich and to cut everyone else's taxes.

But then Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, joined by the administration, called upon the Senate to reconsider. It took about 20 minutes of whispered persuasion for the Senate to reverse itself.

By a 48-27 vote, the Senate sent the tax revision bill back to Long's committee for reconsideration. In Senate parlance, "reconsideration" usually means no further consideration.

"I suppose the jockey got too heavy for the horse," said Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, in explaining the Senate's reversal after it had:

Approved, 53-27, an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for an immediate, across-the-board cut in everybody's income taxes. This would be achieved by raising to $850 from the existing $750 the personal exemption the taxpayer is entitled to claim for himself and his dependents.

Approved, 47-32 a far more controversial amendment by Kennedy, Muskie and other liberals to revise upward the "minimum tax." That is a tax provision that chiefly affects corporations and individual taxpayers of great wealth. Kennedy wanted it increased by $800 million a year.

Kennedy had offered both as riders to what's called "the Christmas tree bill" —a minor tax measure to which numerous minor riders, usually of benefit to only one or a handful of business taxpayers, have been attached. The original purpose of the bill was to offer tax relief to the families of men held as POWs in Vietnam during the war.

Muskie told a reporter he suspected those who voted to send the entire bill back to committee — for burial—"could see the next Kennedy amendment coming."

He said "the next Kennedy amendment" would have struck at three tax benefits enjoyed by oil companies.

JAIL SENTENCE — Egil (Bud) Krogh (center), former head of the White House "plumbers" unit, was accompanied by John Andrews (right), a former presidential speech writer who quit in disillusionment over Watergate, and his attorney, Stephen Shulman, after he was sentenced to a minimum of six months in jail in connection with the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Krogh cleared President Nixon of ordering the break-in.

Krogh Says Nixon Is Blameless In Psychiatrist Break-In Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Egil (Bud) Krogh, contritely accepting a six-month jail sentence for his role in the burglary at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, says President Nixon is blameless in the break-in.

"I received no specific instruction or authority whatsoever regarding the break-in from the President, directly or indirectly," Krogh said in a statement yesterday after his sentencing in federal court.

But Krogh, who was codirector of the White House "plumbers" unit that carried out the doctor's office raid on Labor Day weekend of 1971, sidestepped an opportunity to clear former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman.

"Mr. Ehrlichman gave the unit authority to engage in covert activity to obtain information on Dr. Ellsberg ...," said Krogh in his statement. "I considered that a break-in was within the authority of the unit..."

The 34-year-old Krogh, who once practiced law with Ehrlichman in Seattle, pleaded guilty Nov. 30 to a single count of violating the civil rights of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis J. Fielding of Los Angeles. He could have received a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

But U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell, saying he took into account Krogh had acted on orders from "higher authority" in endorsing the raid, sentenced him to a prison term of two to six years.

Gesell then suspended all but six months of the sentence and ordered Krogh placed on two years' unsupervised probation following his release. He gave Krogh 10 days to put his affairs in order before surrendering to U.S. marshals.

"I would like to say how deeply sorrowful I am over the suffering many, many people have endured because of this offense," Krogh told the judge before sentence was pronounced "Whatever sentence you deem appropriate for me to serve, I will do my best to serve it as well, as honorably, as effectively as I can."

Meeting with reporters in a steady drizzle outside the courthouse, Krogh was asked if he had any evidence to implicate Nixon in "criminal activities."

"The answer to that is no," Krogh said.

"Would that also apply to Ehrlichman, sir?" he was asked.

"Well, the answer to that is I don't know," Krogh replied, declining to elaborate because Ehrlichman is awaiting trial in California in connection with the Fielding burglary.

In a 12-page statement dated Jan. 3 released after sentencing, Krogh said the plumbers zeroed in on Ellsberg because of Nixon's "intense determination" in the summer of 1971 to stop national security leaks following publication of the Pentagon Papers.

HARD TIMES — Credit at the grocery store became a thing of the past during the difficult years before World War II. The picture is one in a series of an exhibit at Sonoma State College through the end of the month, depicting life in America beset with economic disaster and unemployment between 1935 and 1941.

KITCHEN SINK AND ALL — The lack of money and jobs in the 30s helped revive an old form of commerce — barter. Stores like this one traded in almost everything.

America—The Way It Was Once

Many Marin and Southern Sonoma residents are old enough to remember the years between the Great Depression and World War II.

While the worst of the depression was over, in about 1936 the economy was still struggling to right itself. Unemployment was painfully high and money was scarce.

People generally weren't starving then as they had in the preceding years. But they didn't have meat on their tables often.

Compounding the problem was the growing threat of war. As each year went by Hitler's Germany made more threatening gestures, and there seemed little chance Europe could resist his plans for domination. In the Pacific the Japanese sphere of influence had spread westward into the Asian mainland and east across the islands which dotted the sea.

It was during this time, when the past was a bleak memory and the future looked worse, that photographers working for the federal government's Farm Security Administration recorded the scenes and faces on this page. In cities, small towns and in the impoverished countryside they made a record of the way things were.

Their photographs have been assembled into an exhibition called "Just Before the War," which is on display at Sonoma State College from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each weekday through the end of the month.

CYNIC AT THE CINEMA — In the pre-world war II years movies meant a big night out for most people. While many watched the glittering stars with awe or envy, others, like the unknown artist who altered this actress's face, found the make-believe affluence too much to take.

Plans Outlined For Bicentennial Year

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Redwood trees, the Gold Rush, westward expansion and the challenge of the Pacific Ocean as the new frontier will be focal points in California's celebration of the U. S. Bicentennial in 1965.

At a meeting last night of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of California (ARBCC), chairman Richard Pourade and the 18 commission members from throughout the state outlined some of the plans for the commemoration.

Pourade said the celebration would get under way June 1 of this year with a salute to the original 13 colonies.

That date marks the 200th anniversary of the Boston Port Bill, which stimulated formation of the First Continental Congress and called for the colonies to unite to support Boston following the Boston Tea Party.

Pourade also said the California redwood would be designated a "liberty tree" and the state would present seedlings to each of the colonial states for planting. Early colonies named certain "liberty trees" as meeting points for gatherings of local patriots.

Redwood groves will also be planted in California in commemoration of the bicentennial.

In alliance with commissions from Oregon, Washington, and Hawaii, members of the California group are planning various programs dealing with oceanic resources, trade and tourism, and other maritime activities —past, present and future.

State Abortion Drop Reported

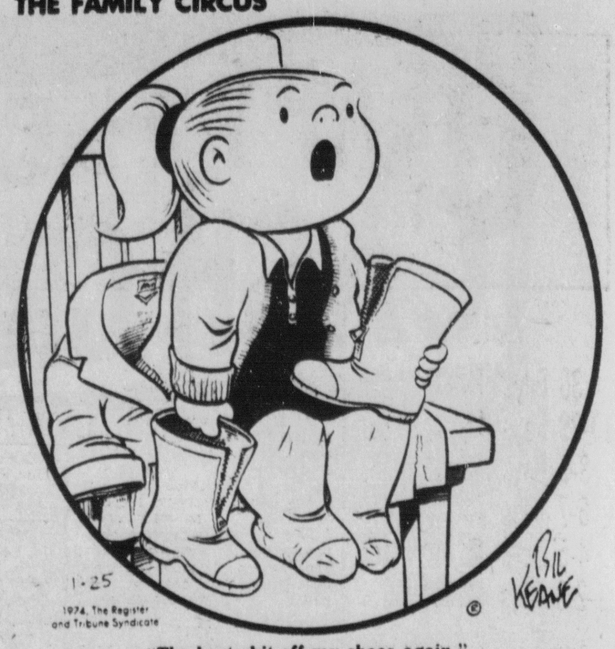

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California health officials say it appears there were fewer tax-paid abortions last year because of new life styles and fewer pregnancies.

A spokesman for the state Health Department said date for the first three quarters of 1973—which is being prepared for the legislature—indicates there will be fewer pregnant women in California and unmarried women seem to be keeping their babies.

"There seems to be a new life style," a spokesman for the department said, "unmarried women are having their babies instead of abortions."

During 1972, California physicians performed 138,584 abortions with nearly one-third or 44,500 paid for by the state.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Wise Thought: Hindsight Is Better Than No Sight At All

Bridge players fall, or perhaps stumble, into two classes: those who see their mistakes too late and those who don't see their mistakes at all. What about the players who don't make mistakes? They are charter members of the group that never see their mistakes at all.

NATIONAL PLAY

When this hand was played in a national tournament some years ago, West opened the ace of spades and then continued with the queen of spades.

East was delighted to ruff dummy's king of spades. He then returned a club, and the defenders eventually got a club and a diamond. Down one.

SEES ERROR

South saw his error the moment that East ruffed the king of spades. The correct play is to let West win the trick with the queen of spades. If West continues with a spade, South can ruff, draw trumps and get to dummy with a trump to discard a club on the king of spades.

Declarer can afford to give the opponents two spade tricks to make sure of losing no club trick.

ON TO VICTORY

As it turned out, North and South went on to win the championship despite their bad result on this hand. Even the greatest players make mistakes. One of the things that makes them champions is the fact that they eventually recognize their mistakes and can learn from them.

DAILY QUESTION

Your partner opens with one heart and the next player doubles.

You hold:
♠ - K 10 6 4
♥ - J 10 7 4
♦ - K 6
♣ - 10 7 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three hearts.

The hand is not quite good enough for a redouble. You can show your distributional strength and limited high-card strength by a jump raise after the takeout double.

Judge Does Honor Farm Turnabout

A Marin judge has quietly reversed his decision to deny lawbreakers the opportunity to serve their sentences at the minimum-security county honor farm.

In a widely-distributed letter last month, Municipal Judge Robert A. Smallman announced he would no longer send offenders to the farm because two of nine correctional officers hired at the facility had felony records.

He was taking the action, the judge said, because he thought the public was unaware of the hiring plan of Ralph Merola, who inherited the honor farm from the sheriff's department Jan. 1.

But except for two lawbreakers he sentenced shortly after the letter was made public, Smallman said he has not followed through on his plan.

Sacramento Council Puts Lid On Public Smoking

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Sacramento City Council has approved a far-reaching anti-smoking ordinance which will put controls on theaters, restaurants and other public places.

The ordinance passed by a 5-3 vote last night. The board of supervisors has tentatively approved a similar measure.

More than 100 persons crowded into the city council chambers—only a few smoked —to hear arguments on the ordinance which carries a $25 fine for violators.

The ordinance, endorsed by the antismoking organization, Group Against Smoking Pollution (GASP), prohibits smoking in many public places, including elevators, meeting places, Regional Transit buses, retail stores, and public libraries.

The measure, which goes into effect in 30 days, requires restaurant operators to reserve 10 per cent of their room for nonsmokers.

Sacramento Mayor Richard Marriott said the ordinance was discriminatory, unenforceable and ridiculous. He is a frequent smoker at council meetings.

Teacher Calls For The Names

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) — A Yuma school teacher called a local newspaper to report plans for a test of student knowledge of current events.

The teacher said he wanted to ask the students to name the three astronauts in the Skylab.

The only problem, the teacher said, was that he did not know the names of the astronauts himself.

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon state forestry department officials estimate that more than 400,000 acres of forest land have been damaged by a tussock moth infestation in 1972 and 1973.

"A Celebrity Cooks":

Ed McMahon

"I flew in on a plane and had the turkey and ham strapped in like passengers behind me. I also brought along several bottles of 1949 Lafitte Rothschild. . . . It was a little slippery, so when I got off the plane I told my friends, 'Listen, don't worry about me or the ham or the turkey. But save the wine!'"

This week's color-cover feature is an exclusive interview with the popular TV personality and big-league raconteur Ed McMahon. In a conversation with FW contributor Helen Dorsey, "big Ed" confesses a continuing tendency to overeat that has made him an enthusiastic cook: He recalls that his happiest memories—beginning in early childhood — all center on mealtimes.

Look for his own step-by-step instructions, commentary and complete recipes for Ed's Good Eggs Scramble, Baked Ham Grand Marnier and Roast Turkey with Brandied Stuffing in "Jack-of-All-Trades Ed McMahon: He's Pretty Good in the Kitchen, Too!"

"CRAZY"
That's what they told us - trying to sell a house ourselves in winter! But we will because it's a beauty.
On ¾ acre in complete privacy w/that famous Kent Woodlands prestige - private driveway - patios - decks - POOL - and other features too numerous to mention (as those real estate people say). Looks like Frank Lloyd Wright but more comfortable!
How about a floor-to-ceiling rock fireplace? Or a 60' long picture window? Or new, luxurious, rich carpeting throughout? Or a secluded private garden for the master bedroom? Not to mention a super GUEST HOUSE for that troublesome teenager or in-law! PLUS walk to S.F. bus stop.
See it - you'll love it! How about $115,000.

The Rains will end,

by and by, and it is time to think ahead to sunny days and refreshing evening breezes.

And how much nicer it would be if you could move from your present residence to the openness of a large 4 bedroom home with 2½ baths, a spacious family room or extra large den, room for hobbies, and almost a half acre of level land, with its own well for outdoor watering.

Enjoy closeness to the natural beauty of the hills surrounding Novato, and the horsey atmosphere of this Vineyard Road neighborhood.

Owners have moved, and this spacious, one level home is being offered at a reduced price of $49,950.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Business Tax Bill Faces Senate Fight

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation making it as easy to raise the taxes of business as those of individual citizens advanced today to the Senate, where the measure faces a stiff uphill battle.

The proposed constitutional amendment would reduce the legislative voting requirement to increase state taxes on banks and corporations from two-thirds to a majority, the same margin now needed to raise other California taxes.

With a strong push from Democratic Speaker Bob Moretti, the measure passed the Assembly yesterday on a 54-23 vote, the bare two-thirds minimum needed for passage. All the "no" votes were cast by Republicans. Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, voted in favor.

The measure now faces a dubious future in the Senate, which has killed similar proposals in the past.

JUDGE ELECTIONS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly voted final legislative passage yesterday to a measure barring anyone except incumbent judges from seeking election to certain newly created Municipal or Judicial courts.

The "urgency" bill (SB1511) by Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville was sent to the governor on a 57-3 vote, three more than the two-thirds necessary. There was little debate.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, floor sponsor of the measure said it merely reaffirmed existing law, which was recently challenged by an opinion by the San Luis Obispo district attorney.

DOOR PRIZES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly has voted to legalize the giving away of door prizes at charitable events.

The proposed constitutional amendment (ACA33) by Assemblyman Raymond T. Seeley, R-Blythe, was approved yesterday on a 56-15 vote, two more than the two-thirds needed, and sent to the Senate. There was little floor debate.

If approved by the legislature, the measure would go on a statewide ballot.

EDUCATION BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly has unanimously voted to permit school districts to start new education programs or activities without having to get state permission.

The measure (AB27) by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, was sent to the Senate yesterday on a 62-0 vote.

The bill implements the 1972 voter-approved ballot measure, Prop. 5, which was aimed at giving local schools greater say in their educational affairs.

GOP PRIMARY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill abolishing the winner-take-all presidential primary election for the Republican party has won unanimous approval from the Assembly.

The bill (AB2685) by Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, was sent to the Senate yesterday on a 75-0 vote without debate.

The measure would substitute the winner-take-all system with a proportional system granting presidential candidates their share of delegates based on how many votes they received.

ENERGY POWERS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee yesterday delayed a vote on a bill making Gov. Ronald Reagan the state's energy czar with "emergency" powers to deal with the energy crisis.

A final hearing on the measure (SB1497) by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, was delayed until Monday as the lawmaker's aides attempted to work out a compromise with the Reagan administration.

Alquist said he has agreed to change the bill to have the legislature share with the governor "emergency" powers to ease the energy shortage.

CAL-VET LOANS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A $350 million proposed bond issue to maintain the state program which provides low-interest loans for California veterans has won final passage from the Assembly.

The measure (AB2674) by Assemblyman Ernest Mobley, R-Sanger, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday when the Assembly concurred in Senate amendments on a 61-1 vote. If signed, the measure will appear on the June 4 primary election ballot.

TIPPLER'S TAX

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democratic leaders of both houses say they will support legislation helping California's financially-troubled cities by permitting them to impose a "tippler's tax" on barroom drinks.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, and Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, told a news conference yesterday that cities should have the option of imposing the so-called tax.

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, significant air pollution.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.
Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, significant air pollution.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Surgery Normally Not Used To Get Rid Of An Hiatal Hernia

S.T. writes: "What is an hiatus hernia? Now and then when bending over to tie my shoelaces, sharp pain develops in the pit of my stomach. When I straighten up, it disappears. My doctor says it is an hiatal hernia, but nothing need be done about it."

Hiatus hernia is a condition in which the upper part of the stomach pushes through a relaxed opening in the diaphragm and into the thoracic cage. There are different types, but the following description may be helpful. The esophagus is the passageway through which food travels from the throat to the gastric pouch.

THE TUBE passes through an opening in the diaphragm (hiatus) that holds in place the lower part of the esophagus and the upper portion of the stomach. Let us assume that the opening in the diaphragm became larger and we were able to pull up on the esophagus, dragging a part of the stomach with it into the chest cavity. This is hiatal hernia.

As a rule, nothing happens, even though part of the stomach may slide in and out of the chest. Normally a valve on the inside of the passageway keeps the gastric contents from going upwards into the esophagus. When this is displaced by the hernia, it is at a mechanical disadvantage and allows some of the gastric juices to escape (reflux) into the esophagus leading to heartburn and dyspepsia. The defect may also cause a sense of fullness. Furthermore, bleeding may occur if the lining becomes raw as a result of the burning acids.

DISTRESS USUALLY develops when the individual lies down, as when sleeping. In this posture, the stomach no longer is held down by gravity. Bending over may cause some reflux of gastric juice, but the maneuver is more likely to create pressure on the stomach and esophagus. Symptoms of hiatal hernia mimic many other diseases. Surgical removal of the gallbladder often eliminates the distress attributed to an hiatal hernia.

X-ray is the only way to make the diagnosis. Alkalies relieve the dyspepsia, and surgical correction is suggested only when the condition is bothersome and there is no evidence of disease in the other organs in the upper abdomen.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquires will not be answered.

FUSION OF SPINE

B. S. T. writes: What causes a fusion of the spine?

REPLY

Joints fuse (become stiff) when the opposing surfaces are destroyed by injury, degeneration, or infection. Arthritis is a common cause of fusion of the spine.

Benefit Concert Scheduled Tonight

A benefit concert featuring classical music and modern jazz by Celestial Musika will be held at 8 p.m. today at Unitarian Fellowship of Marin, 224 Channing Way, San Rafael.

The program, sponsored by Alpha Projections, an artists guild, will present classical guitarist Clare Weinraub, madrigal and Eastern music selections by the Namoun Voice Trio and a film, "Inside the World of Jesse Allen," by the Vorpal Gallery of San Francisco.

WATER RATE INCREASE HEARING

In order to meet principal and interest payments on the Water Bonds authorized by Novato voters last June, the North Marin County Water District must increase its water rates. Staff has recommended a $17 per year increase in the annual water bill of the typical single family residence.

A Board "Workshop" will be held at 8:00 P.M. on Tuesday, January 29, 1974, and a Public Hearing will be held at 8:00 P.M. on Wednesday, February 6, 1974, to review the proposed increase. The public is cordially invited to attend either or both of these meetings which will be held at the District's Office at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

FOR SHAMROCK MATERIALS, INC.

Shamrock Materials, Inc., 665 Irwin Street, San Rafael, California, has filed a Report of Waste Discharge and applied for requirements for the discharge of waste into a drainage canal at a point near the foot of Irwin Street. The canal is tributary to San Rafael Yacht Harbor via a pumping station.

This plant loads transit-mix concrete trucks, and sells sand and gravel. The waste is primarily transit-mix truck wash water and drainage from the batch loader, and is discharged into the drainage canal. It flows to a pumping station which lifts the waste and drainage into San Rafael Yacht Harbor near its head on Francisco Boulevard.

On the basis of preliminary staff review and application of lawful standards and regulations, the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, tentatively proposes to issue waste discharge requirements including effluent limitations and special conditions. Persons wishing to comment upon or object to the proposed discharge requirements are invited to submit same in writing to the above address no later than thirty days after date of this notice.* All comments or objections received prior to this date will be considered in the formulation of final determinations regarding the waste discharge. If no objections are received, the Regional Board will issue discharge requirements. A public hearing will be held upon request of any interested person.

The Report of Waste Discharge, related documents, comments received, and other information is on file and may be inspected or copied at the office of the Regional Board between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on business days.

Younger Says He Will Probably Back GOP Nominee For Governor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger said yesterday he expects to endorse the Republican nominee for governor but reserved the right to change his mind "absent some major change."

Younger pulled out of the field of potential GOP candidates for governor Wednesday, citing Watergate among his reasons, and announced he would seek a second term as attorney general.

The decision left state Controller Houston I. Flournoy and Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke as the two major Republicans lefr in the June 4th primary election for governor.

At a news conference, Younger told reporters he expects to endorse the Republican nominee "absent some major change."

"I've been in his business long enough to know that you can be surprised and learn things," he said. "On the basis of what I know about the two people who say they are running for governor and what I know about their abilities, I would expect to endorse whomever wins."

Younter, who recently paid off the debt from his first campaign for attorney general, told newsmen he "probably has $50,000 in the bank now, give or take a few dollars."

The attorney general, who has complained of the difficuly encountered in raising campaign funds in the era of Watergate, insisted the scandal was "not only a factor in my not running for governor, it is very much a factor in my running for attorney general."

"There is no job ahead more important and more significant than really instituting what truly could be election reform to clean up the operating," he said.

"This is a time I think our department can fill a real leadership role," Younger said, adding under new campaign disclosure laws there are gaps.

He said if a contributor now wanted to make a "major" campaign contribution and didn't "want people to know about it, you just wait until the cut off time for the reporting is over and make your contribution. That's one of the holes we are going to try to plug."

In related developments, Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, who had been considering running for attorney general if Younger sought the gubernatorial nomination, said he has decided not to run against Younger.

Auto Accident Kills Ex-POW

PENRYN (UPI) — Navy Cmdr. Robert Schweitzer, 41, a pilot held captive six years in a North Vietnamese prison camp, was killed last night in a one-car traffic accident.

The California Highway Patrol said he was driving on Interstate 80 when his car struck a guard rail at an undercrossing. The auto flipped over, and Schweitzer was thrown to the pavement.

Ex-POW Takes Command Post

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Rear Adm. James B. Stockdale, highest ranking Navy officer held prisoner by the North Vietnamese, Wednesday took command of the Pacific Fleet Antisubmarine Air Wing, saying he hopes he will remember the lessons he learned in captivity.

Stockdale assumed command of the 5,000-man unit one day after his release from outpatient status at a naval hospital. He still limps noticeably from injuries suffered during eight years in prison.

He noted as he took over that "one year ago today, my earthly possessions consisted of two pair of frayed pajamas, a pair of Ho Chi Minh sandals and a tin drinking cup. Whatever authority I had rested in the final analysis on the trust and confidence of my beloved shipmates."

Celebration Set For Republic Day

The Happy-Healthy-Holy Organization will celebrate India's Republic Day at a buffet dinner and discussion at 7 p.m. today at the group's Sadan on Culloden Park Road in San Rafael.

Speakers on Indian culture and religion will include Robert Swan and Sachdev of Ali Akbar College, R.C. Arora, Indian Consul General of San Francisco and Yogi Bhajan, spiritual leader of the organization, a spokesman announced.

Island Opinion Favors State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The federal government does not have exclusive jurisdiction over San Clemente Island in Southern California although it owns it, Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger says.

Younger yesterday issued the opinion in response to a request by the state Department of Fish and Game regarding application of a statewide management plan to a 300-yard wide strip of land around the island.

"Such claimed jurisdiction could interfere with sport and commercial fishing in that area," the opinion said.

WHEN BLASTING FINLEY

Williams, Andrews Don't Mince Words

BOSTON (UPI) — Dick Williams and Mike Andrews, two men who have been Finleyed out of baseball, are mincing no words these days about their former Oakland Athletics boss.

"I don't know if you realize the similarities between (Charles O.) Finley and his mule (Charlie O.)," said Andrews. "Both are stubborn and both are asses—take that for what it's worth."

Williams, speaking along with Andrews at the Boston Baseball Writers Dinner last night, was more subtle:

"I'll tell you one thing," he said, "I can get up in the morning and look myself in the face when I shave. I don't think the man in Chicago (Finley) can."

CHARLES FINLEY
A resemblance

Williams signed a contract recently to work for a Florida land developer after Finley refused to let him out of his Oakland managerial contract with two seasons remaining. Williams had signed a multi-year contract with the New York Yankees but the pact was voided by a league decision. If Williams wants to manage in the next two years, he must remain in Oakland, former American League President Joe Cronin ruled.

Andrews was dropped by Finley after making consecutive errors in the second game of the World Series. He was reinstated after the third game.

Finley claimed Andrews had a sore arm and couldn't play any more. Andrews consistently has denied suffering arm trouble.

Andrews, still waiting for a call from other major league teams, said of Finley's action:

Neither has Williams forgiven Finley. When a man yelled from the audience, "Honor your contract, Dick," Williams replied:

"I can't. What do you do if you're married to your wife for three years and you can't get along? You get a divorce. That's what I did with Mr. Finley."

Williams then commended Cronin, also sitting at the head table, for doing a good job in difficult hearings last month over the contractural dispute.

The former Oakland and Boston Red Sox manager then added: "I'd like to thank Joe Cronin for what he has done. We're both retiring the same year."

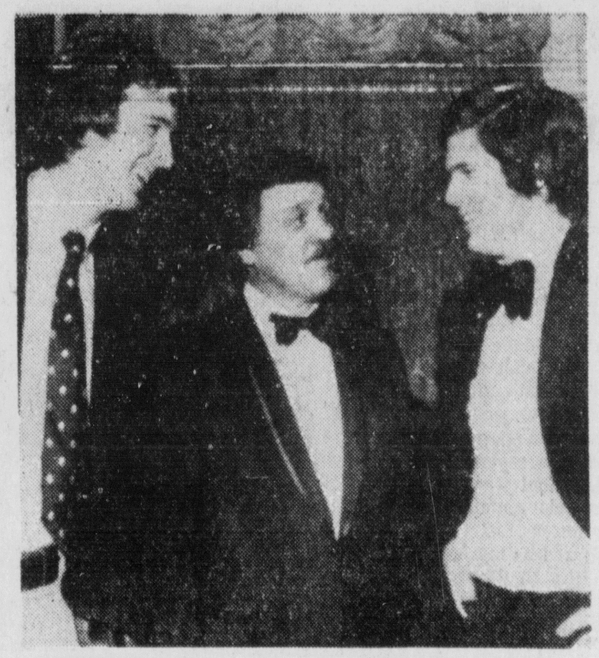

Andrews, who played for Williams in both Boston and Oakland, followed his former manager to the dais, saying:

"After listening to Dick Williams, you can see he stands by his guns. That's the reason why he'll never be in Boston again."

Williams was fired late in the 1969 season after refusing to play ball with a number of Red Sox players believed to be pets of owner Tom Yawkey. Andrews was one of the few players who consistently sided with Williams.

They were: catcher Ray Fosse, who hit .254 last year with the A's; outfielder Jesus Alou, who hit .306 in 36 games after being purchased from Houston; pitcher Chuck Dobson, 9-13 with Tucson in the Pacific Coast League; pitcher Dave Hamilton, 6-4 for the A's and 8-5 for the Toros; outfielder Charles Chant, .278 with Tucson, and Randy Scarberry, 3-3 with the Toros and 1-6 with Birmingham in the Southern Association.

KROC NEW OWNER

Padres Deal Set; Team To Remain

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Sale of the San Diego Padres baseball team to Chicago hamburger king Ray Kroc was finalized today with the signing of a stadium-lease agreement with the San Diego.

Only approval of National League club owners remained and Kroc said he anticipated no problems despite the recent rejection of a nine-member Los Angeles group headed by Marjorie Everett.

"National League President Chub Fenney called and congratulated me yesterday," Kroc said. "I asked him if the call weren't premature and he said he didn't think so. I assume he covered the National League owners by phone."

Kroc arrived in the city Tuesday to discuss the purchase with C. Arnholt Smith, owner of the Padres. All that remained was an agreement with the city on lease terms for the stadium.

In announcing the agreement today, Mayor Pete Wilson said there were few changes from those offered the Everett group. He noted, however, that rather than a liquidated damage clause, the city is relying on the personal guarantee of Kroc to honor any obligation on the lease.

Kroc said he has been trying to purchase the Chicago Cubs since 1965 but has been rejected by owner P. K. Wrigley.

He said he read two weeks ago of the National League's rejection of the Everett group and decided he would look over the San Diego franchise.

This is the financially-troubled Smith's third effort to sell the Padres. He originally announced last spring that the club had been sold to a Washington group headed by grocer Joseph Danzansky.

Danzansky, still pressing his bid, announced earlier this week he has met the conditions league owners set for approval of his purchase. By that time, however, the Padres were having discussions with Kroc in San Diego.

The city has filed $84 million in damage suits against the National League since the move to Washington was first considered.

Kroc also believes the team should remain in San Diego, and says a winning team would bring crowds into the stadium.

"Mediocrity, the people don't want it," he said. "Hell, people here are no different than people in Los Angeles."

Frazier, Ali Fined $5,000 For Conduct

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York State Boxing Commissioner Edwin Dooley, citing "the deplorable conduct of Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier at ABC taping," imposed $5,000 fines on each man—the maximum the commission can impose.

Dooley warned that a repetition of such conduct at Sunday's weigh-in will draw similar fines.

Dooley said, "if it were a put-on as some may think, it nevertheless did severe damage to boxing and its image.

"One or both of the fighters," Dooley continued, "could have been injured and thereby force cancellation of the fight."

The decision of the three commissioners was unanimous. Joining Dooley in that verdict were Commisioners Robert Scherwood and Manny Gonzalez.

Yesterday Frazier had admitted he had lost his "cool" during the riotous TV taping session with Ali and said he was "sorry."

Ali said that Frazier was fully to blame for the incident and that should fines or penalties be levied by the New York State Athletic Commission he would take the matter to court.

Bob Arum, Ali's attorney, said he felt the commission had failed to use "due process' and he indicated he will go to court if necessary to block the fine.

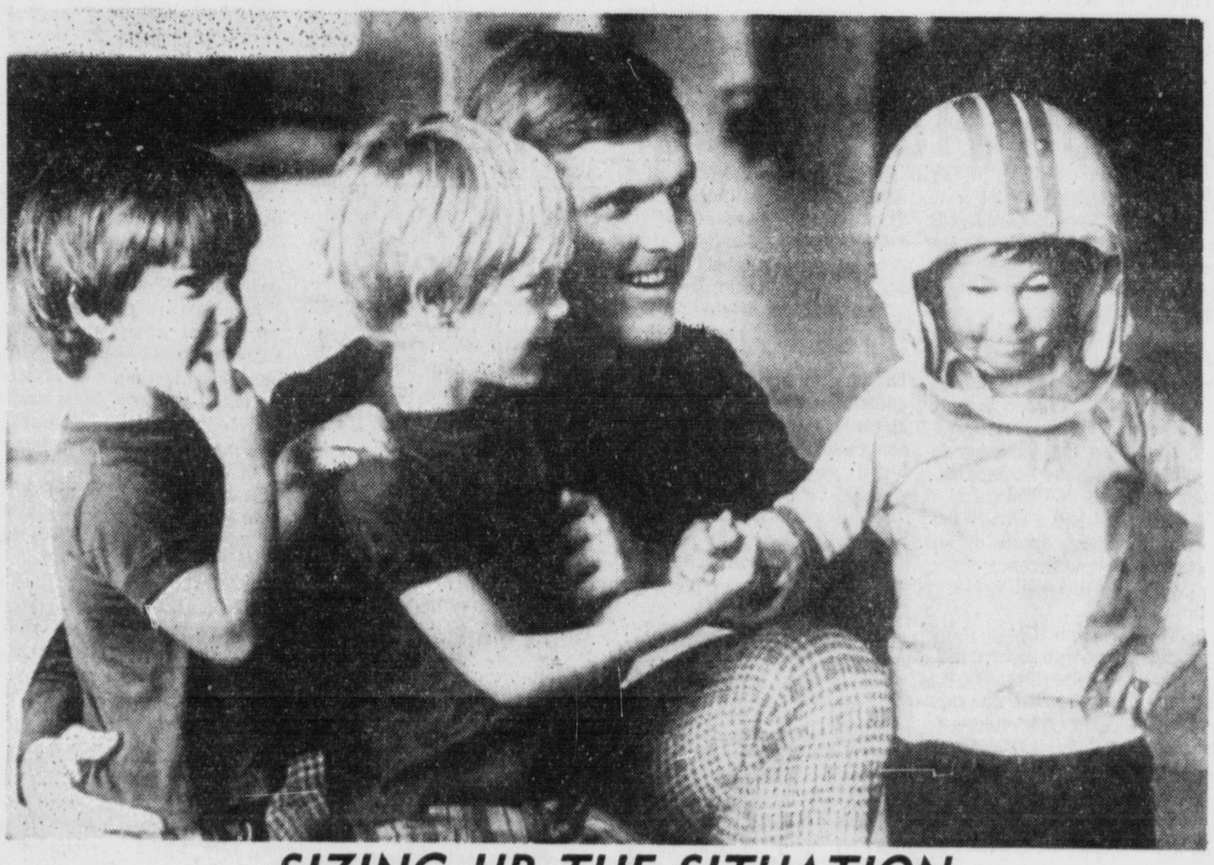

Arum claimed that the commission had acted on "hearsay" only and that ABC was willing to show the tape of the incident to the commission.

It was announced that the fighters would not weigh in in each other's presence on Sunday.

In three sessions involving the two fighters—a birthday party for Ali, the formal pre-fight physicals and the Wednesday incident—there had been a distinct circus atmosphere.

"We've been active and Joe has been inactive," the trainer said, referring to the fact that Ali has had four fights last year and Frazier only two.

SIZING UP THE SITUATION

Hunt Sees 'Great New Beginning' For Tennis

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Proclaiming a "great new beginning for professional tennis," the World Championship of Tennis (WCT) yesterday declared its independence from the United States Lawn Tennis Association (USLTA).

WCT Director Lamar Hunt, in a statement released during play in the U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championships here, said the WCT was splitting with the governing body to "allow players a freedom of choice."

"We don't want to impose our will on anybody," Hunt said. "We just want to allow players to have a freedom of choice. This signifies a great new beginning for professional tennis. Our goals are to maintain the continuity of major tournaments."

Hunt said the move will afford the players "scheduled protection" and would keep them available for the four major tournaments governed by the International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF)— Wimbledon, Forest Hills and the French and Italian opens.

"Pro tennis needs a relief from conflicts to bring about positive developments," said Mike Davies, WCT director of programs. "The WCT feels it wants to be free to arrange its own schedule."

Davies said the organization questions the right of the USLTA to assert control over pro, noting, however, that WCT "has lived up to its relationship with the USLTA" and continues to pay tournament sanction fees of some $16,000 to the governing body.

He said WCT has decided to pay only about $9,700 of that total, because it considers the balance "to be in conflict."

Hunt said WCT would continue to pay sanction fees to the ILTF, as a result of a "peace agreement" with the international organization.

In a related move, the Association of Tennis Professionals (ATP) voted to withdraw its objections to the fledgling World Team Tennis loop.

The ATP statement said the organization's board of directors voted "to expand its by-laws to give each member complete freedom of choice to pursue his career in any sphere of the professional game."

Homecoming Is Tough For Seals

OAKLAND (UPI) — The homecoming party for the California Seals figures to get rough tonight at 8 o'clock in the Coliseum Arena. That's because somebody invited those rough, tough Philadelphia Flyers.

The Seals are just back from a disastrous road trip that saw them extend their record on foreign ice to one triumph in 26 games. Their home mark of 8-7 with six ties looks heroic by comparison.

But when the Flyers take the ice, there are bound to be skirmishes. Philadelphia is by far the National Hockey League's most penalized squad with 947 minutes, or 22.4 per game.

In their last meeting in Oakland, 19 misfractions were whistled and the Seals' Hilliard Graves and the meanest Flyer of them all, Dave Schultz, fought it out on the ice and in the penalty box. Schultz was

CRENSHAW, KITE

San Diego Open Leaders Sharp

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — They shot the eyes out of the two courses at Torrey Pines in the first round of the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open and you can expect more of the same today.

With only a bare trace of wind and the temperature in the low 80s, it was about as ideal a day as you could hope for yesterday as 61 pros and 17-year-old amateur Jack Renner of San Diego shot sub par rounds over Torrey's north and south courses.

When the firing was all over, Ben Crenshaw and Tom Kite, both of Austin, Tex., had a stroke lead on Homero Blancas, still another Texan, local favorite Cesar Sanudo and first-year pro Richard Mast of Lima, Ohio.

Crenshaw and Kite had seven-under-par 65s on the north course, Blancas a 66 on the north, Sanudo a 66 on the south and Mast a 66 on the north. Generally, the north, which is 400 yards shorter than the south, is the easier of the two seaside layouts.

No one was surprised by Crenshaw's play here. The 22-year-old Texan won the San Antonio-Texas open last fall and finished second in the World Open the next week. That added up to a $76,749 year in just two events.

Then Crenshaw finished second last week to all-conquering Johnny Miller—this year's only champion to date—in the Tucson Open and when Miller decided to sit the week out, Crenshaw became the favorite in the Williams event, which carries a top prize of $34,000.

Crenshaw had an up and down round yesterday. He started out on the back nine of the north course and bogied the first two holes. But he regained his stroke before the turn by running in 30-foot birdy putts on the 16th and 17th holes and another 30-footer for an eagle on the 18th.

"I can't say I struck it that well," he said. "To say the least it was a funny round, but I'm happy with it."

Leonard Thompson, with a 67, was two shots off the lead and a shot ahead of Gene Littler, John Lister and Bobby Mitchell. Next at three under 69 were Terry Wilcox, Bobby Nichols, David Glenz, Bob Lunn, Dwight Nevil, Don Iverson, Mark Hayes and Kermit Zarley.

Grier Jones, who finished second to Miller in the Crosby Open, was at even par 72, while Lanny Wadkins, second to Miller in the Phoenix Open, was at 73.

Marin Girl Gymnasts In Napa

The top girl gymnasts from Marin County high schools will compete tomorrow in the Section IV compulsory meet at Vintage High in Napa, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The girls qualified in a countywide compulsory meet Jan. 12 at Redwood High, and with good performances tomorrow can earn the right to vie in the sectional optional meet March 9 at Terra Linda High.

In compulsory meets, gymnasts compete in specific events —floor exercise, uneven parallel bars, balance beam and vaulting, with an all-around score derived from scores in the other four. In optional meets, they compose their own routines.

The top 25 per cent in the novice class, top 50 per cent in beginner and top 75 per cent in intermediate school and intermediate open categories tomorrow will advance to the optional meet.

San Rafael Cagers Meet Novato Tonight

San Rafael High School, undefeated and riding along at the top of the Marin County Athletic League, will have to watch its step when a recharged Novato team visits the Bulldog gym for an 8 o'clock basketball game tonight.

Other MCAL games find Marin Catholic at Drake, Redwood at Terra Linda and San Marin playing Tamalpais at College of Marin, all at 8 p.m. today.

San Rafael, 5-0 in league play, has moved through the most difficult part of its schedule so far without a flaw. The Bulldogs knocked off two previously unbeaten teams, Redwood and Drake, in consecutive games on the road.

"But we've had to hustle and scramble and work," said coach Bret Tovani of the victories, achieved by two and five points. "Now that we have the lead, we can't let up."

Novato's Hornets, on the other hand, would love to forget all about how they got where they are — a tie for fourth place, with a 2-3 record.

Novato lost its first three games, but recovered to beat San Marin by 15 and Tamalpais by 11. One key, according to coach Jim Caranica, has been the outstanding recent play of 6-foot-2 Curtis Saine. Saine scored 31 points in the two victories and spent a good deal of his time hanging in mid-air around the basket, waiting for opportunities to be useful.

Mike Moroski tallied 29 points in the two wins, shooting mainly from outside. Tom Fisher contributed 13 against Tam. Another source of offense is 6-5 Willie Barnes.

Redwood and Drake, both 4-1, need victories tonight to keep San Rafael within striking distance. The Giants and Pirates play each other Tuesday, and somebody must lose, so neither team wants any additional blemishes.

Both face teams in slumps. Drake's foe Marin Catholic (2-3) trailed all the way Tuesday in a 61-43 loss to Redwood, and Redwood's foe Terra Linda (1-4) was upset Tuesday by previously winless San Marin, 57-49.

San Marin's Mustangs (1-4) played the kind of balanced team game coach Andy Frauenhofer has been wanting since the beginning of league. David Harris' passing, Terry Kom's scoring and Skip Starnes' board work were crucial.

San Marin meets Tamalpais (1-4), loser of three straight to Redwood, Drake and Novato.

Frosh Basketball

Jim Connor scored 22 points and Jeff Stewart 20 to lead Redwood High School (4-2) to a 54-31 victory over host San Rafael (2-4) in a Marin County Athletic League freshman basketball game switched to yesterday due to registration today at Redwood.

Striper Derby Starts Tomorrow

The "Lord of the Sea" Combination Sturgeon and Striper Derby, sponsored by the Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle Shop, will begin tomorrow and run through Feb. 24. There are 18 top prizes and six trophies for local saltwater anglers.

The rules are simple. All it takes is a $1 registration fee to qualify for the entire derby. You may weigh in as many fish as you wish, but one person cannot win more than two prizes.

The sturgeon derby winner will receive a Sony television sponsored by Locke Brothers Garage and MacPhail's Appliances while the top striper prize is a $100 U.S. savings bond contributed by Barsotti's Body and Fender Shop and Loch Lomond Live Bait. Most of the other 16 prizes are in the $25 to $100 value range.

The timing for the derby is excellent because there has been a recent upswing in sturgeon and bass fishing, and prospects are for even better angling. February is always a good month for the bait dunkers!

RECENT STURGEON reports have varied from "red-hot" to "slow" depending on whether the fishermen were fortunate enough to drop anchor in a lucky spot. Some anglers returned last weekend with limits of sturgeon and tales about seeing everyone catching fish. Others returned to port with glum expressions and reported seeing no fish caught.

For example, the China Camp area was unproductive Saturday, but the action was torrid around Paradise Cay and the white buoy south of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. However, many of the same anglers who limited to 102 pounds Saturday in that area were skunked Sunday. After a slow weekend in the China Camp-Pumphouse region, many sturgeon were caught in that area Monday and Tuesday. Therefore, maybe it's not a bad idea to move to another spot if the fishing seems slow in your location.

The bass fishing, which has really been in the doldrums recently, suddenly improved the past few days — with a relatively unused bait responsible for most of the success. Live mudsuckers, fish a little longer but not as husky as bullheads, have accounted for many limits in the China Camp and Richmond-San Rafael Bridge areas. (Some of the party boat skippers have been using them with great success for the last several weeks.)

IF YOU are having trouble catching fish or want to learn how or more about fishing, you might enroll in the Fishing A to Z course at Tamalpais High School. The course is given on Wednesday evenings 7:30 to 9:30 in Room 9. Gene Goldsmith of the Western Sport Shop of San Rafael is the instructor.

The course covers both fresh and saltwater fishing. In addition to presenting all the basics of spin-plug and bait fishing, the instructor touches on icthyology, conservation and sportsmanship.

AT THE CROSSROADS, 1974, the second biennial Department of Fish and Game report on California's rare and endangered fish and wildlife may be obtained from the Office of Procurement, Documents Section, P. O. Box 20191, Sacramento, 95820 while the supply lasts.

The price is $4 plus five per cent sales tax or $4.20. Checks and money orders should be made payable to the State of California.

Pandemonium In Boston As Orr Ejected

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

As you would imagine, the excitable Boston Garden fans became somewhat upset when their idol was ejected with 50 seconds remaining. It took 40 minutes for the ice to be cleared as the fans tossed beer bottles on the ice. Not surprisingly, they shattered, creating the mess.

Once the National Hockey League game was finally resumed, Chicago blanked Boston for that 50 seconds to preserve their 2-1 triumph over the Bruins.

Rookie Darcy Rota and veteran Pit Martin scored first period goals for the Bruins. Gregg Shepard scored Boston's only goal at 5:14 of the final period.

"The referees handicap a team like ours," said Boston General Manager Harry Sinden. "The way Orr skates around, he can't help getting tripped up two or three times, but no one's going to call that. And the way Esposito stands there, there's no way he's not going to get hooked, speared, tripped, or held less than six times a game, but no one will call that.

"They (the referees) all say 'Hell, they're both superstars, they should be able to take getting tripped up like that. That's the kind of stuff we have to listen to all the time, and to tell you the truth, it's getting hopeless."

"I should have known better," said Orr, "I should never have said anything. It was obvious (referee Wally) Harris was just going to call penalties against us and not for us. I should have controlled myself."

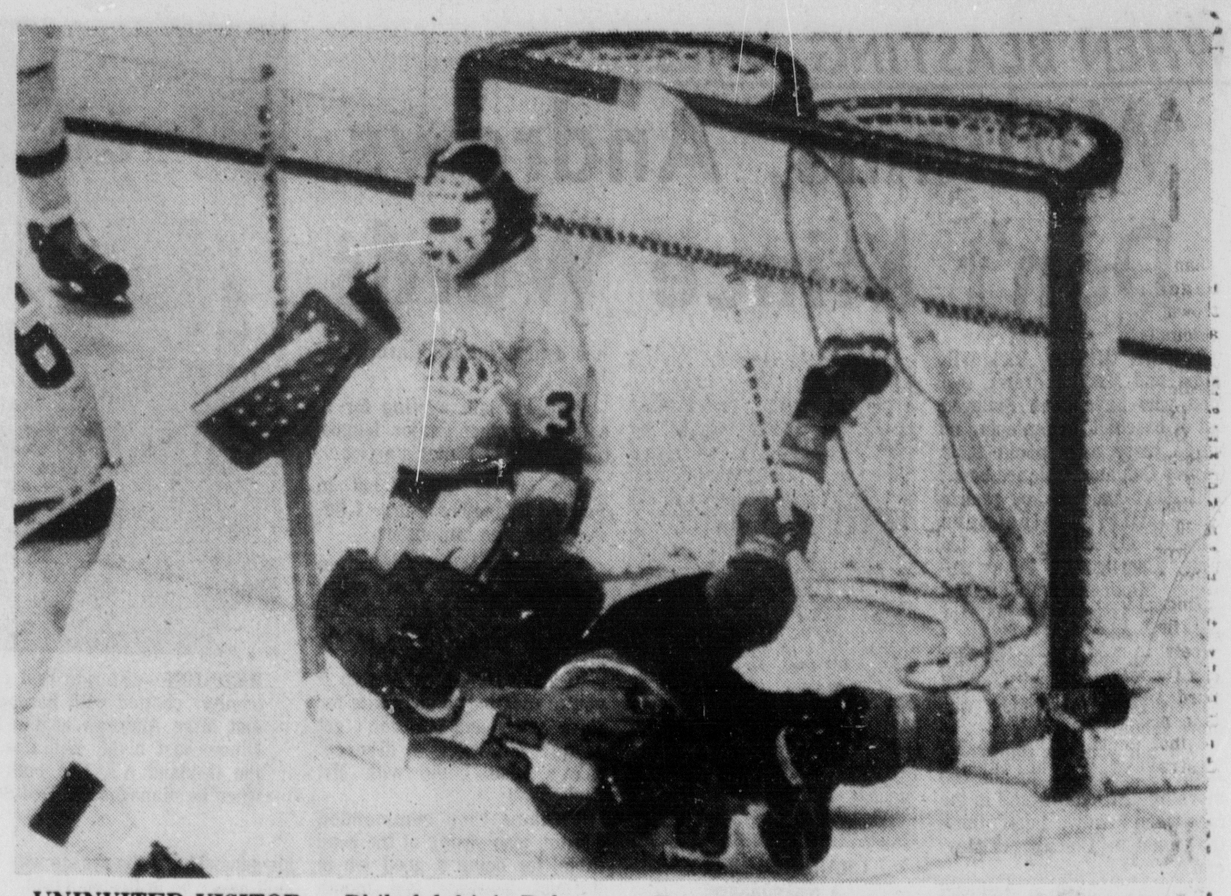

In the NHL other games, Montreal downed Buffalo 4-1 and Los Angeles tied Philadelphia 4-4.

Steve Shutt scored a goal in each of the first and third perods to lead Montreal to the victory over Buffalo. It was the second two-goal game in as many nights for Shutt. Guy Lapointe and Frank Mahovlich scored the other two Montreal goals.

All-star defenseman Ed Van Impe slapped in a 40-foot shot with 9:55 remaining night to earn Philadelphia its tie with Los Angeles after the Kings had taken an early 3-1 lead.

The surging Kings had taken a 4-3 advantage with one second to play in the second period when Dan Maloney slammed in a 45-foot shot.

In the two World Hockey Association games, Houston downed Quebec 5-1 and Cleveland edged Toronto 5-3.

UNINVITED VISITOR — Philadelphia's Bob Berry (18) unexpectedly dropped in on Los Angeles goalie Rogatien Vachon last night in a National Hockey League game in the Forum in Inglewood. Vachon managed to keep his eyes on the action despite the distraction during the 4-4 tie. (UPI Telephoto)

Then there was the meeting in Philadelphia that brought 129 minutes with Barry Cummins of the Seals winding up with a three-day suspension following a stick-swinging melee with Flyers superstar Bobby Clarke.

One guy who stays out of the fights but still gets in opponents' hair is goalie Bernie Parent. He has played in all but two of the Flyers' games and has a 1.9 goals-against average and nine shutouts. The Seals have managed one tally off him in each of their last four meetings.

Aaron Haunted By Memory Of 'Fat' Pitch

Combined AP & UPI

BOSTON — Hank Aaron said yesterday he is haunted by the memory of a "fat" pitch he missed on the final day of the 1973 season.

Aaron, 39, who crowded Babe Ruth's home run record the next to last day of the season with his 713th career homer, was hoping to hit his record-tying clout on the final day in Atlanta against the Houston Astros.

"I thought I had a chance the last day," said Aaron at an airport press conference prior to the Boston Baseball Writers' dinner.

"The first pitch (Dave) Roberts threw me was right down the middle. I couldn't believe it, but I didn't get it. That was the last pitch down the middle I saw all day," he said. "I've been thinking about that one ever since.

Boxing

VAN NUYS — Frankie Crawford, a professional boxer who made two unsuccessful attempts for the world featherweight title in 1970 and 1971 has been arraigned in connection with an alleged attempt to hire "underworld characters" to collect a long-standing $7,500 debt from actor Robert Conrad, police reported yesterday.

Conrad, star of the defunct television series "Wild, Wild West," had denied owing Crawford money, and reportedly told authorities the boxer had called at his house two weeks ago and demanded payment of the alleged debt. Crawford was charged Wednesday with soliciting others to do great bodily harm. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for March 3.

Track-Field

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand — Dick Tayler, a 25-year-old New Zealand farmer with legs like steel, set the 10th British Commonwealth Games alight today when he won one of the great 10,000 meter races of the century, clipping an amazing 42.6 seconds off his best previous time to win in 27 minutes, 46.4 secs, a games record.

Basketball

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — The New York Nets of the American Basketball Association today traded guard John Roche to the Kentucky Colonels for forward Wendell Ladner and guard Mike Gale.

SPORTS SHORTS

Football

DURHAM, N.C. — Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer and Pittsburgh coach John Majors will be at the helms of opposing teams in the 14th annual coaches All-American game at Lubbock, Tex., June 22.

Bill Murray, executive director of the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), announced last night that Switzer would head the West squad and be assisted by Jim Carlen of Texas Tech and Dave Maurer of Wittenberg.

As East coach, Majors will be assisted by Bennie Ellender of Tulane and John Merritt of Tennessee State.

Danish Gymnasts At Dominican College

A 16-member gymnastics team from Denmark will give an exhibition Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Dominican College gymnasium in San Rafael.

The performance is sponsored by the movement education department of the college. Cost is $1.50 for adults and $1 for students or children under 12. The gymnasts are from Ribe County, Denmark, and are on tour of Europe, the United States and South America.

Skiing

BADGASTEIN, Austria — Annemarie Proell of Austria yesterday finished sixth but clinched her fourth World Cup ski title which overshadowed West Germany's Christa Zechmeister's victory.

Tennis

PHILADELPHIA — Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., yesterday downed Alex Metreveli of Russia 6-2, 7-6 to advance to the quarter-finals of the U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championships.

OMAHA, Neb. — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors of Los Angeles yesterday advanced in the Midlands International Tennis Tournament with a 6-7, 6-1, 6-1 win over Australian Kim Warwick.

MISSION VIEJO, Calif. — Billie Jean King yesterday eliminated Kris Kemmer 6-4, 7-5 and Chris Evert ousted Barbara Downs 6-2, 6-4 in the quarter-finals of the Mission Viejo Tourney.

49ers, Browns Play Aug. 12

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns will play preseason games against the San Francisco 49ers Aug. 12 and the Washington Redskins Aug. 24, a Browns spokesman said today.

Much of the revenue from the games will go to charity, according to owner Art Modell.

Redwood Wrestlers Take Narrow Win

In other Marin County Athletic League matches yesterday, undefeated, league-leading Tam overwhelmed host Novato, 47-14, and Terra Linda bombed host San Rafael, 54-15. Drake was idle.

The developments left Tam on top of the standings with a 4-0 record and two matches remaining. Terra Linda is 4-1, Redwood 3-1 and San Marin 3-2. Tam has San Marin and Redwood left on its schedule.

Redwood's Mike Roush (177 pounds) scored his 10th pin in 16 tries this year at San Marin yesterday. Other crucial victories in the one-point struggle came from John Sullivan (140) and Rusty Jones (193), coach Wes Price said.

Terra Linda came up with "one of our best efforts," in the words of assistant coach Bill O'Bayley. Eight Trojans pinned their opponents, all before the end of the second period. After losing to Tam in the Jan. 8 season opener, 34-15, Terra Linda has rolled to four straight victories and is looking forward to another shot at Tam in the league meet Feb. 9.

Next Thursday's schedule calls for San Rafael at Drake, 4 p.m.; Redwood at Novato, 4 p.m., and San Marin at Tam, 6:30 p.m. Terra Linda draws a bye.

Standings

Tamalpais 4-0, Terra Linda 4-1, Redwood 3-1, San Marin 3-2, Novato 1-3, San Rafael 0-4, Drake 0-4.

Foreman-Norton Battle Sought By Venezuela

CARACAS (UPI) — The Instituto Nacional de Hipodromos said today that Venezuela was negotiating for the George Foreman-Ken Norton world heavywright title fight March 26.

A spokeman for the state institute told United Press International that Aldemaro Romero, president of the 13,000-seat Polideportivo stadium where the fight would be held, was in New York carrying out the negotiations.

The spokesman said the institute has a $350,000 letter of credit from the First National City Bank as a sign of its good faith in the negotiations.

The daily sports newspaper "Meridiano" carried a headline story in this morning's edition saying that a contract for the fight has already been signed.

However, the institute spokesman said this could not be confirmed yet.

1. AMC Matador $2996* — our economical mid-size with a 6-cylinder engine standard.

2. AMC BUYER PROTECTION PLAN
1. A simple, strong guarantee!
When you buy a new 1974 AMC car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the repair or replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship. This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. All we require is that the car be properly maintained and cared for under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada and that guaranteed repairs or replacements be made by an American Motors dealer.
2. A free loaner car from almost every one of our dealers if guaranteed repairs take overnight.
3. Special Trip Interruption Protection.
4. And a toll free hot line to AMC Headquarters.

Meet the '74 Matador, the car that Car and Driver Magazine calls "best styled car for '74."
That styling leadership is backed by something nobody else offers: all the benefits of the exclusive AMC Buyer Protection Plan.
It's an unbeatable combination.
Because it means that if anything AMC did goes wrong with your new '74 Matador in the first 12 months or 12,000 miles—we'll fix it. Free.
What's more, if guaranteed repairs take overnight, AMC has a plan to provide you with a loaner car. Free.

GOLF NOTES

Accident Can't Impede Dugdale

San Rafael golfer Clarence Dugdale has emphatically shown he has recovered from automobile accident injuries.

The 35-year-old supervisor of Medicare and Medi-Cal at Kaiser-Permanente Medical Center in Oakland Saturday fired a hole-in-one at Franklin Canyon Golf Course in Rodeo. In collecting his third ace — his first in 10 years — Dugdale used a six-iron on the 189-yard, par three sixth hole.

Dugdale, who was playing for the first time since being severely injured in the accident last October, shot an 80 to finish third in the Kaiser-Permanente monthly golf tournament. In that accident, his car was destroyed; and he escaped death because he used his safety belt.

The golfer-executive, who lives at 20 Fairwood Court, suffered four broken ribs, a pulmonary contusion and several broken teeth. The injuries apparently didn't hamper his swing if the hole-in-one is any indication. Ace witnesses were Carl Lucca, Ron Sotelo and Jun Ajari.

UCLA After Start Of New Streak

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The UCLA basketball team, 88 wins away from trying its all-time winning streak, hopes to start down that road again tonight when it hosts Santa Clara.

Tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. on Channel 2, the now second-ranked Bruins will try to make it two in a row against the same top-ranked Notre Dame team which ended their victory string by one point last Saturday, 71-70.

The Pac-8 gained a little prestige last night in New York when USC, undoubtedly the loop's second strongest squad, dispatched Seton Hall 79-68. The Trojans, playing without center Clint Chapman, built up a 44-34 halftime lead and then held off a Seton Hall surge after the intermission. Dan Anderson and Gus Williams combined for 44 points.

In a big West Coast Athletic Conference tussle, powerhouse Nevada-Las Vegas, which gave the rest of the conference a chance by mysteriously dropping its first two league games on the road, ran its WCAC record to 3-2 and its season mark to 12-3 with a convincing 74-66 win at Nevada-Reno. Bob Florence and Ricky Sobers hit 17 apiece for the Rebels while the losers were led by Marv Buckley and Pete Padgett with 18 apiece.

San Diego State, now 4-13, dropped an 89-80 overtime decision to Northern Illinois even though Brad McNamara hit 29 for the Aztecs.

Other contests tonight find St. Mary's at Hawaii, Loyola at tough Fresno State, San Francisco State at University of San Francisco, and national powerhouse Long Beach State at UC Irvine.

First Wrestling Loss For Marin Academy

Power California School for the Deaf (5-2), which dominates the small schools of the Bay Counties League and consistently wrestles well against schools with large enrollments, came over from Berkeley yesterday to hand Marin Academy (7-1) its first defeat, 33-12.

Marin Academy also lost on the basketball floor, as visiting Athenian School of Danville took a 53-41 league victory yesterday.

HE STUDIES CONDITIONING

A Healthy Diet Important To Cazzie

OAKLAND — Ever wonder what a top-flight basketball player has for breakfast? Would you believe carrot and orange juice mixed?

That's what Cazzie Russell mixes for himself and the 6-foot-5½ forward who has scored more points than any other member of the Golden State Warriors insists that diet and conditioning are big factors in his success.

"When I was at the University of Michigan I had a strep throat infection," he said. "It got me to thinking. I was studying nutrition. They taught us what certain vitamins do for you. I realized that some people just pop vitamin pills without knowing they are getting too much of one, which just goes through your system, and not getting enough of others."

So Cazzie looked into it more, came up with a combination of foods that give him the most strength and stamina to play basketball, and has stuck with it through eight NBA seasons.

"I eat a lot of wheat germ, fruit juices and other health foods," Cazzie says of his breakfast. He also likes to beat up raw eggs in a blender. A pre-game meal at about 2:30 p.m. (for an 8 p.m. game) might consist of eggs, cereal and hot tea.

Unlike Cleveland's Austin Carr, who went on a vegetarian diet last summer, Russell tried it, then abandoned it. "I didn't feel as strong, so I went back to good meat, but after a game I love to eat tuna salad, lots of it, with lettuce and a few crackers."

As all those who have followed Cazzie's career know, he is also a conditioning buff as well as an incurable golfer (he shoots in the 70s) in the off-season. In addition to the regular calisthenics his teammates do, Cazzie also has his own. One of them is designed to strengthen his forearms and biceps. He has a custom-made bar with a sand bag at the end of a rope. He holds the bar in both hands in front of him while swinging the heavy sand bag. "That has done a lot for me," he insists.

The Warriors had a slump before the All-Star Game, but resumed their battle with Los Angeles for the Pacific Division with victories over Phoenix and Boston in the first four days after the break.

The latter portion of the season should be particularly interesting for Cazzie and his contract situation.

Russell, who hasn't signed a 1973-74 pact, went 0-for-7 in a poor shooting night against Capital Tuesday and then blasted coach Al Attles and the front office for not giving him any consideration.

Russell and Attles huddled after practice yesterday and said all was forgiven and forgotten.

MISSES 'LIKE CRIME'

Kicker Knight Blasts Allen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington placekicker Curt Knight complained today that Redskin head coach George Allen "made it seem like a high crime or treason" every time he missed a field goal last season.

Knight, who missed four tries inside the 31-yard line in the last three games and had kicked 24 for 46, said he expects to be let go by Allen in the off-season.

In an interview with Steve Guback of the Washington Star-News, Knight commented: "I've had the feeling ever since Coach Allen has been here that it's something like a high crime or treason when you miss one. It was almost a traumatic experience when it shouldn't have been.

"In the past I never let my misses bother me too much but last season every time I missed I had to start worrying about my job. It was almost as if I were a rookie. That's the kind of pressure he put on me. I can take the pressure of missing one, but I let it get to me because Coach Allen continually played brinksmanship with my job."

The Redskin kicker recalled that the late Vince Lombardi used to bolster his confidence when he missed one by pointing out that his Green Bay star Paul Hornung once missed five attempts from within the 30 in one game.

But of Allen, he commented: "Coach Allen goes absolutely crazy if you miss inside the 30."

Prime Rate Action Has Caused No Stir

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investors ignored a move toward a lower prime lending rate by banks and kept their eyes on the Middle East oil situation as prices moved lower in moderate pre-weekend trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

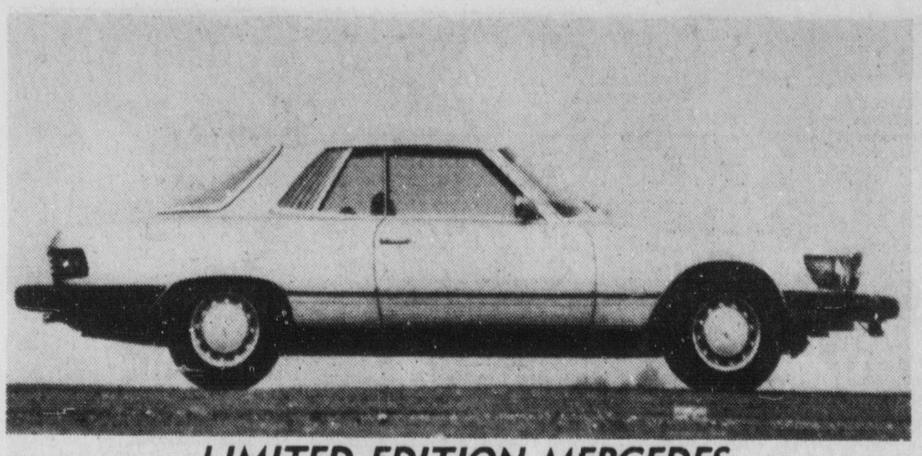

Many analysts had thought the decision of First National City Bank to lower its prime rate to 9 ½ per cent from 9 ¾ per cent would spark some action. It was the second major bank this week to reduce the rate, with Morgan Guaranty initiating the slash Wednesday. But investors appeared little impressed.

Instead, many of them kept to the sidelines watching for an easing of the Arab oil embargo on the United States. There were optimistic reports earlier in the week this would come about, but so far there has not been any movement.

American Motors, which is having talks with General Motors on selling the auto giant six-cylinder engines, was the most active issue, up ¾ at 12 on 388,800 shares.

Prices were slightly higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Day mines was the most active issue, up ¾ at 17 ¼ on 32,800 shares.

Oil Spill Helper

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — A system using 30,000 pounds of high density polyethylene for buoyancy units to contain or recover an oil spill has been perfected by Clean Seas, Inc., a nonprofit organization.

BUSINESS MIRROR

The Confusing State Of Nation's Economy

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The crazy, mixed up state of economic affairs today is probably best illustrated by those advertisements that say in effect, "Please don't buy our product."

If such a complete reversal of rules were to be forced upon golf, for example, you might see Jack Nicklaus missing a one-foot putt and Arnold Palmer doing his level best to exceed 100.

Utilities that just a few years ago might have told the owner of a new skyscraper to leave his lights on all night for advertising purposes, now tell him to lower the lights during the day.

Gasoline stations that less than two years ago were engaged in price wars and which offered trading stamps and other premiums now give you only half a tank if you're lucky to be there at the right time.

Auto makers who had almost convinced Americans they were deprived if they still owned only one car now advise them, in the words of Volkswagen, "Walk. Shoe leather saves gas.

And the distributors of "throwaway" items, such as metal coathangers, now ask if you would please return them.

The stock market is reacting to these new game rules by regressing into a catatonic stupor. Some of those popular stock market indexes, such as the Dow Jones industrial average, are back where they were eight years ago.

Investors, who clearly wouldn't be in the market if they weren't seeking profits, have even developed a tendency to beware of some of the big profitable corporations, such as the oil companies.

Those companies are making money now, the trepid investor reasons, and that means the government is going to jump on them. Profit is bad, it seems, especially if you make your profits in oil.

Some of the big oil producers never were able to report higher profits than they're turning in now. And the price of their product is rising faster than their expenses. Obviously a good investment. No. Beware.

With food prices being what they are and what they are about to be, it would seem logical that the big food chains that sell the food would be skimming off na bigger portion for themselves.

But, as you would expect, they aren't. When food prices were lower, the profits of most chains were higher, as a percentage of sales, than they are now.

Crazy.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

County Of Residence Square Is For Revenue-Sharing Data

Your 1973 Form 1040 individual income tax return has a few interesting changes in it. Primarily, next to the place for your name and address, it has "County of Residence." You should be sure to fill this in because it is vital to revenue sharing.

The county will get a portion of your federal income tax through the revenue sharing provisions of the law. If you don't fill in your county, it either means your county doesn't get its share of your tax or it means that someone has to edit your tax return before it can be processed.

Also, your 1973 Form 1040 has a new line 8, presidential election campaign fund. You check the box for yourself and also for your spouse if it is a joint return if you want $1 or $2 of your tax money to go to the presidential election campaign fund. This does not affect the amount of taxes you pay on your tax return — it simply allocates $1 or $2 from the general fund to the presidential election campaign fund.

Last year we had to prepare a separate piece of paper to attach to the tax return in which to make this allocation and we had to reveal our political party on this if we wanted them to receive this $1. However, if you did not do this for 1972, you can now make the 1972 election also on this 1973 return. All you have to do is check the box or boxes in the space just above your signature.

Cloud Five Restaurant In Novato Sold; A Mid-February Opening Set

New owners will take over Cloud Five restaurant and cocktail lounge at 1005 First Street in Novato and reopen it under the name, Pickerings sometime in late February.

Michael Nielsen of Novato, one of the new owners, said Pickerings will feature banquet facilities for local luncheons and dinners and will provide a sort of social center for local families. "We think that Novato needs a place where local people and families can walk in, know the people there, and kind of feel it's their own place," said Nielsen. Nielsen has operated Tropicana Pools in Sonoma for the past four years.

Other partners in the new venture are Alex Robles, who is in the meat wholesale business in San Francisco; Michael Duvall, owner of Tropicana Pools of Novato, and Gary A. Bramon, an insurance executive. All four are Novato residents.

Cloud Five will be sold in mid-February by current owners, Christina Bolton and Archie Sawyer of Novato. Sawyer took over Cloud Five in 1957 after 30 years in the U.S. Navy and has operated it for the past 16 years. He said he is "going fishing" after he sells the place.

The new owners plan to do some remodeling, put redwood shaker shingles on the outside and hold a grand opening of Pickerings during the third or fourth week in February. In addition to the cocktail lounge and restaurant, it has an upstairs banquet room, with total seating for about 160.

A.B.L. ELECTRIC is the name of a new electrical contracting firm established by Louis B. Rambke of San Anselmo at 25 Sunny Drive. He provides residential, industrial and commercial service and repair, including remodeling work, room additions, landscape lighting, and lighting maintenance.

A resident of Marin since 1944, Rambke has about 15 years of experience as electrician with various electrical companies in the county.

THE POBBLE Gift Shop, which operated for two years at Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center in Ignacio, is now open at 868 Grant Avenue in the old town of Novato, about a block east of Novato Theater. Grand opening of the new store is set for Feb. 15.

AUTOMATIC GARAGE DOOR Corporation of San Francisco plans to open two Marin offices next month in San Rafael and in Novato.

The San Rafael office will be at 1105 Francisco Boulevard No. 1, behind Marin Motorsports, and will be managed by Robert Seveiri of Novato, who has been with the San Francisco office for about three years. This lease was arranged by William Hoey Company.

Automatic Garage Door Corp., headed by Charles T. Fetterman of Millbrae, sells, services and repairs garage doors and automatic door operators. Fetterman said he hopes to open the Marin offices about Feb. 15. In addition to the main office at 354 Fifth Street in San Francisco, the company has a branch office in Redwood City.

MICHAEL T. STONE of Tiburon has joined the San Rafael law firm of Bagley, Bianchi, Hoskins and Rosenberg as an associate.

A graduate of the University of San Francisco law school, Stone was a law clerk with the San Rafael firm since last June and passed the state bar last December.

LARGE GRAPHIC PRINTS published by Nancy Zakim & Associates of Greenbrae are on display at Arlene Lind Gallery, 435 Jackson Street in San Francisco, through Feb. 20.

GOOD NEWS!

A limited number of Unit 1 resale homesites at Bodega Harbour are now available for immediate sale. The sites have been exempted from Proposition 20 restrictions by the Coastal Commission. A few newly completed homes are also available.

Visit Saturday or Sunday and enjoy luncheon at the new Yacht Club. See the nearly completed Country Club and the Robert Trent Jones Golf Course under construction. (Bodega Harbour is an easy round trip on a tank of gas.)

Western Opera To Play Marin

Western Opera Theater, the San Francisco Opera's touring company, will perform the comic opera "The Barber of Seville" Feb. 7 at 8 p.m. in the College of Marin's Fine Arts Theater.

The performance will be the first of five programs in the college's spring "Arts Alive" series. It will be fully staged and costumed.

"Take Her, She's Mad," with Jan Stratton, Feb. 15 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall;

Lutenist Paul O'Dette on Feb. 22 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall;

Frans Brueggen on the recorder and Alan Curtis on the harpsichord March 2 at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater;

"A Safe Place," by writer and feminist Anais Nin, March 26 at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater.

Steinbeck's Home To Become A Restaurant

SALINAS (AP) — The Victorian house where the late author John Steinbeck was born will be converted to a restaurant where patrons can savor the produce of Salinas Valley — and the atmosphere of "East of Eden" and "Cannery Row."

The Valley Guild, a group of Salinas Valley women, plans to open the gabled 14-room house with ornate porticos and gingerbread trim on Feb. 27 for luncheons. Proceeds will be donated to charities.

Steinbeck, who won the Nobel prize for literature in 1962, wrote that from his bedroom window he could see both the Gabilan and Lukia mountain ranges that edge the fertile Salinas valley.

He recalled that one of his sisters was married on the stairway leading to the second floor and that he and his sisters used to rollerskate in the unfinished upstairs section of the house.

The guild is restoring the rooms and converting the room where Steinbeck was born into a waiting and reception room. Five rooms will be used as dining rooms — each bearing the name of a novel.

The house at 132 Central Avenue was built in 1897 by J. J. Conner. Steinbeck's father, Ernest, one of Monterey County's early county clerks, bought the house in 1900.

Deukmejian Will Not Bid For Younger's Position

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. George Deukmejian, RpLong Beach, yesterday officially said he would not seek the Republican nomination for attorney general.

Deukmejian, author of the law restoring the death penalty in California, also declared he would not seek the seat of retiring Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach.

I an interview one day after Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger, a Republican, said he would seek reelection, Deukmejian said the possibility he would seek the post was "always predicated on the basis" Younger would run for governor.

The senator said he was "more interested in state politics" and preferred to life in California in discussion why live would not seek Hosmer's seat.

Saks Planning New Building

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Saks Fifth Avenue, the clothing store, has applied to the city Planning Department for permission to build a nine-story building on Union Square.

The application said yesterday the store plans to ear down the 50-year-old, 10-story Fitzhugh Building on the northeast corner of Post and Powell streets.

Six floors of the new building would be used by the store and the top three would contain offices, the application said.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture & Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"The Wonder Of It All" — The natural beauty of untouched portions of the world woven together in this film with music and a lighthearted commentary. Glimpses of birds and animals, some rare and unusual, entertainingly presented, fast moving yet informative.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Well-made film captures look of life in the fifties as four high school grads cruise through one night. Cursing and some suggestive sex scenes.

"The Candidate" — Taut drama about an idealistic young lawyer, who is corrupted by the political machine. Well acted.

"Paper Chase" — Serio-comic story about the pressures in the lives of three freshman students at Harvard Law School. Well cast and acted, some sex scenes and profanity.

"Paper Moon" — Sophisticated drama recreating the 1930s. A conman and a 9-year-old orphan in depression era Kansas. The child is tough, smokes and uses profanity. Violence.

"Sleeper" — This sophisticated comedy combines science-fiction with satire and slapstick. Our hero is frozen after a surgical operation fails in 1973 and is awakened in 2173. A computerized world provides hilarious opportunities for Woody Allen. Many sexual references.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Badge 373" — A bigoted New York policeman stalks Puerto Rican mobsters and gun-running revolutionaries. It is difficult to forgive the defamatory characterization and incessant cursing, pandering to hatred and violence. Nudity, sex.

"Don Is Dead" — Another Mafia movie that perpetuates the myth they are gentle, likeable people when they are not killing each other. Two hours of shooting, beatings, slashing with razors, exploding cars and warehouses, even a drowning in a washing machine. Nudity.

"Executive Action" — A curiously antiseptic film based on the festering controversy of the assassination of John F. Kennedy, neglects to offer any coherent, convincing proof of theory.

"Rage" — An absorbing drama about the violent revenge a man makes against the army who is responsible, via an accident, for his son's death by nerve gas poisoning. Very violent.

"The Sting" — Film sounds like a manual for con-men in this cold and calculating account of a 1930s plan to ruin a powerful Chicago mobster. Violence and cursing.

"The Way We Were" — A humorous love stody that starts in the 1930s and ends in the 1950s. An idealistic politically radical young woman and a well-to-do apolitical young man make an odd couple.

ADULTS ONLY

"Laughing Policeman" — Film makers obsession with documenting, ad nauseam, San Francisco's notoriety as the sin capitol of the country combined with unremitting emphasis upon gutter language and super-graphic violence is likely to revolt those audiences particularly drawn to film on basis of Matthau's past films.

"Magnum Force" — Film of San Francisco policeman who sets himself up as judge, jury and executioneer against suspected criminals, panders to the basest instinct's and should offend everyone. A new low in violence and obscenity.

"High Plains Drifter" — This 105 minute pretentious western has 19 killings and a couple rapes by a "stranger" that pillages a town, leaves it in flames and names the town "Hell". Very violent.

Begging Proves To Be Rewarding

BELGRADE (UPI) — When police arrested unshaven, shabbily dressed Jovan Radojcic, 69, for begging in the streets yesterday they found he has nearly $6,000 in his bank account and owns two houses and six acres of farmland.

It was Radojcic's 61st time before a judge for begging. He was sentenced to 75 days in jail, but it was the first time the judge learned Radojcic was a man of means.

Asked why he begs, he said, "Everybody needs money, so I do. I will go on doing it as long as I can move and whenever I am not behind bars."

Another Leader

The committee to reelect Ed Boessenecker to the Mill Valley City Council has selected Lou Bartolini to serve as co-chairman along with Bea Giusti, who was selected last week. Don Seitas also has been named to the committee.

Checks Already In Mail To Early Filers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Nearly 3,000 Californians who made early filings of their state income tax returns have already been mailed tax refunds.

"These refunds totaling $214,000 mark the beginning of an expected 4.5 million refunds to payroll withholding taxpayers," state Controller Houston I. Flournoy said yesterday.

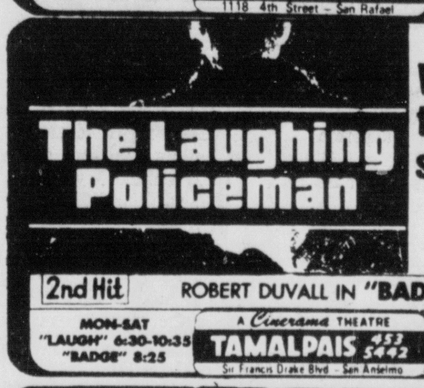

Flournoy also said the "really significant flow" of returns and subsequent refunds cannot be expected until February, with the peak occurring between Feb. 24 and the April 15 deadline.

About eight million state income tax returns are expected this year, he said, and the system for processing by the Franchise Tax Board is geared to about 71,000 returns a day at full flow.
